TITANS BATTLE TO DECIDE MUSIC YOU SHALL HEAR

Radio Chains Fight Composer Bloc.

BY WILLIAM FULTON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Nov. 8 [Special].—Millions of dollars and the musical tastes of the American public are at stake today in a titanic struggle between the big radio networks and ASCAP, the organization which sells performing rights on the bulk of the music used in radio.

The National Broadcasting company and the Columbia Broadcasting system are hurling charges of monopoly at ASCAP—American Society of Composers, Authors, and Publishers. ASCAP is accusing NBC and CBS of monopoly.

Crux of the fight is the question whether radio will dig down into its jeans and fork over $8,750,000 to the song writers and publishers. That is the estimated payment by radio to ASCAP next year under the terms of a new contract. It more than doubles the amount of the old payment.

Broadcasters' Stand.

"The broadcasters must resist as a matter of life or death," said Neville Miller, president of the National Association of Broadcasters.

The radio networks and their affiliated stations are planning on boycotting ASCAP after Dec. 31. NBC and CBS officials on Nov. 1 gave strict orders to all orchestra leaders to include thenceforth at least three non-ASCAP compositions on all 15 minute sustaining programs and at least four on 30 minute programs.

What will happen after the first of the year?

As matters stand the radio listening public will no longer hear its favorite red hot swing tunes and well known copyrighted arrangements of Bach, Beethoven, Chopin, Gershwin, Deems Taylor, Ferde Grofe, Jerome Kern, Sigmund Romberg, and Irving Berlin.

"The Stars and Stripes Forever" of John Philip Sousa will fade from the air. "Sweet Adeline" will be returned to rendition on the street corner late at night. Victor Herbert's melodies will be verboten on the radio. "Road to Mandalay," "Old Man River," "St. Louis Blues," "Smoke Gets in Your Eyes," "Rhapsody in Blue," and "The Last Roundup"—these are only a few which will be absent from the ether waves.

Radio Chains' Weapon.

ASCAP is predicting dire results, but radio claims it has the answer in Broadcast Music, Inc., an infant creation of its own. Thru Broadcast Music, Inc., or BMI as it is called in the trade, the radio broadcasters are attempting to build up their own musical reservoir and stable of composers. They assert BMI will free them from ASCAP monopoly. ASCAP retorts that BMI is just another octopus arm growing out of the radio trust.

BMI today has 250 employés working in a beehive atmosphere in New York City's Tin Pan Alley, hurrying to turn out enough swing and polish up enough old melodies to supply the yawning maw of radio by the first of the year. Its songs are being "plugged" or pushed while ASCAP'S are shunted to the musical junkyard.

ASCAP, which controls the rights on some 300,000 songs, extracted $4,142,000 or 67 per cent of the society's entire income from the radio broadcasters last year under a blanket licensing agreement. The new contract which the society is demanding provides a sliding scale with reduced fees for smaller stations.

Effect on Big Chains.

Under this new contract the NBC and CBS for the first time would be charged a fee of 7½ per cent of each station's gross income from advertising and sponsors. The well-informed theatrical magazine, Variety, is authority for the estimate that radio would pay ASCAP a total of $8,750,000 next year on these terms.

Before the negotiations completely collapsed, NBC and CBS proposed a new contract should be worked out setting up payments on a per use basis, instead of the blanket license. ASCAP officials replied that the cost of checking on the performances of each of the 750 radio stations in the country would be prohibitive.

"The national radio chains, who profit most from music, pay the least for it," declared Paine. "Music, the

GREEKS TIGHTEN RING AROUND ITALIAN TROOPS

ATHENS, Greece, Nov. 8 (AP).—Greek troops today occupied more hills surrounding the besieged Italian base at Koritza, 10 miles inside Albania, authoritative sources declared tonight.

They added that the Greeks captured hundreds of additional prisoners, including the commanding general of Premier Mussolini's Centaur division, and hurled back the Fascists generally along the mountainous battle front.

The capture of additional hills was said to have forged a new strong link in the iron ring being drawn around Koritza on the northeastern, or right Greek wing. Koritza for almost a week has been pounded day and night by Greek artillery.

Seize War Materials.

The capture of the prisoners, on the central front, was declared to have raised the total to more than 2,500 since the 12 day old Italian invasion started.

The Greek high command announced that in all there were five officers among the prisoners taken during the day. It also announced that a number of guns and other war materials fell into Greek hands.

Italian air raids were "insignificant" during the day, the communique said, with only one village bombed. One Italian raider was reported shot down.

At the end of the first 12 days of this new war neutral experts declared the Greek positions now are as good or better than on the first day of the Fascist assault.

Seek to Annihilate Foe.

The Italians, according to available military information, had been thrown back both in the center sector and on the northeastern wing.

In the center, a large but undetermined number of Italians was reported trapped some days ago, and the action now appeared to be aimed at their encirclement and possible annihilation or capture.

The Greek high command itself had announced that Italian attacks on the Greek left wing, in the theater near the Ionian sea, had been repulsed. There Greek guns were concentrated to protect the coastal route to Janina, a city of strategic importance.

Thus the entire Greek line appeared to be not only holding firm, but to be pressing back the Italians in a great rough arc.

British Bomb Valona.

CAIRO, Egypt, Nov. 8 (AP).—The British air force reported today it had carried out a five ton bomb assault on Valona, Albanian port opposite the "heel" of the Italian boot, in the second heavy raid there in as many days. Twice yesterday British planes spread havoc among Italian planes on the ground at the Valona airfield, a communique said, in a follow up to a similar attack Wednesday. Italian planes rose to meet the attack and killed the gunner of one British plane. Two British planes failed to return from other operations over Albania.

Italians Bomb Greeks.

ROME, Nov. 8 (AP).—The Italian high command today failed to announce any troop advances on the two main fronts in Greece. However, far ranging air bombardments were reported, some within sight of distant Mount Olympus, 10,000 foot peak fabled as the home of the Greek gods, on the borders of Thessaly and Macedonia.

British air raiders, on the other hand, were acknowledged by the high command to have damaged railroad tracks, waterpipes, and a freight car in bombing Brindisi, port in the heel of Italy's "boot."

Roads Jammed with Troops.

Lacking news of a marked Fascist advance in Greece, Italian dispatches indicated that the march of Mussolini's legions would be accelerated when they reach roads better than the mule paths over which they have had to fight.

The Italians count on two roads, both protected in sections by mountain heights, to facilitate their sweep across Greece. One is a continuation of the Albanian road from Koritza [where an Italian supply base is reported to be besieged by Greek forces in the hills] thru Florina to Athens, with a branch to Salonika. The other passes from Argyrokastron in Albania to Arca [Arta] and along the coast of the Ionian sea.

Draftees to Get Chance to Win Officers' Jobs

BY HAROLD HUTCHINGS.

The war department announced yesterday in Washington, D. C., that specially qualified draftees may spend the last three months of their one year of compulsory military training in an officers' training school and obtain commissions as second lieutenants in the reserve corps.

"Before the end of their training year specially qualified trainees with outstanding qualities of leadership will be given an opportunity to attend an officers' candidate school," the announcement reads. "The course will be approximately three months. Initially there will be a school for infantry, cavalry, field artillery and coast artillery."

If need exists, it was stated further, these newly created second lieutenants may continue to serve in their new grade even tho their one year of training has been completed.

Camp Grant to Be Utilized.

Plans for utilizing 21 replacement centers, including one at Camp Grant, Ill., in the selective service program, also were made public. These camps will not operate until after March 15, it was said. Prior to that time, the first 400,000 draftees will be sent to reception centers, and then to the regular army or National Guard units with which they will train.

After March 15, the announcement indicated, draftees will go from reception centers to replacement centers for 13 to 16 weeks of basic training. About 7,000 men were scheduled for training at Camp Grant.

Move 2d Army Headquarters.

It was announced in Washington also that Gen. George C. Marshall, army chief of staff, had approved transfer of headquarters of the 2d army from Chicago to Memphis, Tenn. Lieut. Gen. Ben Lear is commander of the 2d army.

This move follows the army's recent decision to separate command of tactical forces from the administrative duties of corps area commanders. Accordingly, Brig. Gen. Charles H. Bonesteel succeeded Gen. Lear as commander of the 6th corps area.

As commanding officer of the 2d Army, Gen. Lear will be in charge of the field operations and training of 92,000 men in six divisions.

Maj. Gen. Samuel T. Lawton, commander of the 33d division, said yesterday that the division may be boosted to a total strength of 23,000 men after it is inducted into federal service for a year's training at Camp Peay, Tenn. Previously war strength of the division had been only 907 officers and 17,894 enlisted men.

MARTIN DETERMINED TO KEEP CONGRESS ON JOB UNTIL CHRISTMAS

Washington, D. C., Nov. 8—[Special]. — Representative Joseph W. Martin Jr. of Massachusetts, Republican leader in the house, said he would oppose tentative plans said to be in the making by Democratic leaders to force a sine die adjournment of the 76th congress by Nov. 15 or 18.

"The war emergency which influenced members of congress to remain in session thruout the campaign still exists, and as long as it does I believe congress should stay here," Martin asserted.

"I have just returned from New York after winding up the Republican campaign, and house Republicans naturally have not had time to meet and determine their position on the adjournment proposal. However, the world situation is much the same as when congressional leaders early in October found it advisable to abandon plans for adjournment. We should remain in session until the Christmas holidays at least."

PLAN ARAB BLOC TO RESIST AXIS NEAR EAST PUSH

CAIRO, Egypt, Nov. 8 (AP).—Formation of an Arab bloc to resist any axis aggression in the near east was being discussed in Arab circles tonight coincident with a state visit to King Farouk's court by the Amir Abdullah of Transjordan.

Well informed sources said Transjordan, Iraq, and Saudi Arabia, would be parties to such a pact with the support of Arabs in Palestine and Syria. The pact also would be aimed for the eventual inclusion of Iran [Persia] and Afghanistan. Iran, Afghanistan, and Iraq have a pact with Turkey providing their assistance in the event Turkey is attacked.

The Amir Abdullah is believed to be strongly in favor of Arab support for Turkey. Among his visitors since his arrival here was Lieut. Gen. Sir Archibald P. Wavell, commander in chief of Britain's middle east forces.

Tokio Paper Says Some in Japan Oppose Axis Deal

TOKIO, Japan, Nov. 9, Saturday (AP).—The newspaper Kokumin today said opposition still exists in Japan to the nation's entry into the Rome-Berlin axis and it demanded that the government "eliminate" as traitors all Japanese holding such views. It intimated a violent dispute is going on behind the scenes. World events necessitate immediate utilization of the pact, the paper declared, envisioning a probable stiffening of American policy toward Japan as a result of President Roosevelt's re-election.

Deputy Blue's Black and Blue Spots Avenged

Reverses met by Deputy Sheriff Harry Blue Friday when he tried to serve an attachment upon Joseph Greco, a grocer of 3507 Chicago avenue, moved Sheriff Thomas J. O'Brien to assert yesterday that it seems to be open season on deputies and to demand that something be done about it. Here are the things Deputy Blue says happened to him:

Harry Blue.

He was roughed and his arms pinioned when he tried to seize Greco, who is accused by his former wife, Eva, of being $900 in arrears in support payments. He was threatened with a knife by Raymond Greco, 15 years old.

It's a Shooting Matter.

He was compelled to fire a shot—and the bullet tore a hole thru his own pocket. He was disarmed by Mr. Greco. He was shoved into the street by Mrs. Lillian Greco, the grocer's second wife. His prisoner got away from him. And he had to call the police to jail the fighting family.

All this was related yesterday to Judge Rudolph Desort by James Todd, Sheriff O'Brien's official attorney, who demanded that all three Grecos be cited for contempt. Todd cited a number of recent cases in which prisoners-elect have preferred beating up a deputy to being served with legal papers.

He mentioned also the case of Deputy Frank Rollins who lost three fingers some time ago when a reluctant quarry shot at him. It is time that deputies be regarded with a little more reverence, Todd said. Judge Desort agreed.

Deal Swiftly With Grecos.

He ordered the three Grecos to show cause next Tuesday why they should not be held in contempt of court. Then he took up the matter of Joseph Greco's arrearage. After hearing Miss Elizabeth Perry, of the Cook county bureau of public welfare—acting for Mrs. Eva Greco—Judge Desort ordered him to jail for contempt.

Meanwhile Deputy Blue filed an assault and battery charge against Mrs. Lillian Greco, who he says bounced him into Chicago avenue. Judge Jay A. Schiller ordered her to post $100 bond and to appear with counsel on Nov. 20. Raymond Greco was turned over to juvenile authorities.

Planes Crash Over Rio Bay; 19 Are Killed

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil, Nov. 8 (AP).—Nineteen persons were killed today when a twin engined transport plane of the Brazilian V. A. S. P. line collided with another plane and fell into Botofogo bay.

The crash occured as the big transport was taking off from Santos Dumont airdrome for Sao Paulo.

While it plunged into the water in full view of thousands along Rio de Janeiro's waterfront, the other plane plummeted into a building, killing the pilot, Colin Abbott, 43 year old British world war flyer. His two engined plane was owned by Shell-Mex Argentina, an oil firm.

Diplomats Aboard Transport.

Of the 18 killed on the transport, three were crew members and 15 were passengers, including Hernandez Cata, Cuban minister to Brazil; Evendro Chagas, a Brazilian scientist connected with the Rockefeller Foundation and who was well known in the United States; Alexander Grieg, Norwegian consul at Santos and Sao Paulo, and Sebastio Leme Salles, nephew of Cardinal Sebastian Leme, archbishop of Rio de Janeiro.

A spokesman for the aviation authority said all aboard the V. A. S. P. plane were killed despite rescue efforts.

American Plane Near Scene.

The accident, one of the worst in Rio de Janeiro aviation history, occurred less than 10 minutes before the arrival of a Pan-American transport plane from Buenos Aires carrying an Argentine financial mission en route to Washington.

V. A. S. P. Air Lines began operations about three years ago with German planes and pilots. Recently it had been using Brazilian pilots and had acquired modern transports built in the United States. It operates two round trips daily between Rio de Janeiro and Sao Paulo, Brazil's second city.

A government investigation was ordered into the crash, the second recent air tragedy near busy downtown Rio de Janeiro. Fifteen persons were killed Aug. 13, 1939, when a Pan-American plane from the United States crashed into a drydock.

American Ship Reported Sunk by Mine Blast

MELBOURNE, Australia, Nov. 9, Saturday (AP).—Australia Navy Minister William Hughes announced today that the United States ship City of Rayville had been sunk, presumably by a mine, and that all but one of her crew of 38 had been rescued. No other details were given.

Washington Hears of Blast.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 9, Saturday (AP).—The state department reported today receipt of a message from the consul at Melbourne, Australia, saying that the American freighter, the City of Rayville, "had an explosion."

The message, sent by Consul Earle Dickover at 11 p. m. Nov. 8, Australian time, said:

"American Pioneer line steamer City of Rayville while off Cape Otway, about 120 miles from Melbourne, had an explosion tonight, according to the lighthouse keeper at that place. No radio messages were received from the ship and her lights were still burning. The Australian navy sent tenders and minesweepers and notified local fishing boats. No definite word about cause."

The Maritime commission said that it had had no word of any mishap to the City of Rayville, which is owned by the commission.

First U. S. Ship Reported Sunk.

New York, Nov. 8 (AP).—The City of Rayville, if sunk, as reported from Melbourne, would be the first American ship destroyed in the present European war. The freighter, which had arrived in Melbourne on Oct 30, had been scheduled to sail next for Adelaide. Previously, she had touched Madras, Colomba, and Sydney on her voyage from New York.

40,000 Mexican Teachers Stage Walkout Over Pay

MEXICO CITY, Mexico, Nov. 8 (AP).—The Teachers' Union of Mexico reported at least 40,000 members today staged a 12 hour walkout thruout the country in support of teachers' efforts in Vera Cruz, Chiapas, and Mexico states to obtain better wages and improved working conditions. It was asserted the union's full membership of 80,000 would strike Nov. 15 if their demands were not met.

TELLS CARTER TO VOID ORDER ON SALES LEVY

Millions in State Revenue Involved.

BY HAL FOUST.

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 8 [Special].—Attorney General John E. Cassidy today moved to block Gov. John Stelle's revision this week of sales tax rules and regulations. Earlier, this revision was described as subjecting the state treasury to claims for refunds of between $24,000,000 and $30,000,000 as well as curtailing state revenue between $8,000,000 and $10,000,000 a year.

Al Carter.

The attorney general, after appearing before Circuit Judge Harry Fisher in Chicago to thwart a sales tax refund of $700,000 to three material companies, addressed a letter to the new finance director, Al Carter, advising him to withdraw his attempt to exempt contractors and their suppliers from the 3 cent occupational tax. Cassidy cited Supreme court decisions to the effect that the attorney general's advice is mandatory.

No Power to Exempt.

"Your department has authority, under the statute," the letter read, "to make rules for the administration of your duties and for procedural purposes. However, you have no power to enter any rule or order which would have the effect of exempting any class of taxpayers from liability or which might in any respect tend to modify or restrict an act of the legislature.

"In my opinion your statement, entitled 'Revision of rule 6,' is not only contrary to the legislative act but in part, at least, is in direct contradiction of rulings of our Supreme court on practically the same subject matter.

Has No Binding Effect.

"I do not believe that this so-called rule has any binding effect upon the right of the state of Illinois to collect taxes from the taxpayers it purports to exempt and that it could not be asserted as a valid defense by any taxpayer in a suit brought against him by this office for collection of taxes.

"However, because of the confusion which has resulted from your announcement of the revision of rule 6, and the difficulties it has created for this office in the conduct of this important case [the refund suit] in the Circuit court of Cook county, I wish to advise you to promptly rescind and withdraw the recent announcement of the department entitled 'Revision of rule 6.'

"I wish to further advise you that it is your lawful duty to follow this opinion of the state law department until and unless our Supreme court should hold to the contrary."

Other Moves in Day.

Other blows during the day to this attempt by the brief Stelle administration to juggle the state's tax structure included the following:

1. Samuel Herman, who resigned as supervisor of sales tax rules and regulations in protest against Stelle's revisions, asserted that Illinois would be liable to claims of between 24 and 30 million dollars if the changes in the tax rules were sustained.

2. Judge Fisher of the Circuit court postponed until Friday a motion by three material companies that was a preliminary to their receiving refunds of $700,000 from the state.

3. Simon Stickgold, assistant supervisor of sales tax rules and regulations, also resigned in protest against the Stelle revisions, charging that there was no justification for the proposed return of $700,000 to certain contractors and material men.

Opposes Motion for Rebates.

Attorney General Cassidy directed his letter to Carter, threatening legal action, after Cassidy had appeared before Judge Fisher in opposition to a motion of three material contractors for rebates on sales tax payments made under protest. The companies were the Elmhurst-Chicago Stone company, the Consolidated company, and the Material Service corporation. The last corporation frequently has been linked with the Nash-Kelly and the statehouse Democratic machines.

Next Friday, the time to which Judge Fisher continued the hearing on the suit of the three materials companies, is the deadline for filing October sales tax returns.

Today's court session was attended by 75 contractors and their attorneys, who crowded around Judge Fisher's bench as Attorney Harold B. Schradzke argued their case. He accused Cassidy of playing politics.

"Rather Absurd," Says Judge.

Altho Judge Fisher commented that the new rule exempting contractors from the sales tax is "rather absurd," he said he would not rule on the motion until he had determined the court's powers in the matter. Attorney General Cassidy told the judge that if Carter refuses to apply the old rule, "We'll have to take him to court."

The tax rule revision, which has stirred political as well as business interests, would exempt road and building contractors and retail sales to contractors from the 3 per cent occupational tax. Republicans are concerned because it would reduce the state's revenue millions below its obligations. Without any change in income, the relief fund is expected to be exhausted by Jan. 1 and require 25 million dollars to carry thru to the end of the fiscal year on July 1.

Notice of the revision was issued on Thursday as having been effective on Nov. 1. The purpose as announced by Carter was to stimulate building in Illinois, especially in this state's competition with other states for national defense business.

Fears Claims of 24 Million.

"If it is illegal to collect the tax from these sources since Nov. 1," said Herman, who is an attorney, "it has been illegal since the occupational tax first became effective, in July of 1933. The legislature placed a statute of limitations of three years on claims that might be brought against the state for illegal collections.

"But even with this limitation, if Director Carter is correct in his interpretation of the law, the state would be subject to claims for refunds approximating between 24 and 30 million dollars a year, this in addition to losing between 8 and 10 millions a year in revenue."

Cassidy's letter to Carter reminded the finance director that the attorney general's office is the official legal adviser of code department offices. Cassidy was not consulted before the sales tax revision was announced.

His letter said in his opinion the revision is contrary to decisions of the Illinois Supreme court and contrary to the will of the legislature.

Calls Revision Unlawful.

Stickgold, in his letter of resignation, charged that the revision was an unlawful assumption of a function of the Supreme court to interpret the intent of the legislature.

J. T. Meek, executive secretary of the Illinois Federation of Retail Associations, issued a bulletin to his members protesting against the revision.

"Obviously," read the bulletin, "unless tremendous economies are effected, the consumers of this state are going to have to pay more taxes in other ways to make up for this 'spur to the building industry.' The narrowing of the sales tax base coupled with existing state financial commitments is not only hazardous but might result in the need for replacement taxes."

The federation is an affiliation of 13 retail associations as well as the retail divisions of 100 local chambers of commerce.

ROOSEVELT GETS 60 PCT. OF VOTE IN LARGE CITIES

Washington, D. C., Nov. 8 (AP).—President Roosevelt received 60.3 per cent of the major party votes cast on Tuesday in the country's 18 largest cities and piled up a 2,414,366 popular vote plurality in the population centers, it was revealed today.

In the country as a whole, the President won a third term with 54.6 per cent of the vote, and a popular plurality of 4,484,151 on the basis of incomplete returns. He received 26,297,788 votes to 21,813,637, with 120,417 of the nation's 127,245 precincts tabulated.

Every city of more than 400,000 population class went for Mr. Roosevelt except perhaps Cincinnati. Wendell Willkie carried Hamilton county, Ohio, which includes Cincinnati and surrounding area, by a vote of 155,111 to 148,402. Separate figures for Cincinnati were not available.

Big city votes were responsible, too, for Mr. Roosevelt carrying some of the larger states. He, for instance, won New York state by 233,093 votes. The state's two largest cities, New York and Buffalo, gave him pluralities of 729,836 and 37,312, respectively.

The President's margin over Willkie in Illinois was 94,338, while Chicago gave him an edge of 295,206.

DEMOCRATS HALT COUNTRY TOWNS BALLOT CANVASS

G. O. P. Views Surprise Move with Suspicion.

BY PARKE BROWN.

Postponement of the official canvass of the vote in the Cook county suburbs of Chicago yesterday aroused Republican candidates. They announced that when the official tabulation begins next Tuesday it will be watched every minute until it is finished.

The instant the delay in the office of County Clerk M. J. Flynn, where the count is being conducted, became known to headquarters managers, they became fearful that the cessation of the canvass had something to do with the close finish between United States Senator James M. Slattery and Wayland Brooks.

Republicans Go to Work.

On that theory they went to work. They had all the precinct reports on the Slattery-Brooks race in the 541 precincts under County Clerk Flynn copied from the unofficial reports sent in to him by precinct judges and clerks. Parallel with these they placed the Republican precinct captains' reports from those precincts. They also stationed guards at the doors of the vaults where the official records will be kept during the counting recess.

County Clerk Flynn had left the tabulating job in the hands of subordinates. They were indignant that even a breath of suspicion be directed toward the operations of an office that they said never has been mentioned in all the years of vote fraud scandals. They said the recess was natural because this week-end, which includes Armistice day, is a double holiday.

The Republicans, on the other hand, charged the postponement was unprecedented; that, contrary to custom, the county clerk's office would not finish its work ahead of the Chicago election commissioners but after the city board makes its proclamation next Tuesday or Wednesday.

Calls Move Alarming.

Brooks made no statement for publication but George F. Barrett, the Republican winner for attorney general, was outspoken in his views.

"I have been giving the canvass in the city hall and the county building close personal attention," he said. "I can not understand why the county clerk's office did not proceed with its part of the official count. It is at least alarming."

"I am working on a plan that I hope will put an end to wholesale vote frauds in this state and I intend to make it broad enough to cover all canvasses now being made, including the one in Cook county."

Because of charges by Senator Slattery's friends that Brooks' total jumped suddenly in the unofficial county poll the City News bureau, which tabulated the unofficial returns, issued two compilations of statistics. One showed that 39 belated precincts in the country towns to which suspicion had been directed disclosed the regular ratio.

How Vote Progressed.

The second compilation showed the Brooks average per precinct and the Slattery average per precinct in the country towns as the unofficial count progressed Tuesday night and Wednesday. In condensed form that tabulation follows:

| Precincts reporting. | Average per precinct. Brooks. | Slattery. |
| 117 | 228 | 239 |
| 186 | 242 | 222 |
| 246 | 258 | 212 |
| 518 | 244 | 195 |
| 592 | 260 | 191 |
| 698 | 271 | 186 |
| 741 | 277.3 | 182.3 |

Students of politics know that small precincts casting a large number of straight ballots always are the first to report and are largely Democratic. The larger, slower counting precincts are Republican.

Attorneys John Kiely and William Crilly, from the United States attorney's office, talked to County Judge Jarecki in his court room and also interviewed Albert J. Meserow of the Joint Civic Committee on Elections, Mrs. Harriet M. Robertson of the Women's Civic council, and others who worked for honesty at the polls last Tuesday. Neither the interviewers nor the interviewed would disclose what was said.

Here Are Final Returns.

Complete unofficial state returns on the senatorship now show these figures: Brooks, 2,037,871; Slattery, 2,020,928. Almost complete returns on other state offices:

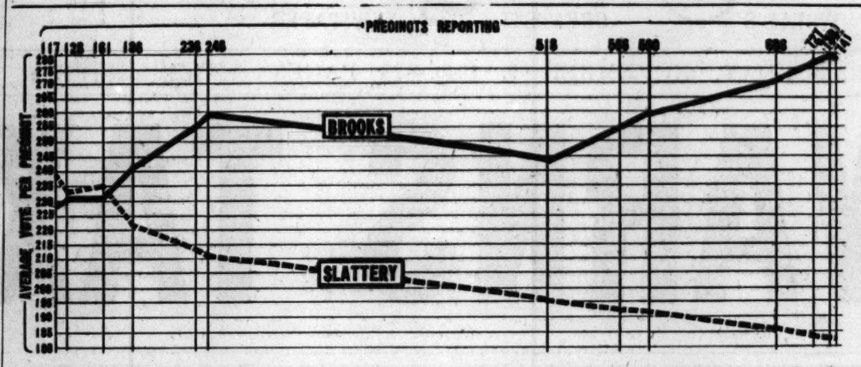
The Record on Brooks-Slattery Vote in Suburbs



Comparison of the average number of votes per suburban precinct for Wayland Brooks, winning Republican nominee for United States senator, and for James M. Slattery, the Democratic candidate, at various stages of reporting. (Story in adjoining column.)

Disputed Country Town Vote

The following table lists the 39 precincts reporting late on Tuesday's election whose figures were questioned by James M. Slattery, United States senator. The vote for Slattery and his Republican opponent, Wayland Brooks, is given for each of the precincts. The votes for Dwight H. Green, Republican, winner in the race for governor, and his opponent Harry B. Hershey, are shown for comparative purposes. Republicans pointed to the table as evidence that no fraud was involved in the precincts, most of which are heavily Republican. The precincts are listed in the order in which they reported their results.

Upon his plea of guilty of impersonating a voter, Julius DeSomer, 1240 South Wabash avenue, was sentenced yesterday by County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki to three months in the county jail.

Policemen Asked to Give Blood to Save a Buddy

Capt. Herbert Burns of the Jefferson Park police appealed to all the police of the city yesterday for blood donors to save the life of Policeman Oscar Johnson. Brother officers from the station already have given blood for 19 transfusions, but more donors are needed. Type 2 blood is required. Johnson is in Grant hospital with an infection that has necessitated amputation of his left arm.

ARREST CHICAGO OPTOMETRIST IN GEM THEFT QUIZ

Fred Klopfer, an optometrist at 456 West 63d street, was arrested on a charge of receiving stolen property after he had been accused by a prisoner held in the investigation of a Fort Wayne, Ind., burglary. The case involves the theft of $9,000 worth of jewelry from the home of Arthur F. Hall, president of the Lincoln Life Insurance company of Fort Wayne. One of the men arrested in the investigation said he sold a $1,300 diamond bracelet that was part of the loot to Klopfer. Klopfer readily admitted buying the bracelet, according to police, but said he did not know it was stolen.

ELECTION PAY PROMISED NEXT WEEK—MAYBE!

Judges and clerks of the election, many of whom have been fuming over the delayed pay, were told yesterday by Richard Daly, deputy controler of Cook county, that initial payments will start next Wednesday, maybe.

"I'm reasonably sure the first payment will be made next week, probably Wednesday—I hope," Daly said. In keeping with the practice inaugurated at the previous election, the checks will be mailed to the judges and clerks.

Letters sent to the election officials on Oct. 30 over the signature of John S. Rusch, chief clerk of the board of election commissioners, said payment of $8 would be made at the time returns were delivered. An additional $8 to those working in precincts where more than 300 ballots were cast will be paid after the canvass.

Daly said the plan for immediate payment was abandoned at the last minute, largely as a matter of efficiency. It is said, however, the county's need for cash also contributed to the decision.

3 MORE STATE EMPLOYES OUT AT SPRINGFIELD

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 8 [Special].—Three minor officials of the state finance department were without jobs today, being replaced on orders from Gov. Stelle's finance director, A. M. Carter.

Released today were O. L. Whitmer, Springfield, supervisor of refunds in the motor fuel tax division; Louis Ruben, Rock Island, investigator, and Byron Weisbaum, auditor, both from the liquor revenue division.

From Chicago came word that Merwin M. Hart had resigned as secretary of the state liquor control commission, to return to his private law practice. He was an appointee of the late Gov. Henry Horner, and served as legal adviser for the commission from 1935 to 1938.

GET THIS WRIGHT! NEW TREASURER ISN'T HORSEMAN

Warren Wright, who was elected state treasurer Tuesday on the Republican ticket, is not Warren Wright, the sportsman, the latter's secretary, Thomas F. Burns, emphasized yesterday. His employer, Warren Wright, former president of the Lincoln park board, is owner of the Calumet Farm racing stables near Lexington, Ky.

For the last few days, Burns said, he has spent most of his time at the sportsman's office at 33 North La Salle street, forwarding congratulatory telephone calls, telegrams, and letters to Wright, the politician, at Jacksonville, Ill.

WARNS U. S. DEBT BOOSTS LEAD TO STATE SOCIALISM

C. S. Dewey Hits Tax Law of New Dealers.

BY JOHN FISHER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 8.—Commenting upon the Roosevelt administration's desire for another increase of 15 to 20 billion dollars in the national debt limit, Charles S. Dewey, congressman-elect from the 9th Illinois district [Chicago], tonight warned that such repeated requests for debt increases and haphazard taxation are the forerunners of state socialism.

Charles S. Dewey.

Dewey, who won an impressive victory on Tuesday as the Republican candidate for the house seat, qualifies as an expert in government finance. He was assistant secretary of the treasury during the Coolidge administration, from 1924 to 1927, inclusive, and was appointed by the federal reserve board as American financial advisor to the Polish government.

Seeks Capital Residence.

The new congressman indicated clearly that he will provide constructive criticism of the government's fiscal policies when he assumes his new office on Jan. 3. Altho here with Mrs. Dewey to make arrangements for residence in the capital, Dewey killed two birds with one stone by requesting the secretaries of war and navy and national defense advisory commission officials to locate more defense projects in the Chicago area, thereby providing jobs for some of the 150,000 unemployed there.

Dewey noted that he arrived in Washington just as Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau Jr. announced that he would ask congress to lift the debt limit and foresaw a federal debt of 65 billion dollars by June 30, 1942, because of armament costs. The public debt now totals more than 44 billion, with a legal limit of 49 billion.

"I believe the people of the United States desire peace and that the most adequate way of maintaining peace is thru a well developed defense," Dewey commented. "I believe they are back of the armament program, but they should be advised of the financial conand some day must be repaid."

Interest 2 Billion a Year.

"A 65 billion dollar public debt at 3 per cent would cost in interest alone about 2 billion dollars a year and some day must be repaid.

The American people have always been willing to pay liberally thru taxes for government support and to offer themselves for its protection, but "I do not believe they are yet ready to mortgage their future and that of their children to such an extent that they will become vassals of state socialism," he continued.

Unless tax laws are amended to encourage rather than hamper business and debt is curtailed, a situation of forced loans by the government will be created, leading only to inflation, which will wipe out life insurance and savings of the people, Dewey said.

MARINE RESERVE CORPS LEAVES FOR ACTIVE DUTY

Clad in the marine corps' forest green winter service uniforms, and with combat packs and rifles, 350 men of the 9th battalion, organized marine corps reserves, left Chicago yesterday for San Diego, Cal., where they will be on an indefinite tour of active duty in federal service.

Behind their own band, and with colors flying, these young men from Chicago and Hammond, Ind., paraded at noon between lines of relatives and spectators from Grant park down Van Buren street to the La Salle street station where they boarded a Rock Island train for the coast. They will reach San Diego Monday.

BELIEVE ILLINOIS VOLUNTEERS WILL FILL DRAFT QUOTA

Maj. Victor Kleber of the Cook county draft office announced yesterday that each of the 180 local draft boards of Cook county has been asked to report the number of volunteers among the draft registrants in their board area.

It is believed the boards of the state will have enough volunteers among their registrants to fill the state's quota of 828 men for induction into the army for a year's training Nov. 18.

Local army recruiting officers, surveying the need for men in light of announcements of a record influx of volunteers, asserted there is still room for all who can meet the physical and other requirements.

There are openings for more than 1,600 enlisted men in the air corps, for at least 100 clerks for the new 2d army headquarters company, and for 250 flying cadets per month.

KILLED BY FALLING GIRDER.

Carl Knutsen, 36 years old, died in the Evanston hospital yesterday after being hit by a falling girder on a construction job at Green Bay road and Winnetka avenue, Winnetka, on which he was employed. He lived at 1762 Juneway terrace.

DEWEY PLANS TO RUN FOR GOVERNOR IN N. Y., THEN FOR PRESIDENCY

New York, Nov. 8 [Special].—Thomas E. Dewey will not accept a renomination for district attorney of New York county next year. He plans to seek the Republican nomination for governor in 1942 and, if he wins, to seek the party's nomination for the Presidency in 1944, it was disclosed today.

Political associates of Dewey made the situation clear in discussing his plans. They said he would feel free to give up the prosecutor's job next year because he had completed the job of cleaning out alliances of racketeers with politicians, the job for which he was elected, so he is entitled to pursue his own inclinations.

Dewey's intimates were reminded of talk that he might be nominated for mayor next year, but they insisted that he had no ambition to go to city hall. If Dewey is nominated for governor it will upset a Republican tradition in the state against the renomination of defeated candidates. Dewey lost by only a shade to Gov. Herbert H. Lehman two years ago.

GEN. DAWES HITS DRIVE TO FORCE NATION INTO WAR

Predicts 30 Year Fight if U. S. Intervenes.

Gen. Charles G. Dawes, former Vice President of the United States and former ambassador to England, predicted last night that the entry of this country into the European war might prolong the conflict 30 years. He spoke before the 17th Engineers club, consisting of world war veterans, in the Merchants and Manufacturers' club in the Merchandise Mart.

Gen. Dawes, who is chairman of the City National Bank and Trust company, warned that the American people should ask themselves into what they are being led. He said that "certain elements of our population are luring us into the war to crush Hitler."

War at Stalemate.

"Let us view the situation dispassionately," he said. "The war between England and Germany has reached a stalemate. England is virtually blockaded. A total of 200,000 tons of allied shipping was destroyed by Germany last week—more than was destroyed in any week during the last war.

"England learned at Narvik that she cannot land troops in other countries in the face of airplanes. Germany cannot land troops in England—22 miles across the channel.

Criticizes Sending Planes.

"The two countries have settled down to bombing the enemy civilian populations. Yet we are going to send powerful bombers that can fly above cannon fire and bomb innocent women and children.

"Sending war materials to Europe will be followed by sending our men over there—it will be inevitable. Our entry into the war will probably lengthen it to a 30 year war. England has indicated that she cannot pay cash for all the material she needs. We are asked to be allies to supply that.

Hits Insults to Other Nations.

"With a large public debt and a still larger one facing us, the administration in Washington is trying to push us into war by insulting Japan, sending marines and ammunition to China and other unneutral acts.

"Appeasers are ridiculed. Appeasement is an attempt to negotiate peace. Yet in face of a possible starvation of the peoples in England, France and other countries, no attempts are being made to negotiate peace."

Gen. Dawes, who commanded the 17th engineers regiment at the start of the last war, celebrated his 75th birthday last August.

WAR WILL GO ON TO DECISIVE END, HITLER ASSERTS

Rejects 'Every Compromise' in Munich Speech.

MUNICH, Germany, Nov. 8 (AP).—Adolf Hitler, in a stormy speech in the Munich Buergerbrau beer cellar, tonight declared that Germany is "strong enough to meet any combination in the world."

Surrounded by Nazi party stalwarts in the memorial eve observation of the party's unsuccessful beer hall putsch of 1923, the Fuehrer declared he was determined to carry the war to a decisive conclusion and rejected any compromise.

He said German production capacity was the highest in the world and the reich soon would have the capacity of the rest of Europe added to its own.

Huge Reserves Told.

Munitions expended thus far by Germany in the war are "only part of one month's production," the Fuehrer declared. He added:

"Our reserves are so great that I must stop production in many fields because there is no possibility of storing these masses now.

"As far as American production goes, one cannot even represent it with astronomical figures. But I can assure you that German production capacity is the highest in the world, for we are today in a position to mobilize the powers of almost all Europe."

Sarcastic About U. S.

Hitler referred to America in sarcastic tones as "The land of unlimited freedom," and added:

"Every immigrant must pass an unusually difficult examination before permission is given him to tread the sacred soil of democracy, altho scarcely 10 persons to the square kilometer live there."

He referred to President Woodrow Wilson's part in the world war, in explaining Germany's defeat, which he said came from interior Germany.

"For four years they [the allies] tried and it was necessary for an American magician to arise who found a formula for which the German people fell, trusting the word of honor of a foreign President."

Rejects "Every Compromise."

"Just as I, as a National Socialist, rejected every compromise in the fight for Germany," he said, "just so today I reject now and here any compromise."

Hitler declared that Germany's casualties in the present war to date were only a little more than half those of the Franco-Prussian war of 1870-'71. German casualties in the 1870-'71 war are listed in the German encyclopaedia as 25,278 killed in battle and 14,904 dead from other causes, such as illness.

Hitler condemned what he called the nightly attacks by the British air force on the German civilian population and stressed the reprisals of the German air force and military power.

Refers to Anti-Jewish Measures.

In an ironical tone, these sources said, he referred to measures against the Jews, and told how German enemies were foiled, mentioning "the English campaign of illusions."

The last 12 months he viewed as the greatest in German military history.

Just one year ago the Fuehrer narrowly escaped death from a time bomb planted in the beer hall scene of the annual celebration.

Tonight he spoke behind closed doors to his old comrades of 17 years ago, in contrast to the open house festivities heretofore.

Nor did the radio carry the speech to the people. They were informed that the text would not be broadcast until tomorrow. In the meantime only a brief summary was made public.

Fight Goes On—Hitler.

New York, Nov. 8 (AP).—Adolf Hitler told old guard Nazis in Munich tonight "the fight will be continued until we end it by our victory," said the German wireless in a broadcast report of his speech.

He spoke of the war's meaning for Germany, said the official broadcast, and told of the "gigantic military feats of German soldiers."

The tone of the address, as the wireless described it, was one of determination to fight on.

The broadcast added:

"Tremendous cheers were raised when Hitler spoke of the inner strength and unity of the nation, of the immense striking power of the German armed forces and of the absolute certainty of the victory of the German people and its leadership."

BED BURNS UP; SLEEPER DIES.

James Reilly, 42 years old, 669 North Clark street, died in County hospital yesterday of burns suffered in his room a week ago when his bed clothing became ignited. Police said he may have fallen asleep while smoking.

CHAMBERLAIN VERY ILL; KING'S DOCTOR ON CONSTANT CALL

LONDON, Nov. 8 (AP).—Neville Chamberlain, the apostle of peace, who led Britain thru the Munich crisis of September, 1938, lay gravely ill tonight.

Mrs. Chamberlain announced his illness in a message to the press. Chamberlain himself is at his country home, Highfield, in Hampshire. The king's physician, Lord Horder, lives nearby and is constantly on call.

Chamberlain underwent an operation for an intestinal obstruction July 29, and was discharged from a nursing home only last Aug. 12. At that time he appeared to be recovering rapidly, but on Oct. 3 he finally left the cabinet by resigning as lord president of council, a post he had taken when Winston Churchill succeeded him as prime minister on May 10.

For years Chamberlain has suffered from attacks of gout, and his delicate health has long been known. He is 71 years old.

HISTORIC TOWER OF LONDON HIT IN NAZI BOMB RAID

LONDON, Nov. 8 (AP).—The famous Tower of London and the Church of St. Clement Danes in the Strand have been hit by bombs in recent raids. Permission was given today to disclose these hits.

Much of the historic interior of St. Clement Danes, regarded as one of the most beautiful churches designed by Sir Christopher Wren, has been destroyed but the structure still looks proudly down on the Strand.

A bomb fell near the church, demolishing windows and making most of the interior almost a shambles.

TOWER AN ANCIENT FORT.

The ancient tower, the scene of many sufferings in English history, served in its day as a fortress, a royal residence, and a prison.

Among the famed figures of British history who languished in it were James I. of Scotland and Sir Walter Raleigh. It was there [illegible] VIII. married Catherine of Aragon and Anne Boleyn.

Morgenthau in Puerto Rico to Inspect New Defenses

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico, Nov. 8.—Henry Morgenthau Jr., secretary of the treasury, arrived here today from Miami. He will view the new defenses here from a navy plane and visit Jamaica, British West Indies, and the Virgin Islands.

BOMBERS WRAP KRUPP WORKS IN FLAMES: BRITAIN

Every Part of Huge Arms Plant Believed Hit.

LONDON, Nov. 9, Saturday (AP).—A four hour British bombing attack which left the vast Krupp armament works in Essen, Germany, enveloped in "one huge sheet of fire" was reported by the air ministry last night.

It was a bombardment which began a little after 8 o'clock Thursday night and went on intermittently thru the night and into the early morning hours. When it was over returning pilots said that the fiery result of their work could be seen 60 miles away.

The raid, according to British accounts, was launched by an extraordinarily big force of medium and heavy bombers, dropping what the ministry called "some of the heaviest caliber bombs yet carried into Germany."

Tons of Bombs Loosed.

Explosives were loosed by the uncounted ton, fire bombs by the thousands, and every section of the great works was declared hit.

The assaulting forces sprang in waves, it was added, and the second contingent of bombers to reach the factory area aimed for a chain of fires which already had been left raging by the pilots who had gone before.

The plant section was straddled by falling bombs from end to end, the ministry reported, "and within a few moments the whole of the factory area had become a mass of raging flames, the glow from which could be seen 60 miles away. At one period of the attack explosions could be seen continuously occurring for fully three quarters of an hour."

Other Points Bombed.

Other British pilots at the same time were raiding these objectives:

The German submarine base at Lorient, France; a synthetic oil reservoir at Cologne; blast furnaces at Duesseldorf and Oberhausen; docks on the Dortmund-Ems canal; the the Rhine port of Duisburg; Nazi shipping at Dunkirk.

In London, German raiders scored a direct hit on an air raid precautions center, killing several persons, but the assault slackened after midnight with long intervals of quiet. The air ministry said 20 German planes were destroyed yesterday.

BERNARD SHAW JOINS CHORUS URGING THAT BRITISH BOMB ROME

LONDON, Nov. 9, Saturday (AP).—George Bernard Shaw today joined the "bomb Rome" chorus. "I should not weep if Rome were bombed," the famed wit told the Daily Mirror. "London with its monuments and works of art—good and bad—has been bombed. Why not Rome?

"If only people weren't being killed, and we could select places to be bombed, I would welcome a German attack on London. They are knocking down a good many things we ought to have knocked down ourselves many years ago.

"I should hate to see them bomb Westminster Abbey, but I should be happy for them to bomb some of the monuments in it. The same applies to the house of commons and its members."

SEA RAIDERS SINK WHOLE CONVOY IN ATLANTIC: BERLIN

Warships Join Planes in Tightening Blockade.

British Hunt Raiders

LONDON, Nov. 9, Saturday (AP).—British naval circles expressed the opinion today that British warships are hunting for one or more German surface raiders in the North Atlantic, but discounted German claims to have destroyed an entire convoy totaling 86,000 tons. They said there seemed to be little doubt that a destructive attack had been made, but expressed doubt that a raider whose position already had been compromised by distress signals would risk further disclosure by sending a radio report to Berlin so soon.

BERLIN, Nov. 8 (AP).—An entire British merchant convoy of from 15 to 20 ships totaling 86,000 tons has been destroyed in the very middle of Britain's vital North Atlantic lifeline by German surface warships, according to today's Nazi claims.

This success in the air and sea blockade of Britain apparently came three days ago, but the heightening tempo of the campaign was reflected in the report of an informed source that today Stuka dive bombers blasted 31,000 tons of British shipping to the bottom out of strongly protected convoys and damaged 23,000 other tons.

Report Six Ships Sunk.

Six ships were reported sunk by the bombs, two of them "somewhere west of Ireland."

Various bits of unofficial information indicated that the convoy reported to have been wiped out was attacked Tuesday about 1,000 miles out of Newfoundland, on the main line of supply from Canada and the United States.

[The German radio gave circulation to reports from New York that the British ships Rangitiki, 16,698 tons, and Cornish City, 4,952 tons, sent SOS messages Nov. 5 that they were being shelled by a pocket battleship of the Graf Spee class—either the Luetzow or Admiral Scheer. No further messages have been received from the ships.]

High Command Locates Action.

The high command made barest mention of the convoy attack, but nevertheless used it to introduce the daily communique, as follows:

"Surface units of the German navy operating in the Atlantic have destroyed completely a British convoy on the North Atlantic route, sinking thereby 86,000 tons of enemy cargo space."

Informed quarters supplied the report that the 86,000 tons of shipping claimed destroyed was made up of from 15 to 20 merchant ships and that all the ships destroyed were commercial. The convoy was said to have been heavily guarded by British warships.

In the direct aerial assaults on England 13 British planes were shot down today and no German planes lost, according to a Berlin source.

British Admit Concern.

LONDON, Nov. 8 (AP).—Britain claims to have almost as much merchant shipping space as she had when the war began, despite German air, surface, and submarine raiders, but officials acknowledged today their concern over the destruction wrought and threatened by Germany's counter-blockade.

The British admit the loss by submarine action of 3,547,000 tons of their own, allied, and neutral shipping in the 14 months of the war [as against the German claim of 7,162,200 tons destroyed by all sorts of action].

This loss, they insist, has been almost replaced by new construction and chartering of non-British ships, but Britain's need for more shipping space and sufficient fighting ships to guard it without weakening other sectors of her naval power is openly acknowledged.

The job of keeping Britain's vital cargoes moving has been complicated by indications that German surface raiders, including at least one pocket battleship, presumably the Admiral Scheer, are on the loose in the North Atlantic.

Comparison of British, allied, and neutral shipping which London admits has been destroyed by German submarines during the 14 months of war with Berlin claims of destruction wrought by all agencies.

CHARGES PARIS COUNT SLAIN BY POLITICAL FOES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Oct. 31, by Courier to Berlin [Delayed].—One of the tragedies of the great flight from Paris in June became an official affair today when the Countess de Ludre formally charged that her husband, Count Armand Thierry de Ludre, was murdered while a political prisoner.

Circumstances of the 32 year old count's death have been aired in Paris newspapers for a month. They cited the case as an example of the vengeance meted out to political enemies of Georges Mandel, former minister of the interior.

Count de Ludre, who was a former secretary of the French embassy at Berlin, was arrested early in June with four others of pronounced anti-democratic opinion on charges of conspiring against the safety of the state. With hundreds of ordinary criminals they were marched southward as the Germans neared Paris. Guards were ordered to shoot any prisoners who could not keep up with the column. De Ludre, who had long suffered from asthma, fell down after walking nearly 10 miles and a mobile guard shot him thru the head. The others arrested with De Ludre have since been absolved of the charges on which they were held.

Ban Liquor and Foil Spies, W. C. T. U. Advice to Army

National officers of the W. C. T. U. called upon the government yesterday to ban liquor in America's peace time army. "One of the first effects of even small quantities of alcoholic liquors," their statement read, "is to loosen the tongue, and now, when fifth columnists and spies from other countries are seeking to gain military information which would harm our country, it is highly important that no alcohol be allowed to be served to our men."

2D DRAFT CALL DELAY LAID TO LAG IN HOUSING

Boston, Mass., Nov. 8 (AP).—Maj. Gen. James A. Woodruff, commander of the 1st corps area, said tonight the war department had postponed New England's second draft call until further instructions, and he added he believed the reason was that "barracks aren't going up as rapidly as we had hoped."

The call originally had been designated for Dec. 2. Woodruff said that while no reason was given by the war department it was his opinion authorities "want to make sure that the first draft call on Nov. 18 goes smoothly" and that they want to avoid overcrowding of present facilities at reception centers.

He said that while work was progressing well at Camp Edwards on Cape Cod, "barracks aren't going up as rapidly as we had hoped" at Portland, Me.; Portsmouth, N. H.; Fort Devens, New Bedford, Newport, and Fisher's Island, N. Y. Work at Fort Devens got away to a late start, he said.

2 British Warships Enter Gibraltar; Damage Hinted

LA LINEA, Spain, Nov. 8 (AP).—A British destroyer and a submarine, both apparently damaged, entered Gibraltar harbor late today, several hours after a fleet of 14 warships had steamed away from the fortress. The departure of the British ships—a battleship, two cruisers, eight destroyers, two submarines, and an aircraft carrier—was followed by heavy cannonading far out in the Mediterranean.

BULLITT ACCUSED OF WAR GUILT IN NEW PARIS PAPER

Encouraged Resistance to Nazis, It Charges.

BY ALEX SMALL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Nov. 4 [By Courier to Berlin, Delayed].—The four day old newspaper Le Nouveau Temps today accused William C. Bullitt, American ambassador to France, of playing a rôle which helped plunge France into the losing war against Germany.

The paper, resembling somewhat the old Le Temps and having a staff consisting mostly of editors from that formerly semiofficial organ, declared:

"Few people know, for example, that if M. Daladier [Edouard Daladier, then French premier] was disposed at 14 o'clock [2 p. m.] on Aug. 31, 1939, to accept unconditionally the Italian proposition of a European conference and if on the same day at 18 o'clock [6 p. m.] he put off French adhesion to Il Duce's offer, it was because in the interval he had conversations with Mr. Bullitt and with Bullitt's friend, Lukasiewicz [Juljusz Lukasiewicz, then Polish ambassador to France]."

Based on Interview.

The editorial was based on an interview recently given in unoccupied territory by the former French foreign minister, Georges Bonnet.

The editorial asked for serious reflection on the part of "the numerous friends which France possesses beyond the Atlantic, sincere and objective friends as well as too zealous friends who sometimes are false friends."

"Among the latter are people who often gave the leaders of our country extremely bad advice," the editorial charged.

The paper then accused certain Parisian journalists, notably Genevieve Tabouis and Henri de Kerillis, of getting encouragement from two Americans, Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau Jr. and Bernard Baruch. It declared:

"The truth is that the American circles which even today favor some sort of military support of the United States in favor of Britain bear a heavy responsibility in that noxious psychosis which pushed our country first into war and then to a resistance carried beyond the limits of reason.

Asserts Promises Made.

"Too many spokesmen of Washington, D. C., did not cease repeating before September, 1939, 'Stand up to the German claims and America will help.' These same men, once the conflict began, promised each week and for the following month, American intervention.

"Without these illusory encouragements, numerous French politicians would not have dared to combat the pacific policy of M. Bonnet."

The appearance of Le Nouveau Temps was interpreted as a certain sign of the return of the French government at Vichy to the region of Paris in the near future.

DUTCH OFFICIAL SAYS MERCHANT MARINE IS AT ALLIES' DISPOSAL

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 8.—The Netherlands has placed its mercantile marine totaling more than 3,000,000 tons at the disposal of the allied cause, Dr. Eelco N. van der Kleffens, Dutch foreign minister, told an Edinburgh audience today.

"In the Netherlands Indies our armament is proceeding apace," he said. "We have an army of 80,000 men, a well equipped modern air force, and a navy far from negligible."

He also declared the economic resources of the Dutch East Indies, which produce 30 per cent of the world's rubber, much petroleum, 17 per cent of the world's tea, and 25 per cent of the world's vegetable oil, had been placed at the allies' disposal. The Dutch already have given 45 Spitfires and 18 Lockheed Hudson bombers to the allies.

Lord Lothian, British Envoy to U. S., Knighted by King

LONDON, Nov. 8 (AP).—King George VI. today conferred a knighthood of the Order of the Thistle, one of Britain's most distinguished orders, on the marquess of Lothian, British ambassador to the United States. Lord Lothian now is in England on a brief furlough.

ITALIANS BOMB BRITISH BASE IN AFRICAN DESERT

ROME, Nov. 8 (AP).—Skimming low over the palm tops of a green haven in the sand wastes, Italian planes made a night attack on one of Britain's chief bases in Egypt at the oasis of Siwa, the high command reported today.

Altho rocked by heavy antiaircraft bursts, big trimotored bombers, protected by fighting ships, scattered explosives and shrapnel shells on British shelters, supply dumps, and motor equipment under the palms, and machine-gunned troop encampments, the communique said.

Planes Attack Shipping.

NAIROBI, Kenya, Nov. 8 (AP).—The British South African air command today reported that planes had attacked Italian shipping on the Juba river in Italian Somaliland, Nov. 6.

RELATES HOW SIX WOUNDED GREEKS ROUTED ITALIANS

Paved Way for Capture of 250 Fascists.

SALONIKA, Greece, Nov. 8 (AP).—A young Greek army sergeant who spent 15 years of his boyhood in New York and Detroit told today how a dawn attack by six wounded Greek soldiers paved the way for capture of 250 Italian troops in Albania.

The hand grenade attack, he said, was the climax of a day and night battle in which 60 other Italians were killed.

Until the start of the war, Sergt. Constantine Kelepousis was a political science student, but today he lay in a hospital with four machine gun bullets in one arm and another bullet in his leg.

Battle All Day Long.

"Several days after the war started," he said, "my company launched an attack into Albania. In one day we made 15 kilometers [more than nine miles] and captured many prisoners. Then we came to a small lake with the Italians entrenched on a nearby hill.

"We fought all morning, and that afternoon the Italians jumped out of their trenches waving a white flag offering to surrender.

"My captain ordered me to take 10 men and take possession of the trenches.

"We advanced to within 100 yards of the Italians when suddenly they jumped back into the trenches and began firing on us with machine guns.

Five Greeks Killed.

"Five of my men were killed. The rest were wounded. We huddled behind rocks all afternoon, tending our wounds as best we could, while the battle continued over our heads.

"The wounded men couldn't make their way back to their lines during the night, but at dawn a heavy fog reduced the visibility to a few feet.

"Instead of retreating, we decided to attack. We could still crawl, and we had a large supply of hand grenades.

"We spaced ourselves over about 75 yards and, crawling forward, tossed our grenades into the Italian trench from short range. The whole thing seemed to go up in the air, amid a terrific explosion, and in a few seconds we heard screams and groans.

60 Dead in Trenches.

"The Italians—those still alive—jumped out of the trench, shouting, 'Mother of God, don't throw any more! They thought they were being attacked by a whole company instead of just six wounded men.

"By that time, our company had heard the shouting and came running across no man's land, taking 250 Italians prisoner. Sixty more were dead in the trenches."

Kelepousis has a brother, William, living in Detroit.

SWITZERLAND HAS A BAD NIGHT OF AIR ALARMS

BERNE, Switzerland, Nov. 8 (AP).—Switzerland had an uneasy night of air alarms tonight and at the same time Italy—once full of compliments for this little federation—loosed a violent press and radio campaign against the Swiss.

Twice before midnight the air sirens sounded over Berne and other cities in western Switzerland. The first alarm came before the nation's lights went out at 10 p. m. under the army's new blackout orders. Such alarms usually have meant that British planes were flying over the Alps to bomb Italian targets.

In Italy, where only a day ago the press complimented the Swiss for this blackout order, certain newspapers and radio broadcasts were turned in sudden fury against the Swiss, who were described as "a people of hotel boys, cash box keepers, and chocolate makers."

Answering axis attacks on the Swiss for "permitting" British raiders to go unpunished for violations of Swiss territory, some Swiss papers pointed out that British planes, which are over German occupied territory at least three hours, are over Switzerland only half an hour.

Jugo-Slavia Sends Notes to 3 Nations on Bombing

BELGRADE, Jugo-Slavia, Nov. 8 (AP).—The government announced tonight the dispatch to Rome, Athens, and London of identical communications calling attention to the bombing of Bitolj Tuesday by foreign planes and expressing the hope that there would be no further violations of Jugo-Slav territory.

CENSORS TO KEEP EYE ON JIMMY'S JUKE BOX MOVIES

New York, Nov. 8.—The law dealt a sad blow today to those who counted on Jimmy Roosevelt's dime in the slot juke boxes offering spicier shows than those permitted in neighborhood movie houses.

Attorney General John J. Bennett ruled that the 3 minute reels of 16 mm. film which were slated for projection in Jimmy's new movie machine must be okayed by the same state censors who license full size features.

This ruling was decidedly unexpected by Jimmy's company. Gordon Mills, president of the Soundies Distributing company, said:

"We had not planned to submit our shows to the censors, but I'm delighted to hear that we'll have to do so. It will be good for the business. It will prevent ruinous influences creeping in from wildcat outfits with salacious films.

Police Break Up Italian, Greek Brawls in Istanbul

INSTANBUL, Turkey, Nov. 8 (AP).—Police reserves were called out today to quell disorders between Greek and Italian residents of Istanbul. Incidents involving nationals of the two warring nations have become so serious that the Italian consul general has issued an appeal to Italians to avoid brawling.

BRITAIN WILL GET HALF OF ALL NEW U. S. ARMAMENTS

Roosevelt Reveals a Deal Made 4 Weeks Ago.

BY WALTER TROHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 8.—President Roosevelt today announced that four weeks ago he arranged for British and Canadian forces to get one-half the munitions being turned out under the rearmament program, including "flying fortresses," the super-bombing planes which carry the army's secret bomb sight.

Mr. Roosevelt made the announcement at his first press conference since his reëlection to a third term. During the campaign he refused to comment on reports that he was arranging to ship America's No. 1 plane abroad.

Deal for 12,000 Planes.

In another development today the federal priorities board, which is composed of Industrialists William S. Knudsen and Edward R. Stettinius and a New Deal economist, Leon Henderson, granted the British government permission to negotiate for the purchase of 12,000 new airplanes.

In his campaign speech at Boston, Mass., Oct. 30, Mr. Roosevelt informed the nation that the British had made the request for 12,000 additional planes and said that he had urged the board to act favorably upon it. The British already have placed orders for 14,000 planes, so the present order would bring the total sought to 26,000.

A Casual Revelation.

At his press conference Mr. Roosevelt casually revealed that he had established a rule of thumb formula by which half the planes, arms, and ammunition being produced in this country is going to Britain and Canada. The United States will obtain most of the remaining 50 per cent of production. Small percentages are going to Latin American nations. The new rule will cut down, by 5 to 10 per cent, the war supplies going to the United States army and navy.

Mr. Roosevelt emphasized that his rule is subject to excention at a moment's notice. He said exceptions could be made wherever necessary in the 15 billion dollar program, which was passed for the purpose of strengthening the United States army.

How It Works Out.

By the rule of thumb order the program is working to arm Great Britain faster than the United States army. The program was passed by congress to get America in a position to ward off possible attack at the earliest moment.

Mr. Roosevelt stated that his rule applies to large bombing planes, including "flying fortresses," as they come off the assembly lines. The qualification "as they come off the assembly lines," was taken as indicating the 59 "flying fortresses" now on hand in the army air corps will not be shipped abroad.

However, there have been reports that the army, at the direction of the President, has already shipped several of these planes to the royal air force. It is known that during the first year of the current war the United States transferred 743 airplanes to Great Britain and that during the months of September and October, 1940, about 600 planes were transferred.

Bomb Sight Not Mentioned.

Nothing was said today of the bomb-sight which the "flying fortress" planes carry and which is regarded as the army's No. 1 secret. It was the general belief that these will also go to Britain because they are a part of the equipment of the planes.

The 59 "flying fortresses" constitute the backbone of the American flying force today, which numbers less than 300 first line fighting planes. Some of the large craft are four years old and nearing the end of their usefulness.

Mr. Roosevelt also reported that Mexican and United States army officers have been carrying on consultations for joint defense of North America similar to the conversations being held by United States and Canadian defense experts.

Denies Two Reports.

The President dismissed reports that Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson is about to be replaced. He laughed at a report that Leon Henderson is to get a cabinet post.

The war priorities board in a short statement announced the granting of permission to the British to negotiate for 12,000 new planes. The statement read in part:

"The British purchasing commission will be permitted to negotiate orders for 12,000 airplanes with the American aviation industry.

"These planes will be built in existing plants and in other facilities now developing.

"Under plans being devised by the priorities board, it is intended to gear construction of the British planes to American production in such a way as to prevent interference with our own requirements."

REPLIES TO ICKES ON CHARGE PRESS IN U. S. ISN'T FREE

Syracuse, N. Y., Nov. 8 (AP).—Herbert Agar, editor of the Louisville Courier-Journal, declared today that refusal of a majority of newspapers to support President Roosevelt for reëlection had nothing to do with freedom of the press.

Replying to Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes, who asserted yesterday in Washington that the lack of such support was evidence of the nonexistence in this country of a "truly free press," Agar told journalism students at the Empire State School Press association: "The real trouble with the press is that it is run by human beings."

Agar argued that the press is physically free in America as far as government control and pressure of outside groups is concerned, but added that the press is not morally free "any more than we as individuals are morally free."

"If I understand the secretary correctly," Agar said, "I do not think he has a strong point. There is a lot to say against the press, but the fact that it is against an individual does not prove it is not free."

2 HELD TO U. S. JURY ON DRAFT DODGING CHARGE

Two men were held to the federal grand jury on bonds of $500 each by United States Commissioner Edwin K. Walker yesterday on charges of dodging the draft. Archie Martin, 28 years old, Oklahoma Negro, who was picked up by park police for vagrancy, said he thought the draft was only for "improved people." Howard Jensen, 25, of 617 Madison street, told Des Plaines street police, when they asked to see his registration card, that he "just didn't get around to it [the draft registration]."

PUTS BRITAIN'S FACTORY LOSSES AT ONLY ¼ OF 1%

Security Chief Tells Men to Stay on Job.

BY LARRY RUE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 8.—Herbert Morrison, minister of home security, today estimated damage to vital war factories by bombs at no more than one-quarter of 1 per cent and warned workers against loss of time during air raid alarms. "Why should a war worker be more interested in safety first as a wartime motto than his colleague in the civil defense force?" he asked.

Herbert Morrison.

His estimate of bomb damage to factories was based, he said, on orders for replacement material. These orders increased only one-quarter of one per cent and from this, he said, a fair estimate of the extent of war factory destruction was obtained.

Praises Women.

He praised the "unsung heroines of war"—the workers' wives. Women, he said, played a vital part in keeping up their husbands' morale. "Women can win the war," he declared. "The spirit of the country on which victory depends is in their keeping."

Morrison promised civil defense workers, whom he called "front line men," better sickness, injury, and pension payments. Wounded workers will receive full pay for 13 weeks instead of 2 weeks. Volunteers will be compensated similarly if they are wounded.

"Total war has called our civil defense forces to face risks of death and injury such as never before have fallen to the lot of any nonmilitary corps," he said. "There can be no compensation in material terms for such risks, but we can secure for these men and women conditions broadly comparable with those of the fighting services."

Another serious air raid problem which apparently still is unsolved is that of education. An executive of the national union of teachers complained that London mothers still were failing to take advantage of the government's offer to educate their children in healthier environments.

Fined for Heroism.

Ironical effects of the war upon even the standard of heroism were brought out in the Bow street court today. A man who carried a 110 pound unexploded time bomb from a building was fined 100 pounds [about $400]. He was charged with violating police orders.

He told questioners that the bomb fell on his toes once while he was carrying it down a fire escape. "I was only trying to help," he said.

ROB CAFE AND PATRONS.

Two robbers entered the Blue Ribbon Villa, 212 East 83d street, last night, lined up John Sullivan, the proprietor, and 20 customers against a wall and took more than $600 from them.

MERGE BRITISH AND ALLIED WAR RELIEF AGENCIES

The Allied War Relief fund has been merged with the British War Relief society. This was announced yesterday in Chicago by Winthrop W. Aldrich of New York, head of the consolidated agency.

Aldrich said the British War Relief society goal was a fund of 10 million dollars to be gathered this winter and expended in medical and other nonmilitary aid for the people of the British Isles. Some of the money is to be spent for shoes and clothing for civilians.

Officers of the Chicago chapter of the society, which has headquarters at 30 North Michigan avenue, are: Charles F. Glore, president; Chauncey McCormick, vice president; Mrs. John Alden Carpenter, promotion chairman; Mrs. Howard Linn and Mrs. Howard Fenton, vice chairmen; Mrs. William Sutherland, unit committee chairman, and Mrs. Gerhard Foreman, publicity chairman.

BAR COLUMNIST AT WHITE HOUSE, THEN LET HIM IN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 8.—The White House this morning barred Paul Mallon, conductor of a Washington column, from Presidential press conferences and tonight informed him it was all a mistake.

Mallon, who has been a Washington correspondent for 17 years, was notified by secret service men as he came for the semiweekly press conference that he could not enter.

White House Secretary Marvin McIntyre, to whom Mallon appealed, allowed Mallon to enter the conference but asked him to remain after the conference.

"I was told from on high that I was being punished for inaccuracies," Mallon said. "I answered that I was surprised by this charge because I had not received any complaints against my column in some time."

Tonight as Mallon was awaiting the issuance of a formal statement from the White House press conferences, he received word that it was all a mistake and that he would be welcome once more.

JAPANESE TAKE OVER 2 FRENCH COURTS IN SHANGHAI CONCESSION

SHANGHAI, China, Nov. 8 (AP).—A Japanese spokesman today announced authorities of Shanghai's French concession had handed over to the Japanese sponsored government at Nanking control of two Chinese courts in the concession, bringing Japan's long-standing ambition to dominate foreign areas of the city much nearer fruition.

He said the action was taken in accordance with a "French-Nanking agreement negotiated at the instigation of the Japanese," and expressed the hope that similar agreements could be reached on other Chinese courts in the International Settlement.

[In Chungking, the Central Chinese government protested vigorously to France over the transfer of the courts. A foreign office spokesman said the protest was based on the contention the action was contrary to international law.]

The courts have jurisdiction over 500,000 Chinese residents and thousands of Europeans now enjoying extra-territoriality privileges in the French concessions.

ASK BIDS ON 170 FRAME BUILDINGS AT FORT SHERIDAN

$1,500,000 Structures to Be Ready in 90 Days.

Bids on 170 frame buildings to cost an estimated $1,500,000 will be opened Wednesday in the office of Col. Samuel I. Zeidner, constructing quartermaster at Fort Sheridan, in another major step toward fitting the fort for its rôle in the military training program. All work is to be done within 90 days after letting of the contracts.

These structures, which are to be paid for with money from the second supplemental national defense appropriation, will house the 210th coast artillery regiment of the Michigan National Guard and the 103d coast artillery regiment of the Kentucky National Guard, which will arrive about Jan. 3.

The former will come to camp with 800 men and will be expanded with draftees to about 1,800 men, said Capt. R. L. Anderson, Fort Sheridan post adjutant. The Kentucky unit will have about 313 men originally and will be expanded to about 800. Both regiments will be at Fort Sheridan for a year's training.

Structures to Be Built.

Included in the structures to be built are: 63 barracks to house 63 men each, 25 kitchens and mess halls, 24 recreation buildings, 26 storehouses, five administration buildings, three post exchanges, two guard houses, 5 administration buildings, 3 post exchanges, 2 guardhouses, 2 infirmaries, 5 officers' quarters, 4 motor repair shops, 1 fire station, 2 hospitals, 2 nurses' quarters, and 1 theater.

Meanwhile, work is being pushed on 29 other temporary frame buildings being built at Fort Sheridan in a $350,000 project. These structures, to be completed by Nov. 29, include 20 two-story frame barracks, which will house 1,200 draftees.

Will Be Reception Center.

This group of buildings will be the equipment of the reception center, at which draftees will be received and "processed."

At present there are 314 officers and 4,550 enlisted men at Fort Sheridan, tho permanent accommodations are for only 94 officers and 2,000 men. About 1,000 are living in tents. Within six weeks, however, 1,500 men will leave the fort to go to other army posts.

Brig. Gen. Clyde R. Abraham, new commandant of Fort Sheridan, will arrive to assume his duties on Nov. 13. He will succeed Col. John L. Homer, commanding officer of the 61st coast artillery, who has been post commandant since Oct. 16 when Maj. Gen. Lloyd R. Fredenhall left for Fort Benning, Ga.

Gen. Abraham reached New York Thursday from Puerto Rico, where he had been inspector general.

LATIN OFFICERS SEE U. S. FLYERS SMASH A TARGET

BALBOA, Canal Zone, Nov. 8.—A group of Mexican, Ecuadorian and Salvadorian high army officers today were given a demonstration of the expert marksmanship of American army pilots and the effectiveness of the army's famous secret bomb sight. They were the guests of Lieut. Gen. Daniel van Voorhis, commanding the Panama Canal department of the United States army.

Appearing suddenly from the direction of the Miraflores locks of the Panama canal, nine B-18 bombers swooped down on a target floating 1,500 yards from shore and demolished it in 10 seconds from a height of 8,000 feet. The bombs were 1,800 pound missiles.

STEAL WHISKY FROM TRUCK.

Thieves stole a truck yesterday as it was parked at a National Tea company warehouse loading platform at 1000 Crosby street. When the truck was recovered later, 300 quarts of whisky were missing.

Auto Bombing Kills Two Youths

CLEWS HUNTED IN BOMB DEATH OF TWO YOUTHS

Scranton, Pa., Nov. 8 (AP).—Investigators tonight considered the possibility that a bomb which killed a son and daughter of Scranton's health director was intended for a coal company executive whose home was blasted seven years ago.

District Attorney Michael J. Eagen announced this theory as police officials from at least three cities joined the search for the person who planted a bomb in the family automobile of Dr. Earl H. Rebhorn. The physician's son, William, 19 years old, and daughter, Lois, 17, were killed by the explosion as they were about to enter the car last night.

Louis Sanner, superintendent of the Volpe Coal company, whose home was bombed in 1933, lives only a block from the Rebhorns in the fashionable "hill section."

"It is possible," the district attorney said, "that the person who planted the bomb may have stopped in the wrong block last night."

WALLY AND DUKE MAY ATTEND N. Y. BRITISH AID BALL

New York, Nov. 8 (AP).—The Daily News says the duke and duchess of Windsor are expected to be in New York some time between Thanksgiving and Christmas. The royal couple, says the report, have consented to make personal appearances at a charity ball to be given for the British War Relief society and the Allied Relief fund, which merged forces yesterday. Date for the ball will not be set until the duke, now governor general of the Bahamas, cables the exact date of his arrival on a visit that is expected to last about two weeks.

FIND SUBSTANCE THAT CUTS HIGH BLOOD PRESSURE

Doctor Reports Success of Experiments.

In a recent report before the Central Society for Clinical Research, made public yesterday, Dr. I. H. Page of Indianapolis, and his co-workers, announced their conclusion that a substance exists in the kidney itself which has the power of controling high blood pressure.

Commenting on the paper, physicians emphasized that Dr. Page's work still is in the experimental stage, and insufficient clinical trials have been made to justify a definite conclusion.

Tells of Experiments.

In an abstract of his paper, which was delivered Nov. 1 before the society in the Drake hotel, Dr. Page said:

"We have come to the conclusion that normal kidneys contain a substance which reduces arterial pressure in both animals with experimental hypertension [high blood pressure] and in human hypertensive subjects.

"This substance has been extracted and has been employed by us in experimental animals and in 14 human subjects.

Normal in About 5 Days.

"Usually after about five days the pressure may be at or near normal. If the blood pressure falls too rapidly certain complications may arise.

"It should be said, however, that when the injections are discontinued the arterial pressure slowly rises, but may not regain its former level in some animals for many days or weeks.

Many animals in which the malignant type of high blood pressure has appeared have been successfully treated.

"Fourteen patients, two of whom exhibited the malignant form, have been treated. Arterial pressure has fallen to levels near normal, and, when the injections have been received regularly, the lowered pressure has been maintained. Clinically the patients appeared improved."

Wins Third Time

JACQUELINE COCHRAN.

New York, Nov. 8 (AP).—For the third time Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt today presented Jacqueline Cochran with the Clifford Burke Harmon trophy, carrying with it the distinction of being the world's greatest feminine pilot.

"To win this three times," remarked Mrs. Roosevelt, "is a very wonderful thing."

Outstanding record holder among American women flyers, Miss Cochran was selected for the honor by the International League of Aviators, repository of the trophy.

Among the accomplishments which gave Miss Cochrane the trophy were the first blind airplane landing ever made by a woman and the establishment of five national and two international records.

YES, SIR, OMAHA WILL BE READY FOR INVADERS

Sends Five Officials to Look at Our Defenses.

With the air lanes carrying thousands of speeches on national defense, with National Guardsmen being sent to southern camps, and with "aid the British" committees in full cry, Omaha, Neb., has looked into its own defenses and become dissatisfied.

Omaha doesn't want to be caught napping. So it decided to send five city officials to Chicago and see how this metropolis is going forward with its defense preparations.

Yesterday the delegation arrived and put up at the Hotel Sherman. It is composed of John Kresl, commissioner of streets and boulevards; Walter Krisko, fire commissioner; Fire Chief A. W. Olson, Police Chief Richard Jepsen, and Harry Truskin, commissioner of public improvements.

Call on Fire Commissioner.

As soon as they had checked in their rooms the visitors decided to see how Chicago will handle such fire problems as may come up in connection with the defense of America and the western hemisphere. They called on Fire Commissioner Michael J. Corrigan. He was more than willing to help.

He showed the Omaha inspectors his pumpers and trucks and radio equipment and took them on a fireboat for a ride. Fire Chief Olson, who acted as spokesman for the Omaha group, indicated the experience would be helpful in the defense of Omaha.

"Of course we don't want to be alarmists," he said, "but this is an important matter. We want to be ready for all eventualities in defense and we have learned a great deal about modern fire equipment.

"Tomorrow we shall call on Police Commissioner Allman and see what he is doing in the way of fitting his police force for national defense."

In regard to other proposed defense measures, the chief was reticent.

"We are not alarmists," he repeated. "Really, we would prefer to work in a secretive manner. We are just looking ahead a long way to national defense necessities."

The chief said that altho the visit was authorized officially, he and the others were paying their own expenses. He hinted that other cities might be visited for helpful leads on national defense problems. He refused to say what cities.

Miner Crushed to Death by Rock and Coal Slide

Belleville, Ill., Nov. 8 [Special].—Charles A. Reeb, 44 years old, miner, who worked in the Gundlach Coal mine in Caseyville township, was crushed to death today when caught beneath a slide of rock and coal.

SLAYS GIRL, 10; BURNS HER BODY IN HIS FURNACE

New York, Nov. 8 [Special].—Thomas Conroy, superintendent of a Bronx apartment house, today confessed he had strangled 10 year old Genevieve Connolly and then burned her body in the furnace of his building. The pretty, red-haired, blue-eyed girl had been the object of a wide search since Wednesday evening.

Conroy, described as a friend of the child's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Connolly, who lived nearby, made his confession to Assistant District Attorney Sylvester Ryan after 12 hours of questioning.

"I waited for her to come down the hallway," Ryan said Conroy told him. "Then I grabbed her—I choked her. I dragged her down to the cellar and threw her into the furnace."

Before the confession came a force of 115 detectives, augmented by a crew of 50 men from the city bureau of sewers and highways, were searching the neighborhood.

BLAME NEW DEAL LOAN AGENCY IN BRIDGE COLLAPSE

Engineer Says Protests on Design Failed.

Tacoma, Wash., Nov. 8 (AP).—Clark W. Eldridge, chief engineer of the Narrows bridge, which collapsed yesterday, said today state highway engineers had protested the design but that it was built as it was in the interests of economy.

"The employment of eastern engineers was because of a requirement by the money lending agencies that engineers of national reputation be employed," Eldridge said.

He added the state was told it could not have the money unless eastern engineers were used.

The span, the third longest in the world, opened four months ago. It was built with a PWA grant of $2,800,000 and an RFC loan of $3,520,000.

Seek to Place Blame.

Bridge authorities conferred today on rebuilding plans and state officials sought to place blame for the collapse.

Crews of workers dislodged concrete blocks from the sagging approaches to relieve the strain on the two big towers and the main suspension cables.

The Washington toll bridge authority held a meeting at Olympia to discuss the collapse and the matter of insurance adjustment. Gov. Clarence D. Martin reiterated that the bridge would be rebuilt.

Two Deck Type Urged.

Civic leaders said they would ask that the replacement of the $6,400,000 structure be a two deck bridge, the lower one providing a rail connection between Tacoma, near which is the army's expanding Fort Lewis and McChord field, and Bremerton, site of the Puget sound navy yard.

Major problem incident to this proposal was whether the two main towers would stand the weight of an additional deck.

U. S. JURY INDICTS TWO EX-OFFICIALS IN SECURITY CASE

South Bend, Ind., Nov. 8 [Special].—An indictment charging conspiracy to violate the national securities and exchange law was returned here today by the federal grand jury against Louis F. Conter, former county treasurer of Lake county, Indiana; Edwin L. Reil, former deputy in the office; the Central Securities corporation of Fort Wayne, and Edwin H. Bickmeyer, a salesman for the corporation.

According to the indictment, the charges involve transactions in special assessment bonds issued in Lake county while Conter was treasurer in 1936 and 1937. As such bonds are not always quickly redeemable at full value, they are sometimes bought up at 50 cents on the dollar by persons who can hold them and later get full value from the county.

The indictment charges that Conter and Reil conspired with the corporation and Bickmeyer to give the corporation priority in redeeming about $300,000 of the bonds at full value. Conter received $40,000 in bribes and Reil $15,000 and Bickmeyer received another $40,000, the government alleges. Conter now lives in Fort Lauderdale, Fla. Reil's home is in East Chicago.

VOTE TO INDICT EX-CONVICT IN BOMB EXTORTION

Joseph Murray, an ex-convict, was reported named by the grand jury yesterday in three true bills, two charging damage of property by explosives and the third an attempt to extort $20,000 from James [Big Jim] Martin, colored, reputed west side policy king.

Joseph Murray.

Murray was arrested Oct. 20 in Cicero after a series of bombings and attempted bombings had terrorized west side residents. The bombings of which he is accused occurred Sept. 4 at the home of Charles Bartels, 35 North Mayfield avenue, and Sept. 20 at the home of Leo Lasine, 157 South 17th avenue, Maywood, whose residence closely resembles that of Martin at 155 South 15th avenue in the suburb. Bartels is private secretary to Democratic leader Patrick A. Nash.

Murray confessed the bombings to Assistant State's Attorney Blair Varnes. He said he bombed Bartels' home because Bartels had refused to act as go-between in the extortion plot. Murray was ordered held under bonds totaling $30,000.

She Wins 9 Goats on Bet, but Husband Says 'Bah!'

Omaha, Neb., Nov. 8 [Special].—About a week before election John Kramer remarked to Mrs. Nels Sorensen, a friend, that Terry Carpenter looked like a cinch to be elected governor. "I'll bet 25 cents he won't," challenged Mrs. Sorensen. "I have nine goats on my farm," accepted Kramer. "I'll bet them against your quarter." Carpenter lost, and Mrs. Sorensen is going to get the goats within a few days—as soon as she can reconcile her husband, a police sergeant, to having them around. He doesn't want them.

PENNY MATCHING SLICKER MEETS SLICK HOOSIER

Man in a million story: James Spring, 51 years old, came to town three weeks ago from Kimmell, Ind. That left the population 349. He met a penny matcher in the Grand Central station. They won $3 from another stranger. The first stranger suggested that they play for higher stakes. But Spring said he was just playing for funnies, anyway, and he didn't approve of gambling, and he gave back his share of the winnings.

Some one told him later that penny matching is like the old shell game. He'd seen that one at county fairs. Well, Spring came back to Chicago yesterday and saw the first penny matcher in the station. As an upright citizen of Kimmel, Spring had the stranger arrested.

The stranger turned out to be an ex-convict known to the police as a penny matcher, card sharp, and confidence man under the names of Robert Lee Stuart, Frank Louis Fisher, Robert L. Morris, Robert Tyrus Kline, and La Moil J. Kurtz. And he was carrying a roll of stage money.

THE DEMOCRATIC PARTY.

The two major parties come out of the election presenting greater contrasts than can be remembered of other times. The Republicans have a united front. To them may be added many Democrats who are no longer at home in what is called their party and who agree in major principles with the Republicans, new and old.

The Republican party is a body of citizens knit together by consistent ideas held on common ground. It is a homogeneous mass of the American population, composed of people who think, speak, and act alike on political questions.

What is called the Democratic party is an odd combination of conflicting elements which have more reasons to dislike and detest each other than they have for association. This party is composed of southern conservatives who have nothing in common with the radical collectivists. The conservative element is typified by Vice President Garner, who wouldn't even vote in the election, and by the Virginians, Byrd and Glass, who must want to hold their noses most of the time.

Another southern element, the Ku Kluxers, make strange companions for the racial minorities whom they would persecute if they could do as they pleased. Then there are the great metropolitan city machine corruptionists whom the collectivists use for vote getting purposes and who contribute their votes for what they can cash in on them later.

If these various elements followed their natural bent they would be at each other's throats in a war of extermination. Only the extraordinary mental acrobatics and the moral indifference of a Roosevelt could have held them on one team, even with the inducements he is able to offer them. A party so constructed is ready to blow up in fragments any day.

THE MILITARY CENSOR.

Commander Robert Tatton Bower of the British navy sits in the house of commons. He is dissatisfied with the fleet command and took occasion to say so the other day in the debate on the conduct of the Norwegian campaign. Among other things he said the censorship has been employed to "conceal the deficiencies of senior officers" beneath a "fog of secrecy."

What may be the truth about the Norwegian campaign we do not know, but Commander Bower's observations about military censorship in general are sound. The excuse for censorship is that it is needed to conceal vital information from the enemy, but in practice it serves a hundred times to protect incompetents in their jobs to every time it keeps the enemy in the dark.

The censor, in the name of protecting military secrets, prevents his own public and civil government from learning of deficiencies in supply, of stupid planning, of feeble execution of plans. It was not until the last war was over that the peoples had any real notion of the ghastly incompetence of many of the most exalted generals on both sides. What the British army suffered in the last war at Paschendaele, for example, where an attack was ordered thru bogs against tremendous fire power, can be attributed largely to the censorship which forbade the prompt publication of the truth when it might have saved many thousands of lives.

For much the most part a voluntary censorship will suffice to protect the military secrets which need protecting. Editors can be relied upon to lean backward in doubtful cases. But after a battle has been fought it may safely be presumed that the enemy knows where the fighting took place and what units were involved in it, and has a pretty fair notion of the damage given and received. It is difficult to see what useful purpose is served by hiding from one's own public facts which the enemy has in his possession. That kind of censorship does not blind the enemy, but does prevent the public from knowing who among its leaders are able and who are incompetent in command.

CONGRESSMAN DEWEY.

The new Republican congressman from the 9th district, Charles S. Dewey, is already in Washington trying to discover why Chicago industries and Chicago workmen have been getting less than their share of rearmament work. Chicago hasn't had that kind of a congressman in many years. The city has suffered much in consequence.

The 9th district is to be congratulated on its good judgment in electing Mr. Dewey and on its good fortune in having a man of his capacity who was willing to make the race. Mr. Dewey goes to Washington with an earned reputation as a financial expert. He has served as assistant secretary of the treasury and as fiscal adviser to Poland. He is practical, energetic, and well poised. He should prove to be a most useful man in congress.

CAROL IN SPAIN.

A week or two ago the cables from Spain indicated that at almost any moment Carol of Rumania and his mistress, Magda, would be deported to Rumania for trial. Carol and Magda and Grand Chamberlain Urdareanu are in Madrid. They haven't been deported yet. They are still "conferring with Spanish authorities."

The delay may be explained, of course, by the difficulty of the problem of international law and by the desire of every one concerned to do the right thing and to make no hasty departures from precedent. When a king and his mistress are to have their heads chopped off, everything must be done according to protocol. Haste is unseemly.

That may be the explanation, but another theory deserves consideration. Carol is supposed to have salted away a lot of money. Perhaps he hasn't as much as the more imaginative have allowed themselves to believe but it seems probable that he has at least a nest-egg somewhere. Maybe the Spanish authorities would like to help him count it.

WAR OR PEACE?

In any country of Europe what is being done now in the United States would be called mobilization. It would be recognized as having the most serious and impressive import. When military nations mobilize they usually have cast the die. If they are known to be mobilizing, other nations fear the worst. Frequently it is an irrevocable step and peace is regarded as beyond further negotiation.

The United States isn't a military nation, but about everything it has in man power is being called into service. The little ships of the naval reserve in the Great Lakes region, with their crews, are being sent into the Atlantic—for patrol duty, it is said. Mine sweepers, transports, and hospital ships are being procured; the marine reserve is marching off; part of the National Guard has been called out and the rest of it will follow; the regular army has been recruited to 375,000 men, its full peacetime strength, and will be further increased to 431,000; the first conscripts from the draft will soon be on their way to their new military duties.

We may describe all this under the name of training, but any other nation would call it mobilization.

Unfortunately, there are Americans who hope that this means war—but for other people's sons. It's time to bring the question out in the open and force a discussion of it before something is done covertly to put the matter beyond discussion as an inescapable fact. Some of the advocates of war say that we should send our aviation over. That is not the idea of the American flyers but of people who do not even dare to fly in peacetime.

Some advocates of war say that we should send our destroyers over to fight the increasing menace of the submarine campaign against British shipping. That is not the idea of the men who man the destroyers but of people who do not even take the chance of getting their feet wet. It is the opinion of military men that England has passed the critical time when an invasion was probable or possible. Some military men never believed that an army could get across the channel, and nearly all of them agree now that if Germany could have thrown invading forces across it would already have been done. That was on the program and Herr Hitler doesn't like to say he will do a thing and then explain why he hasn't done it.

If England isn't to be invaded, it doesn't need an American expeditionary force. American divisions in Great Britain would be only more mouths to feed where there is necessity of economizing food.

The optimistic British talk of going back to the continent. They say they will find a landing spot when the time is ripe, when they are masters of the air, and that they will again throw their troops in to meet the Nazi army. Great Britain hasn't yet an army comparable in size or equipment to the German, taking no account of the Italian and other forces that might be encountered. The army is large enough to defend Britain, but it isn't big enough to tackle the continent, and there is small reason to believe that it ever will be.

If this war is to be decided against Hitler on the battlefields of Europe, the force will have to come from the 17 million American conscripts whose numbers are up. Suppose they did successfully invade Europe, then what? What kind of peace are they to carry in their train? What do we know of our war purposes beyond the idea that we must overthrow the prevailing form of government in continental Europe?

Before we go to war, wouldn't it be well to find out what our war aims are, and hadn't congress better remain in Washington until American prospects clear up? It might adjourn and return in January to discover that there was nothing to talk about or vote upon. The great decision might have been made in the interval.

MR. COURTNEY'S RACE.

State's Attorney Courtney's reëlection was generally expected, but the surprising vote that he received was a testimonial to the extent to which his reputation for honesty and courage has been accepted by Cook county voters. His total of more than 1,200,000 votes exceeded by a considerable margin that polled in the county by President Roosevelt.

In Illinois two of the successful Republican state candidates outran the President. On the nearly complete returns Governor Elect Green topped Mr. Roosevelt by about 45,000 votes and George F. Barrett, elected attorney general, also beat the President.

Mr. Courtney in Cook county and the two Republicans in the state at large shattered the Roosevelt popularity myth so far as Illinois is concerned. The famous coattails are becoming slippery, as Strongbox and the Little Red congressmen from downstate discovered, to their sorrow.

NO "LITTLE NRA" HERE!

[Los Angeles Times-Mirror.]

Despite the pressure that will be put on the city council by special interest groups to pass the so-called "code of fair competition for the cleaning and dyeing industry" today, the council should consider its duty to the public and reject it.

The measure's constitutionality is highly dubious. But even if it were not the ordinance would be unwise, unfair to the public, and ultimately damaging to the industry concerned. If its so-called minimum price schedule were enforceable it would result in sending people to jail for willingness to serve their customers for less money, a willingness most people consider praiseworthy. And the first pants presser sent to jail would raise a storm like that which upset the national NRA for doing the same thing.

If it were not enforceable—and it would not be without stationing a policeman, or worse, a spy, in every cleaning and dyeing establishment in the city—it would lead to worse conditions than those described in the preamble to the proposed ordinance; which include bombing, arson, and racketeering.

The proposed ordinance says rightly that these conditions justify interference on the part of the city. But such interference should take the form of jailing the bombers, the arsonists, and the racketeers. The idea of the proponents is, evidently, that criminals can be bribed into good behavior.

CLASSIC DETECTIVE TALES.

1840 to 1845—Edgar Allan Poe's "The Murders in the Rue Morgue," "The Mystery of Marie Roget," "The Purloined Letters." They are the sources of a mighty river of books.

1866—Emile Gaboriau began to publish "L'Affaire Rouge" in a French newspaper. He followed it with other detective novels that had international popularity, such as "Le Dossier 113," "Le Crime D'Orcival," and "Monsieur Lecoq."

1867—Wilkie Collins' "The Moonstone" appeared as the first full length detective novel in English.

1870—Charles Dickens, influenced by his friend, Wilkie Collins, began "The Mystery of Edwin Drood." His death left its plot an eternal problem. In 1853 Dickens had created an excellent practical detective in the character of Inspector Bucket of "Bleak House," but that work cannot be placed in this category.

1878—Anna Katherine Green put American writing into the field with "The Leavenworth Case."

1887—Fergus Hume, an Australian writer, published in London the first sweeping commercial success in detective fiction. It was printed cheaply and an enormous number of copies were sold. In 1927 it was said to have reached the half million mark, but it is rare now. Look for "The Mystery of a Hansom Cab."

1887—Sherlock Holmes made his first bow in "A Study in Scarlet."

GIRL ASKS FOR POEM.

A verse for you? How could it be?
And what would people think of me?
A score or more of years ago
Perhaps I could have written so
To praise your figure and your smile
And rhapsodize some little while
Now? No! With great finality!

Some twenty years from now, again—
I'd gladly eulogize you then,
When halting gait and whiskers gray
Would make it amply safe to say
Just what I think about your eyes.
Right now I fear 'twould not be wise,
Because, you see, I still love life—

Retreat to the Ivory Tower.

Yes, it was the cold, gray dawn of the morning after for nearly every one who had hopes that the Indiana boy might win; but did you notice how the skies cleared in the afternoon and the sun went down in ruddy splendor? All of which reminds us that November still has golden days in store, two Thanksgiving days included, and not even the most sorrowing Republican has been reduced to the state of the old woman who had but two teeth. Nevertheless, she thanked the Lord that they hit!

In spite of another setback there is much to be happy about, and now of all times is a good moment to take Washington Irving from the shelf and read "The Legend of Sleepy Hollow." That tale is certain to banish the blues and remind us that geniality is still extant, even if we have to go to a departed essayist to find it! Newcomer.

After reading the first page on Nov. 6 I couldn't help remembering Mark Twain:

"Hain't we got all the fools in town on our side? And ain't that a big enough majority in any town?" Chapter XXVI., "Huckleberry Finn."

Self-Portraits by Contribs: Tom Chekouras

This contributor's biography business looks to me as if it is going to be a free for all and the devil take the hindmost, and may the Lord have mercy on your soul. I know there is not a contributor to the Line who could write a better biography of himself in 12 or 14 or maybe 16 lines of Line than I could, but if I did there wouldn't be a word of truth in it, so what's the use? Yours with all my sympathy, Tom Chekouras.

ABANDONED FARM.

(In the Michigan apple country.)

The road that winds to it thru field and wood,
And up a hill, is dedicate to weeds,
But still the mark of wheel is plain, and leads
With glimpses of blue lake where orchards brood
In sunny hollows that no wind invades;
Here apples redden, fall to earth, and none
To note or care; the harvests all are done;
The reapers rest in apple-scented glades.

Upon its hill, the house looks down on all
That's left of sagging shed and broken stall;
Its own doors gape forlorn, and welcome now
But wind and rain, a questing vine or bough.
Sometimes it dreams beneath the watching stars

Origin of a Fairy Tale.

The cottage stood near a village, by a road that led to a forest. It seemed to stand at the edge of the world, with its chimney bent by the curve of the heavens.

An old woman lived in the cottage. Her industry and cleanliness were notorious. She would shake the bed so vigorously that a number of feathers always escaped.

When the old woman died she was not forgotten, because whenever it snowed the people who had known her would smile and say she was shaking out her featherbed again. E. B. G.

"To poll" [vote] or "to be polled" [cut, trimmed, clipped, shorn] is the difference between freedom and dictatorship. Maxellus.

Did you hear of the horrid experience of the shepherd who was arrested for trying to make a ewe turn on State street? C. O. R.

Thus ends a week of taxing [and how!] emotions and bruised nerves for the nation. The verbal ointments that are being issued for the cure of these spiritual injuries are not efficacious, we fear, in 48 per cent of the cases.

TAKING IT ON THE CHIN.

MOST of us realize fully how dependent we are upon the ability to make adjustments—to reconcile ourselves to changed conditions. Some are compelled to do this every hour of the day. With others, the transitions are more gradual. But the fact remains that comfort and satisfaction are measured by the power we possess of molding ourselves to anything and everything that may happen in politics, government, business, or social life. Should these adaptations be attended with great emotional strain, we will be subjected to nervous wear and tear.

Those who are silent about it all, who shed no tears, who do not give way to paroxysms of grief, perhaps suffer the most. Is "bottling up" our feelings the best plan? The difficulty lies in the fact that after a time some of these inner disturbances may manifest themselves in upset body functions. In other words, the one who swallows an insult—more than likely—will be a victim of indigestion.

At least one-half of the ills that come to us arise because of psychic injuries. We think we have forgotten them—that they are things of the past—but we fail to recall that they have left scars that may work to the surface of everyday thinking.

Our civilization is only a few thousand years old, and we are all creatures of an ancestral tree—the branches of which have been charred in the cruel fires of persecution. Little wonder then that we—the progeny—no matter how we may try to school ourselves, often exhibit fairly serious ailments which are merely exhibitions of disappointments, heartaches, frustration, and fears.

Truly we know enough about the antics of the nervous system to realize that the strains of modern life may take their toll. Since we cannot escape them, therefore, we must protect against them. Certain weak and unstable characters will succumb rather quickly with invalidism as a way out. But most of us will endeavor to understand and thus nullify their effects upon the human body.

Yes! The mind exerts an intimate influence over many of our functions and the task which we are obliged to face is to make sure that nervous waves shall not produce disease. But it will take much intelligence to bring this about, as it is easier said than done. The reason is that we are dealing with an automatic mechanism. We can't turn pale or blush at will. Neither can we dilate or contract the pupils of the eyes, or control goose pimples by wishing them away. But we can so comprehend the sources of these manifestations that we will take them as a matter of course. After a time the reactions will become negligible.

But this does not mean that every citizen should not take a helpful interest in world affairs. We must draw the line somewhere, however. There is no use crying over "spilt milk," neither can we aid the cause of democracy abroad by wailing. Judgment coupled with sound common sense must rule. We dare not take to heart—for our own sake—every catastrophe that we read about. Without becoming calloused or hard we can adopt a reasoning attitude, and be willing to help if it is within our power.

There is so much trouble on this giddy globe that if we would assume personal responsibility for its solution—we would all be on "sick leave."

BUILDING RESISTANCE.

L. E. B. writes: You mention frequently the advisability of increasing the circulation and building up resistance. How can this be done?

REPLY.

Keep the muscles in good tone thru exercise, use a well balanced diet, obtain eight or nine hours of restful sleep, do not become overfatigued, take a daily bath, regulate habits of elimination, etc. A reasonable amount of open air activity with sunlight and some mind diverting recreation are helpful.

PREGNANCY TEST.

Mrs. W. J. writes: Can pregnancy be determined thru a urinalysis?

REPLY.

No. The urine may be tested according to the Aschheim-Zondek and similar methods, with 95 to 98 per cent accuracy.

RED LINES AROUND NOSE.

V. G. writes: Can broken capillaries around the nose be removed successfully?

REPLY.

ON FOOD FOR EUROPEANS.

Oshkosh, Wis., Nov. 9.—It is casting a gloomy shadow on the future of Christianity when you read a letter like the one those 12 men of God wrote on Nov. 6. How tragic and hypocritical! They shed pious tears on the plight of innocent people in Europe and then advocate more plight by starvation. I am French and a Catholic and I abhor the Nazis. I had four years of war in 1914-'18, and all my family is homeless and ill from privation. Yet when I repeat "forgive our trespasses" I am trying to be a Christian. In the eyes of God starving women and children in order to punish others is as great a crime as bombing them. I suggest these clergymen meditate the gospel of All Saints' day, "The Sermon on the Mount." The rest is silence—and despair of man's humanity. JEANNE MERCIER.

Oak Park, Ill., Nov. 7.—After having read the letter against sending food to the blockaded people in Europe, which was signed by a number of Chicago churchmen and which appeared in your column today, I suggest that everybody read Matt. xxv., 32-46.

MRS. E. SCHUTTER.

Libertyville, Ill., Nov. 6.—We are warned in the letter from the 12 clergymen protesting the furnishing of food for Europeans "against yielding to a humanitarian impulse." [This from ministers of religion.] In my opinion, the world would be much better off if humanitarian impulses more often had the right of way.

But words can't alter facts. These facts remain—that in this country we have a surplus; in Europe there is a threat of starvation; and in between, the British fleet. A. F. D.

RETURN OF GREETINGS.

Chicago, Nov. 7.—Good morning, dear Roosevelt fan, M. M. C. This is what we have to say: Thanks a million for helping elect those splendid Republican men from Illinois. You may relax from your jitters of the recent campaign, and we Willkie fans will meet you again in 1944. And I don't mean maybe. C. M. D., 100% American.

Chicago, Nov. 7.—In reply to M. M. C., who greeted Willkie supporters so sarcastically in THE TRIBUNE today: Is he a political jobholder or one of those relief inspectors who get $7 or $8 a day finding out if you need relief? He would not think it so glorious if he were in a grocery business and saw the small pay checks coming in, and people asking for credit, and you waiting until they can pay for it.

And I've worked almost 30 years in such a business. MRS. C. R.

Bangor, Mich., Nov. 7.—Good morning to you, M. M. C. How do I feel? Well—there are over 13 million federal pay rollees, and at least 12 million of their dependents, and Roosevelt received 25 million votes! I feel that my family will have to do without a lot of things in the next few years to support you in the style to which you have become accustomed. A WILLKIE FAN.

[THE TRIBUNE has received numerous other letters of greeting to M. M. C., who asked what the Willkie fans had to say for themselves.]

A CHANCE FOR NEW DEALERS.

Chicago, Nov. 7.—Now that the New Dealers [because a real 100 per cent American Democrat would never do it] have broken the old tradition and put in a third termer, would it not be in order to withdraw the conscription bill and make a new one reading, "All men who supported the third termer, from 21 years of age up, whether married or single, even tho he be the father of 21 offspring, will have the honor of serving his country by being conscripted. No exemptions whatever."

In this way the real American will be able to take care of the business and political end of things, which is as it should be, while the New Deal followers get a chance to know what hard work is. After all, they should be willing to support the President, regardless of what he may ask of them. A REAL AMERICAN.

MUST RESIST THE CLAMOR.

Pinehurst, N. C., Nov. 7.—Stop, look, listen! American crusaders must continue, without rancor or bitterness, to realize the lethal threat lying in this third term clamor that all parties amalgamate. This is where Germany at Hitler's first election sold out her soul alive. We minority patriots must resist the stampeded surrender of the free soul of America. CLARE LOUISE BURT.

PERIL IN THE LEE BILL.

Chicago, Nov. 7.—In the last two weeks I have become more and more concerned about the Josh Lee bill now pending in congress. This bill, designed to conscript the wealth of the nation, is a dangerous type of legislation. The enactment and enforcement of the bill would have a far reaching and disastrous effect on industry, due to the consumption by the government of capital ordinarily invested in private enterprise.

The public in general is unmindful of this legislation, but because it affects every working man in America, I believe it is urgent that the newspapers bring to light the more or less concealed activities of our congress. A. B. CONVERSE.

AS TO SHIFTING OF VOTES.

Chicago, Nov. 7.—In your paper today you revealed how Mr. Willkie could have been elected thru a shift of less than 500,000 votes in states whose electoral votes Mr. Willkie needed for victory.

Using your line of reasoning, I juggled a few election figures myself and found that by a shift of less than 200,000 votes in states which Mr. Roosevelt did not need for victory, our President would have carried every state in the Union and Mr. Willkie would not have received a single electoral vote.

ESTATE ADMINISTRATION.

Chicago, Nov. 5.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—My father died over two years ago and left an estate consisting of real estate to his widow and three children.

1. His son was appointed administrator for eight years. Will you please answer the following questions?

2. Can the son who is administrator appoint himself also as janitor and receive janitor's union wages, and also live in one of the apartments free of rent?

3. Can he do the repairing and decorating of the apartments and charge for such work?

4. Can he appoint himself janitor for one of the other buildings belonging to the estate and charge whatever he thinks is a reasonable charge without approval of the court?

5. After the estate in probate has been closed, what percentage of the rental does the court deem reasonable he can collect thereafter?

6. He being a trustee and heir to the estate [7] can he charge the estate for two weeks' vacation which is allowed to union janitors? He does not belong to the union.

8. Does not the court look with disfavor toward a trustee appointing himself to do all these various functions and rendering a bill without any one of other heirs being in position to check these bills? A. L.

1. Under present law, the administration should last only a little over nine months. It does not make sense to say that he was appointed administrator for eight years. It is not clear whether you mean that he was appointed administrator and failed to close the estate within the usual time, or that the estate was closed and he continued to act in some other capacity.

2. The administrator as such does not necessarily have anything to do with the real estate.

3. See 2.

4. Same.

5. What is done thereafter is a matter for private negotiation between the heirs.

6. Your use of the word trustee implies that this is what you should have been talking about in your opening paragraph.

7. The terms of his employment would depend on what was said.

8. The powers of a trustee would depend upon the terms of his appointment. You have given us no facts on this point.

Where owners of undivided interests in real estate cannot agree, any one of them is entitled to force a division or a public sale by partition proceedings. The cost of such proceedings, including the complainant's solicitors' fees, are chargeable against the proceeds of sale.

WISCONSIN HIGH COURT UPHOLDS PICKETING LAW

Rules Minority Cannot Call Strikes.

BY FRED GRAFF.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Madison, Wis., Nov. 8.—Constitutionality of the Wisconsin employment relations act, specifically as it limits picketing, was upheld by the State Supreme court today in a unanimous opinion written by Chief Justice Marvin B. Rosenberry.

The law's limitation of picketing, the high court ruled, does not invade individual rights of free speech, as was contended by the Hotel and Restaurant Employés' International alliance No. 122 in its case against the state labor relations board growing out of the Plankinton hotel strike in Milwaukee.

Continuous Controversy.

The state's present labor law has been the subject of almost continuous controversy since it was enacted by the 1939 legislature to replace the La Follette-created "Little Wagner act" of the 1937 session.

Contrary to its predecessor, the present law lists unfair labor practices both for employers and employés, imposes definite limitations on picketing, outlaws secondary boycotts, and requires 10 days' notice of strikes involving perishable agricultural products.

The hotel and restaurant union had challenged as unconstitutional the section of the present law which declares it to be an unfair labor practice for an employé to "coöperate in engaging in, promoting, or inducing picketing, boycotting, or any other overt act concomitant of a strike unless a majority in a collective bargaining unit of the employés have voted by secret ballot to call a strike."

Such a limitation, the union argued, invaded the rights of free speech.

The Court's Opinion.

On this point Rosenberry said the court could "see no way by which the principle of collective bargaining can be maintained unless this right of a majority in a collective bargaining unit to speak for the unit, including the minority, is maintained. In providing for 'industrial peace, regular and adequate income for employés, and the uninterrupted production of goods and services,' we see no reason why the legislature may not forbid concerted picketing and boycotting in and of any unauthorized strike."

The high court's decision pointed out that under the 1937 labor relations act "the plant of the employer might be picketed altho there was no dispute between him and his employés and altho he employed no members of the union." The 1939 legislature, Rosenberry noted, held the view that "too wide a latitude was given to employés in their attempts to coerce their employers.

"The right of the individual to freedom of speech is, by the terms of the act, left unimpaired. It is the right to concert of action that is regulated," Rosenberry added, explaining that the law is intended to curb "unlawful" rather than "peaceful" picketing.

STRIKE THREAT OF BUS DRIVERS GETS PAY RAISE

A strike of 77 bus drivers was averted early today when members of Division 215 of the American Association of Street and Electric Railway Workers voted to accept a gradual 5 cent hourly raise. The drivers earlier had stated their demands for an increase of 8 cents an hour.

Under terms of the agreement the drivers will receive 3 cents an hour over present wages of 62 to 64 cents until next March 15, then 2 cents more until March 15, 1942. The drivers are employed by the Elgin city lines, Aurora city lines, and the Aurora-Elgin lines.

Five men and a woman were seized by Englewood police yesterday in the hi-jacking of a truck bearing $5,000 in merchandise owned by the Morris B. Sachs company. The robbery took place Monday at the rear of the company's warehouse at 6638 South Halsted street.

Those held are Frank Stapleton, 23 years old, of 433 West 66th street; Theodore Janus, 22, of 4946 Justine street; Edward Rybacki, 26, of 4831 Ada street; Frank Chlebek, 26, of 1719 West 17th street; Robert Helma, 35, of 2237 West 18th place; and Mrs. Victoria Rybacki, 56, the mother of Edward.

Lieut. Thomas O'Donnell said the men had confessed. Stapleton and Rybacki admitted hi-jacking the truck, he said, while Chlebek followed them in another automobile. Most of the loot was recovered in the possession of Rybacki, Stapleton, and Helma.

most important raw material of radio entertainment—taking up 65 per cent or more of the air time—costs the broadcasters only 3.4 per cent compared with as much as 85 per cent paid by other industries for their raw materials.

Ridiculously Low."

"Not only is this a ridiculously low figure in view of the rates charged by radio to sponsors for air time, but radio has all but ruined sheet music, phonograph record, and piano sales; and on top of this the daily repetitions of songs on the air has reduced the life of a hit number from one year to three months."

In the negotiations before the deadlock, Mutual Broadcasting company and other networks, according to an informal ruling by ASCAP, were to be exempted from the charge to be imposed on NBC and CBS. Mutual has no program producing facilities as do the two big chains.

A majority of the stations affiliated with Mutual have decided to turn down the ASCAP contract and have contributed toward the financing of BMI.

110 Station Contracts.

ASCAP has contracts signed by 110 of the smaller stations and applications for about the same number additional. But the bulk of radio broadcasting on a dollar volume basis will be off ASCAP after the first of the year, unless by some miracle a settlement is reached.

Radio officials say the miracle seems unlikely.

KEROSENE LAMP EXPLODES; SIX PERSONS BURNED

Six persons were treated for burns at the North avenue hospital last evening after a kerosene lamp exploded in the basement home of Andrew Gorski, 2135 Medill avenue. The lamp had been placed on a table near the one door and the family was trapped. Mrs. Gorski was burned on the face and hands as was her son Edward, 8. Two daughters, Louise, 11, and Jacqueline, 5, were scorched and partially overcome by heat and smoke.

An upstairs neighbor, Henry Zagorski, smashed a window and lifted out the members of the family. Fearing that three other Gorski children were in the flat he ran thru the flames searching for them, incurring severe burns about the face and body. Gorski's head and hands were seared.

MOTORIST HELD AS AUTO KILLS SCHOOLBOY, 10

Struck as He Steps Off Bus at Home.

James Sanders, 33 years old, 1534 Massachusetts street, Gary, was held by Lake county [Ind.] sheriff's police on a reckless homicide charge yesterday after the automobile he was driving in Ridge road [Indiana highway 6] west of Gary struck and killed a schoolboy who had just stepped off a school bus in front of his home. The victim was Claude Swayer, 10 years old, of 2100 Ridge road.

Sidney Brown, 43, of 8125 Cottage Grove avenue, was killed when his automobile crashed into the side of a Pennsylvania railroad passenger train, on 117th street near Oliver street, in Whiting.

Killed in Front of Home.

Aschilles Cuny, 85, was killed when he was struck by an automobile in front of his home at 5334 North Western avenue. Michael Grieco, 5239 Wrightwood avenue, driver of the car, had stopped when he saw Cuny, but Grieco's automobile was struck in the rear and pushed forward by another driven by L. D. Brown, 3303 North Leavitt street.

Joseph Kubica, 25, of 1925 North Oakley avenue, died in County hospital after an automobile in which he was riding collided with a truck at 19th street and Loomis avenue. The truck driver was Louis Caravelli, 1453 Fillmore street.

Albert Dronski, 48, of 846 North Maplewood avenue, died in St. Mary's hospital of injuries incurred Thursday when he walked into the side of an automobile at Maplewood and Chicago avenues. Anthony Sansone, 515 North Aberdeen street, was the driver of the car.

Michigan City Fatality.

Edgar Martin, 78, was killed by an automobile driven by William Glanz Jr., 301 North Woodland avenue, Michigan City, as he crossed Michigan street at 8th street in Michigan City. Martin lived at 1817 East Michigan street, Michigan City. The death was the first traffic fatality in that city in 190 days.

William Gallagher, 57, a police sergeant on the Calumet City force, was killed in Indiana Harbor Thursday when his auto collided with another at 138th street and Euclid avenue.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 744 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these 542 were killed in Chicago, where 20,140 were injured in the same period.

'A 40 YEAR PAL OF POLICE, CINCY DIES NAMELESS

In 1900 a young fellow who said he had been a deputy sheriff in Green Bay, Wis., showed up at the Chicago avenue police station hoping to get a job as a policeman. He didn't get the job, but he liked horses and began helping the policemen who handled them. He slept in the stables behind the station. After 20 years or so horses were replaced by automobiles and the hostlers' helper began helping the engineers in the basement.

He was known as "Cincy," a nickname derived from the fact that he had been born in Cincinnati. He ran errands for policemen and prisoners and it was his boast that he knew by their first names all the policemen and police officers who served at the Chicago avenue station during the last 40 years. His first name was Albert but no one recalls ever hearing his surname.

Cincy suffered a stroke last week and died in County hospital yesterday. And for want of his real name, he was listed as Albert Cincy on the death certificate. Chicago avenue policemen and a neighborhood undertaker are providing Cincy's funeral, which will be held at 9 a. m. Monday in Holy Name cathedral. Burial will be in Mount Carmel cemetery in a lot donated by George Stumpf, police station engineer.

DAUGHTER OF N. Y. DOCTOR DIES IN 16 STORY PLUNGE

New York, Nov. 8 [Special].—Audrey K. Anderton, 24 years old, socially prominent daughter of Dr. Walter P. Anderton, president of the New York County Medical society, was killed today when she jumped or fell from a window in the living room of the 16th floor Manhattan apartment of her cousin, the Countess Scherr-Thoss.

Thru her mother, who was Ethel W. Kingsland, she was related to a number of New York's prominent persons, among them Newbold Morris, president of the city council and her first cousin, while thru her father she was related to the Astor family.

The countess said her cousin had arrived for luncheon apparently in the best of spirits. They had talked for a time. Then, the countess said that she had gone to an adjoining room for a few minutes when she heard screams.

EDUCATOR LAUDS CITY'S FACILITIES FOR RECREATION

Chicago's programs and facilities for recreation are the envy of the nation, Dr. Malcolm S. MacLean, president of the Hampton institute, Norfolk, Va., said yesterday. He was the principal speaker at the sixth annual Chicago recreation conference in the Hotel Sherman.

"Chicago has set up patterns of survey, planning, and coördination," he said, "so that cops and kids, housewives and teachers, business men and social workers, experts and laymen, have worked together to build a stouter morale in the life of this giant city."

2 ROBBERS SLUG UNION OFFICIAL IN STREET HOLDUP

Two robbers accosted Walter McMahon, president, and Frank May, secretary, of the Bookbinders' union, local 8, at Clark and Adams streets last night as the men were walking from a union meeting in the Skyline Athletic club, 188 West Randolph street. They ordered May to surrender a box containing $200, which had been collected in dues at the meeting. When May reached into his pocket to surrender his own money, one of the robbers struck him in the face with the butt end of a revolver, knocking May, who is 63 years old, to the sidewalk. The men fled in an automobile driven by an accomplice. May was taken to St. Luke's hospital. He lives at 1514 North Mayfield avenue, McMahon at 4511 Monroe street.

SPRIGHTLY MUSIC OF 'ROBIN HOOD' ON W-G-N TONIGHT

John Carter to Sing Lead in Operetta.

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

The Chicago Theater of the Air will transport listeners to the merry old England of the 13th century when it lifts the curtain on Reginald Dekoven's popular operetta, "Robin Hood," tonight. The operetta will be broadcast from W-G-N's main studio over the coast to coast Mutual system from 9 to 10 o'clock.

John Carter.

Producer-Director William A. Bacher has brought together a distinguished musical and dramatic company for this story of England's famed outlaw band, and the melodious music of De Koven, including the song "O, Promise Me."

John Carter to Sing.

John Carter, Metropolitan Opera tenor, will sing Robin Hood, and Marion Claire, W-G-N's prima donna, that of Marian. They will be supported by Mark Love, basso, as Scarlett; Charles Ray as Guy, Bruce Foote as Little John, and Earle Wilkie as the sheriff.

Nathaniel Shilkret, conductor-composer, will make his first appearance on W-G-N as conductor of tonight's performance. Shilkret will lead the orchestra in the theater of the air for the next five weeks while Henry Weber, regular conductor, is directing the Chicago Opera company.

Singer's Favorite City.

Carter arrived early yesterday from Fort Wayne, where he sang Thursday evening. Chicago, he said, is his favorite city, altho he is a native New Yorker. In 1938 he appeared as soloist in one of the Grant park free concerts and in 1939 he was a headliner of the Chicagoland Music Festival.

Double casts will be used in tonight's show, with Bret Morrison as Robin Hood and Mary Patton as Marian. Others in the cast are Willard Waterman, John Walsh, Dick Goode, Bob Jellison, Marvin Mueller, Olan Soule, Fran Carlon, and Stan Harris. Robert Trendler is the choral master.

BABY WEIGHING LESS THAN TWO POUNDS THRIVES

A baby girl weighing less than 2 pounds was eating her meals with gusto in Passavant hospital last night. The baby, one of the smallest in medical men's experience, was born yesterday to Mrs. Kathryn Johnson, wife of Homer B. Johnson of 1400 Lake Shore drive.

Dr. David S. Hillis, the attending physician, wasn't sure of the baby's weight, for he placed her in an incubator without taking time to weigh her. There she has an automatic heating system that keeps her snug at 88 degrees, a humidifier, and a supply of oxygen. Every four hours dinner time comes. The menu is milk, cod liver oil, and glucose—a teaspoonful served with an eye dropper.

The baby will be named Julia Kathryn. Her mother is the daughter of Mrs. Robert M. Lee.

Miss Theodora Finney's Troth Is Announced

BY JUDITH CASS.

ON this autumn Saturday when numerous weddings are taking place, the most interesting news is of a romantic nature. It is the engagement announcement that Dr. and Mrs. William Parker Finney Jr. of Winnetka and Lake Geneva are making of their daughter, Theodora's, engagement to be married to William H. Lippitt of Wilmington, N. C.

The wedding is planned for Christmas time, but instead of taking place in Winnetka or Lake Geneva it will be solemnized in Fairfield, Conn., at the home of Miss Finney's grandmother, Mrs. S. H. Wheeler. Both the bride-to-be and her fiancé are studying medicine at Johns Hopkins Medical school in Baltimore, so when they have taken their degrees they will be Dr. and Dr. Lippitt as well as Dr. and Mrs. Lippitt. They are following in the footsteps of Miss Finney's parents in this, for Mrs. Finney is a doctor also.

Miss Finney made her debut at Lake Geneva in the autumn of 1936. Her tea also served as a debut for her kinswoman, Miss Lucy Rumsey, daughter of the Wallace D. Rumseys of Winnetka. Miss Finney was graduated from Vassar in 1939, and then began the study of medicine.

Franklyn Bliss Snyders Giving Luncheon Today.

Among the guests of President and Mrs. Franklyn Bliss Snyder at luncheon and at the Northwestern-Illinois game today will be Brig. Gen. and Mrs. Charles H. Bonesteel, Mr. and Mrs. Donald S. Boyton, Mr. and Mrs. Henry P. Isham, Mr. and Mrs. Weymouth Kirkland, and Mr. and Mrs. Adlai Stevenson. Mrs. Mark W. Cresap, Mrs. Wade Fetzer, Mrs. James F. Oates Jr., and Mrs. Nelson L. Buck will be among those assisting at the tea to be given after the game at Scott hall.

Both back stage and out front the staid old Auditorium theater will be electric with fun and excitement tonight, for the curtain goes up at 8:30 on the annual Service club revue. Today's one, two, three kicks are a far cry from the days when, as a Sunday school club, the group's charity efforts were restricted to washing, ironing, and mending old clothes which were donated to their cause.

Mrs. Richard Vanderwarker, production manager, and her corps of amateur chorines, singers, and their beaux have been rehearsing for weeks to make tonight's performance the howling success it promises to be.

Among those who have taken boxes are: Mr. and Mrs. David Crawford, Mr. and Mrs. James Norris, Mrs. J. Ogden Armour, Mr. and Mrs. Philip K. Wrigley, Mrs. D. Mark Cummings, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Schuyler, Mr. and Mrs. George Getz, Mr. and Mrs. Richard A. Cavenaugh, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Mills, and Mr. and Mrs. Harry L. Drake.

Richard Crooks to Be Guest of Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell.

The supper party that Mr. and Mrs. Leeds Mitchell are giving tonight for Mr. and Mrs. Richard Crooks will not be as large an affair as the hosts had thought of giving because the tenor has not been in the best of health recently. He is making his operatic debut with the Chicago Opera company tonight in "Manon." The Civic Opera house undoubtedly will be filled for the performance, and also for the matinée today.

Mrs. Allen M. Clement is giving a luncheon today, later taking her guests to the opera house to hear "Falstaff." Among this afternoon's boxholders are Mrs. Richard T. Crane Jr., Mrs. Charles G. Dawes, Mrs. Alice H. Patterson, Mrs. Arch Shaw, Mrs. Henry Weber, Mrs. James M. Hopkins, Mrs. George S. Dryden, Mrs. Edwin Ashcraft, Mrs. John A. Carpenter, Mrs. Percy B. Eckhart, Mrs. Walter R. Kirk, and Kemper Hall, a school in Kenosha.

The Redmond Stephens Wrights, the Elliott Donnelleys and the J. Beach Clows are giving a dinner party tonight at the Shoreacres club. It is a going away party for the Wrights, who are leaving Monday for their home in Pasadena. They have been visiting the Donnellys while Mr. Wright did portraits of the Donnellys' children. Mrs. Wright is the former Glee Louise Viles; both she and Mr. Wright are former Chicagoans.

Dunham Wood Riding Club Postpones Circus Party.

So few members of the Dunham Wood Riding club felt in the mood this week to dress up as circus performers that it was decided to postpone indefinitely the "Our Town" circus party planned for tonight.

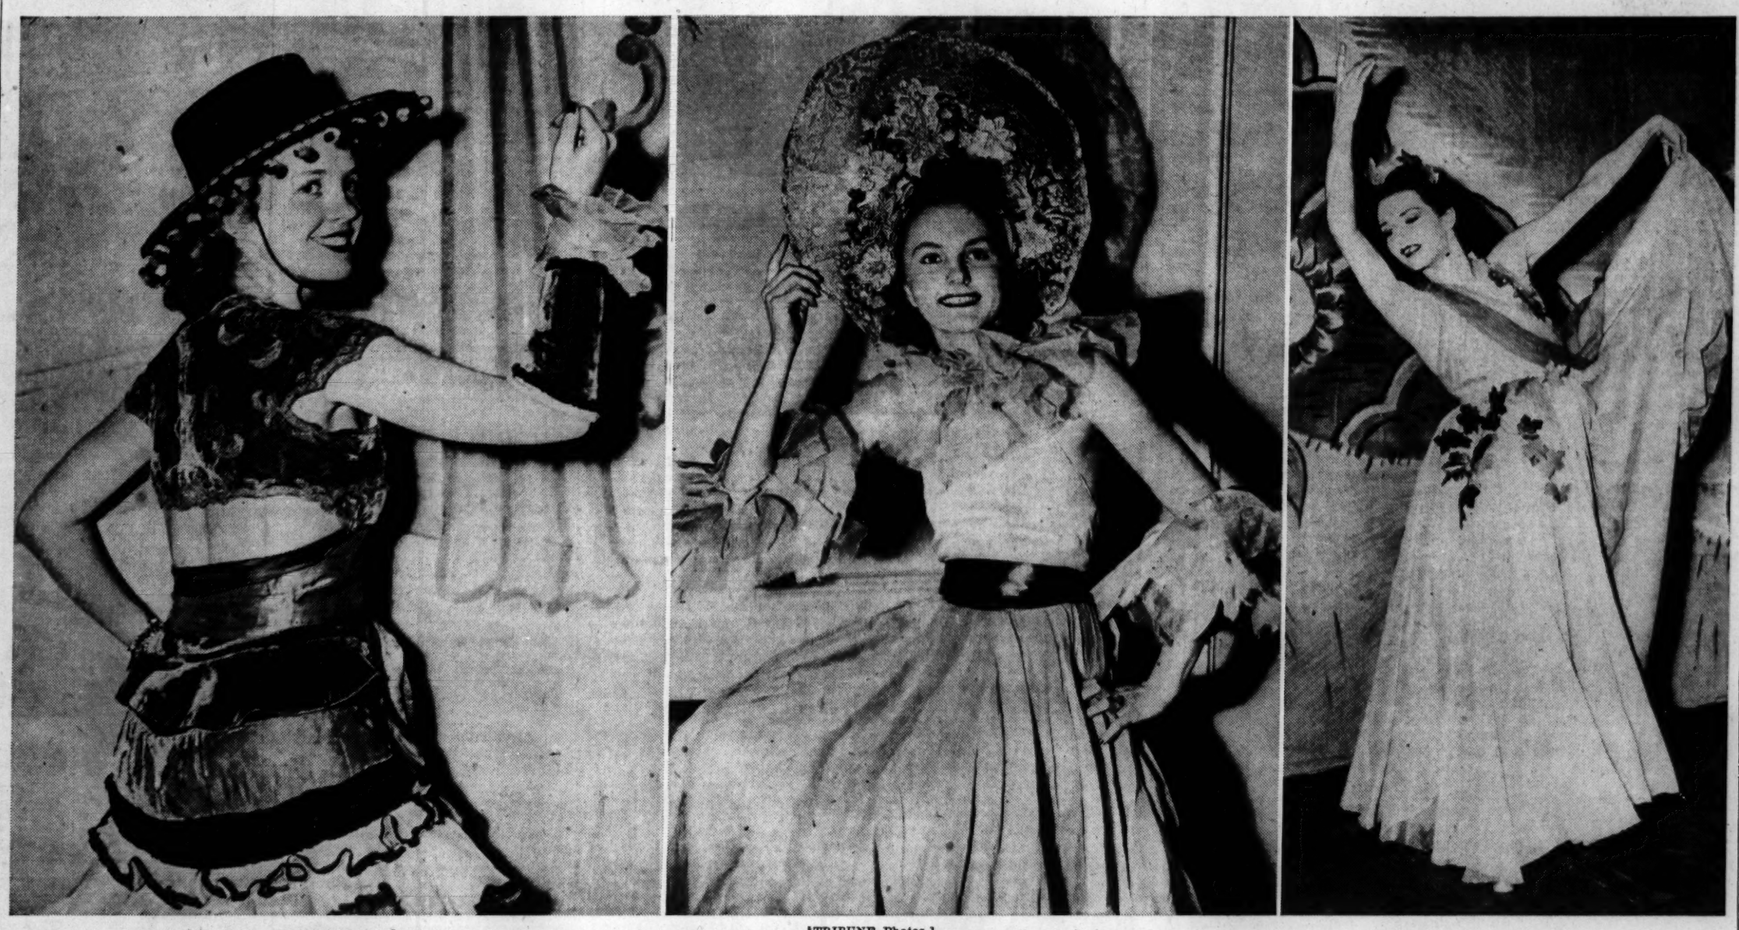
Mrs. Joseph T. Ryerson started several weeks ago a new and pleasant way of entertaining on Sundays. She invites friends to drop in at 4 for a game of bridge and a buffet supper.

A pageant at the Chicago Historical society tomorrow afternoon will open the 24th annual Red Cross membership roll call. The ceremony will start at 3 o'clock with an organ prelude, followed by the posting of the American and Red Cross flags. James B. Forgan, chairman of the Chicago chapter of the Red Cross, and Charles G. Beck, manager of the Hines hospital, will be the speakers.

The pageant will include scenes from Red Cross war services, volunteer services, and Junior Red Cross activities. The committee includes Miss Margot Atkin, Mrs. Kent Chandler, Mrs. Joseph M. Cudahy, Mrs. Albert B. Dick Jr., Mrs. Howard W. Fenton, Mrs. Charles Garfield King, Mrs. James Simpson, and Mrs. Frederic W. Upham.

Donald Bean, president of the Renaissance society of the University of Chicago, announces that the society will take part in the university's 50th anniversary "by emphasizing trands in modern art, particularly in the work of younger artists of various countries." The Sunday night supper season of the club will start tomorrow.

Glamor, Grace, and Beauty Abound in Service Club's Annual Revue to Be Presented Tonight



[TRIBUNE Photos.]

Fun Is Pledged at Civic Opera This Afternoon

BY IRENE STEYSKAL.

If that beam in the Thomas eye means what it promises the Civic Opera house is going to be no place at all, at all this afternoon for the little lavender ladies with Victorian sensibilities. Or if they insist upon attending their Saturday matinée, best play safe by fitting out their bag with a handy bottle of smelling salts.

The final rehearsal for "Falstaff" yesterday was robust enough to set the few listeners out in the darkened auditorium rolling in the plush seats. But for all that there was a certain secretive air about John Charles Thomas' tippling, roistering, amorous old Sir John which suggested he had something more in the way of stage "business" tucked up his ample sleeve to be freshly sprung on the morrow.

After all, whose have been the notable contributions to the bright legend of horseplay left the Metropolitan by the great Caruso? Whose the happy clowning? Mind you, chuckled the old timers watching from the wings, Thomas has the golden touch for comedy. Just look at that performance, will you? Falstaff, the lovable old reprobate, is fairly bursting out of Thomas' skin!

"For better or for worse," Thomas laughed, "I've never seen a Falstaff on the stage—either opera or speaking. Now I'll tell you frankly, as I understand him he's simply a red nosed old comedian. And that's the way I'm playing him. I had a friend who protested, 'Remember he was Sir John Falstaff. He was a lord. Therefore he was a gentleman.' [The Thomas—or was it Falstaff's?—laugh rumbled up]. Sir John, indeed! Ha, I've met a few lords!"

Thomas was to have sung Falstaff here last season, but because of production difficulties and a faulty libretto it was dropped from the schedule. It is to be sung today in English—a point highly pleasing to Thomas and the company. With a thin sprinkling of Shakespeare, the words are H. Proctor Gregg's and Thomas has high praise for the translation, which is from Rocordi's Italian libretto.

The cast will include Giannini, Sharnova, Mojica, Haskins and Summers. Henry Weber will conduct.

"What I marvel at the more I study this opera," Thomas declared, "is Verdi. Do you know how old he was when he wrote it? He was 84! Listen to this tempo—dum, diddy, dum, dum! It trips, it sparkles, it's as young as a spring breeze! And the melodies—they're inexhaustible and magnificent! It's a musical miracle."

And up from the deep chest wells an avalanche of golden sound—a few choice samples of those beauteous melodies just to prove the point.

Thomas will sing in two other operas next week. On Monday, he will appear with Jepson, Martinelli, Czaplicki and Mojica in "Pagliacci," and on Wednesday in "Aïda" with Milanov, Jagel, Zebranska and Lazzari.

Backstage Meeting.

A big square man in a dinner coat you might have seen sitting in a box at the Ballet theater's performance Thursday evening was John Steuart Curry, famed American painter and resident painter at the University of Wisconsin. He was in a box only part of the time, however; the rest of the time he was in the wings, busy with crayons, working on a new picture to be hung in the opera house lobby in the current exhibition of ballet art. When Nicolas De Molas, who did the decor and costumes for Capricioso performed last evening, and for several other ballets to be presented during the season, saw Curry at work and noticed the kind of crayons he was using he said to him, "You must have studied with Jacovlieff or with Schoukhaeff." Turned out he had, with both. De Molas had studied with the famous men in Russia; Curry in Paris.

Painter's Reply.

Painters were at work in the apartment of Eugene E. Ford on Astor street. When they left, both the first and second day, at 3:30 o'clock, the end of their union day, the butler inquired why it was they stopped work so early.

Meet the People.

Orson Welles was in town the other day, smoking a pipe and drinking hot orange juice at the Pump room. Can't help it—that's what he was doing. The beard was gone. Welles is lecturing in the midwest. . . . John Steuart Curry likes his picture hung in the annual exhibition of American paintings and sculpture at the Art institute better than any picture he has ever done. . . . Note for jazz fans: The lineup at Harry Lim's jam session at the Panther room tomorrow is an all-New Orleans one, and includes a few of the immortals: Baby Dodds on drums, Jimmy Noone on clarinet, Jimmy Yancey (one of the originators of boogie-woogie, and in the summer a groundskeeper at Sox park) on piano, Lonnie Johnson, a great blues singer, on guitar; Preston Jackson on trombone, and Natty Dominique (who sometimes carries bags at the Chicago airport but who once played with Joe Oliver and Louis Armstrong) on trumpet. All colored.

Dr. Paul C. Hodges, professor of roentgenology at the University of Chicago and an authority on X-rays, had special lenses ground for his eyeglasses to play the rôle of William Rainey Harper, first president of the university, in the University Settlement benefit performance of The Deceitful Dean, now playing at Mandel hall. Dr. Hodges' resemblance to Dr. Harper is remarkable. Stocky, black-haired, with a round, full face and an energetic manner, Dr. Harper wore small round glasses with thick lenses.

Enya Gonzalez Great Success as Butterfly

Enya Gonzalez, a small, dark, attractive, eager-to-please young soprano from the Philippines, achieved an outstanding success last night on the occasion of her debut with the Chicago Opera company in the Civic Opera house.

Cast in the name part of Puccini's "Madame Butterfly," she deeply impressed the large audience with the depth of her understanding of the rôle, the purity and bigness of her voice, and the musical intelligence of her performance.

She conceived Cio-Cio-San as a child—impulsive, mercurial, and naïve. Her actions, her voice colorings, her turns of phrase—all had a dewy, ingenuous quality. Up until the time when Pinkerton's perfidy was too plain to brook any further denial, even her grief was a child's grief—confident of assuagement and ready to turn to laughter at a word or even a thought.

And she was excellent musically. She could communicate shyness, delight, confidence, worry—almost anything—without spoiling her phrasing and her tone quality to do it.

James Melton, bright voiced and youthful sounding as ever, was cast opposite Miss Gonzalez as Pinkerton. Elizabeth Brown did her first Suzuki with the company, and contributed importantly to the ecstatic quality of the cherry blossom duet. Carlo Morelli made Sharpless warmly Latin and more sympathetic even than usual. John Lawler, male winner of the opera's 1940 auditions, gave a confident and vocally smooth enactment of the part of the angry Bonze.

Angelo Canarutto at the conductor's stand kept the performance alive and moving. That partly new orchestra is getting too loud already. Let us hope it pipes down for today's "Falstaff."

Zonta Open House.

Mrs. May Moyers McElroy of Chicago and Washington, D. C., president of Zonta International, and a number of midwestern leaders of Zonta will attend an open house and tea this afternoon at the organization's international headquarters, 59 East Van Buren street. The meeting will be held in celebration of the 21st anniversary of this service club for women executives.

Thru the LOOKING GLASS

With fine imported perfumes becoming infinitely precious, this seems like a good time to pass on some notes we got straight from one of the greatest of all the perfume houses.

The discussion started when we asked him a question on behalf of one of our friends. She'd received a bottle of extraelegant scent as a gift and in opening the bottle had broken the stopper right off. Her lovely perfume was sealed in all too well. Question: Should she smash the bottle and drain the perfume out or was there same way she could extricate the neck of the stopper?

The answer was that she should have a small hole bored into the neck of the bottle, and in the future be a lot more careful. Before opening perfume, the expert told us, the stopper should be tapped lightly with something like a key or the glass stopper of another bottle. Then the stopper should be twisted with a gentle clockwise turn, since ground glass stoppers are usually put in with a counterclockwise turn.

It's vitally important to keep perfume well sealed. Evaporation is inevitable otherwise. And in transferring perfume from one bottle to another be sure you use a small funnel. One of the most careful women we know always makes certain that the stopper of her perfumes is tight and then covers the neck of the bottle with waxed paper, held snug with a rubber band.

This Is the Payoff! Elgin Hydrant Spurts Pennies

Dollars don't grow on bushes, but pennies flow out of a fire hydrant in Elgin. Edward and Ervin Flentge, water department workers, opened the value to flush the hydrant Thursday. Out spurted the water and a 1929 penny. A 1936 copper followed. No one knows how the pennies got into the water system. The Flentges are hoping for folding money next.

'Bridge Coats' Combine Style with Comfort

BY REA SEEGER.

Toast-warm woolies, for round the house wear, have arrived! They are clever new ideas incorporating lots of tailored swank with comfort, with smart details such as pockets, gold braid trim, huge buttons, fitted streamlines, and gay plaids or checked patterns large enough to be visible for a block or two. This doesn't mean the giddy horse blanket checks or gaudy color clashes, but good reasonable dramatics for any color enthusiast.

First of the three new arrivals that will take the money from the most blasé shopper . . . the pastel checked wool using blue, rose, and yellow in inch squares. Next the raspberry, soft wool coat with six pockets outlined in gold braid. This is called the bridge house coat for obvious reasons. Cards, pencils, cigarets, matches, and everything needed for a lengthy bridge binge can be kept close to otherwise busy fingers.

The third wool find is the coachmen's coat. It's just that exactly! Cut with high flared collar with deep flared cuffs, buttoned snugly over the ribline with a double row of huge round buttons, these handsome coats are the last word in dash and swagger.

A brilliant scarlet, bright carbon blue, and the smartest all white affair, that could easily double for party use, comprise the color choice. Wide welt seams, fitted streamlines, and a couple of slanted pockets make the regulation coachman coat details. The wool fabric is a semirough fleecy texture with self-pattern.

The bridge coats are also of a fleecy wool material. All have long, warm sleeves and a smooth bodyline. Prices are moderate for all the snap of styling, the color, and the assured warmth for a nippy day at home.

The Borrowed Cottage

By Alice Campbell

[Copyright: 1940: By Alice Campbell.]

SYNOPSIS.

Rowan Wilde, an American girl, goes to the isolated cottage of Hazel Fordyce, in England, to do some studying. Arriving alone at night, she opens a closet door and a dead man falls out, getting blood on her skirt. She rushes from the cottage and runs into 22 year old Stephen Smedley, a young publisher, who, because of a breakdown, has come to the country for rest. He lives in an old chapel near by. Rowan gets suspicious of him when he goes off for help and fails to return, but when she starts out searching for him she stumbles upon him prostrate. Helping him into the cottage, he collapses on the sofa where she lets him sleep while she goes to bed upstairs. She is awakened by Stephen entering her room, holding a butcher knife. A sharp command from Rowan makes Stephen drop the knife and retreat downstairs where she locks him up until morning. Finding his brief case, with a sealed letter and a manuscript about Russia, she decides to hide it under her window eave with her bloody skirt. The next morning the body has disappeared, and Stephen, seeming to remember nothing of the knife episode, advises her not to mention finding the body, as its disappearance might get them both into trouble. The dead man turns out to be Bertram Bogge, no good brother of the vicar who lives next door. Lord Romrytch and his secretary, Forbes, also neighbors, help in the search for Bogge. Rowan, planning to return Stephen's brief case, invites him for dinner and discovers the body in a cupboard. She faints and when she comes to the body has disappeared the second time. This time the police are notified and they find the body in a well. During the night Rowan is awakened by the pounding of typewriter keys and typewritten notes are slipped under her door demanding the return of the brief case under penalty of death. She escapes to Stephen's chapel and sleeps on his cot. The next morning she finds her bedroom door locked by the police, who are hunting evidence. Egbert, the caretaker, is arrested for the murder as it is learned that Bertram had assaulted Egbert's fiancée. Later Egbert is released and Scotland Yard is called in. Stephen disappears and Rowan, afraid the police might discover the hidden brief case and her bloody skirt, confesses her predicament to Lord Romrytch, who promises to help her recover them. Scotland Yard questions Rowan, hinting that she and Stephen are the murderers. While she is being questioned, she overhears the police report a suicide which, from their description, she realizes must be Stephen. The vicar calls on her and demands she give him the brief case which he admits contains valuable information concerning his dead brother. The police overhear this conversation, and question Rowan again.

INSTALMENT XLVIII.

DECEPTION UNCOVERED.

Rowan heard the heavy grinding of brakes, as tho in the poor visibility the driver had shot past the entrance. The inspector had been studying her fury with analytical detachment. Now he let his gaze wander to the windows.

A man's voice was heard. Sergeant Dabney came in hesitatingly.

"Ill have it." Coolly the inspector made a long arm. As he absorbed the contents of the note his expression did not change. "I'll answer it, too. Tell his lordship's chauffeur Miss Wilde is unable to accept the invitation. That will be all."

As the door closed Rowan said chokingly, "Perhaps I may be allowed to hear what invitation you are refusing for me?"

For another second the inspector retained the crested sheet in his hand. "Certainly," he replied, and passed the note over.

It was Lady Romrytch who had written. That, of course, would be her husband's wiliness. Wanly touched, Rowan knew that her being asked to come at once to Struve and remain there till her house was freed from intruders marked the first move toward sidestepping the law. Lord Romrytch proposed, rather riskily, to undertake what was to follow. He hadn't learned, needless to say, how swiftly Scotland Yard had opened fire, how Stephen was dead and she herself was virtually under detention.

What was this? Rigidly she read on:

". . . in a horrible stew ourselves, of course. Forbes doing himself in, poor nut, has naturally knocked Henry and me endways, but as we'll be tied here anyway till after the inquest—"

Blinding light flashed on Rowan.

"Forbes! So he was the man in the car!"

Life surged back into her. The very rage which blasted the stolidly watchful inspector meant she was no longer like some drained cataleptic, able to wince only when prodded with a pin. Forbes, a cornered culprit, taking the one way out . . .

Stephen, wherever he might be, was warm flesh and blood.

The inspector was nodding. He seemed well content.

"I'll not attempt to justify my deception, Miss Wilde. It has served its purpose. Yes, the man in the car was Edward Forbes. You would like me to believe he murdered Bogge to obtain certain papers. Why, if so, did he throw in hand?"

"I—I don't understand."

"Where are those papers now? Not in the car. Think Forbes would have quitted the locality and left them behind?"

The inspector's eyes drilled into her. "Unless he did have these papers, and they were stolen from him by the same hand that slipped chloral into his whisky flask?"

Stephen was alive, but her jubilance seemed premature. At these last words it was as tho an evil stench were permeating the room.

"Whisky flask . . . Forbes had one by him?"

"He had—empty but for a few drops. His medicine bottle had contained a sleeping prescription, largely chloral, I fancy, but analysis will determine that. A second car had been stopping close behind, long enough to drip oil. I took a flashlight of the tire prints, which I imagine may prove identical with those of Smedley's Rover. Some one had dropped ash on the seat beside the dead man. Forbes, it appears, was a nonsmoker."

Stephen had waylaid Forbes on his London route, doped the flask right under Forbes' short sighted eyes and——

"I don't believe it!" she cried violently.

"Don't believe what, Miss Wilde?"

She clamped down on her tongue. Forbes must be guilty but what could she say without entangling herself?

"All I know, all I'll swear with my dying breath, is that Stephen Smedley isn't a murderer. He's had nothing whatsoever to do with either of these two deaths."

"No?" Rustily the inspector got up from his chair. "I'm afraid you won't convince me, Miss Wilde, any more than you will convince yourself. Take the Bogge murder. It seems satisfactorily established that Forbes was never alone or within three miles of this house during any part of Monday afternoon. Smedley, as you well know, was here, on the spot."

She hadn't known that Forbes' alibi had been tested. She wondered if Lord Romrytch knew, and if he alone suspected a leakage. To be sure she had not supposed that Forbes had ever been considered—or the vicar either, when it came to that. Once again her thought flew back to her original encounter with Cyprian Bogge.

She opened her lips, but the inspector, at the door, was speaking into the bright light beyond. "Any word from the Yard, Budworth?"

"About Smedley, chief? No, not a whisper."

Coldness stole round her heart. Not the recent devitalizing chill, but the old misery of aloneness. The horrid doubt of having been abandoned to her fate.

Well, anyhow, the episode of the carving knife need never come out. Funny how that first lurid night with Stephen, an apparently homicidal lunatic, lodged under this roof, had prevented information being given till truth itself had been impossible to tell!

"By the way——" The inspector was back again, ruminating. "The automatic I found in a drawer—did you bring it with you from town?"

She blinked at him. "That? Certainly not. It was here."

"I see. You've been frightened of an attack?"

"Loaded or not, you couldn't have fired the thing. It's broken," declared the inspector tersely. "Well, we're letting you get some sleep now. It'll be a chance to think matters over. Remember, if anything is found, inside this cottage or without—it will go considerably worse for you than if you had informed us in advance."

He moved toward the hall.

"Tomorrow," he said, "will bring us the full report on Forbes' death. Our dragnet will haul in Smedley, just where we want him."

"You're wrong about him," she repeated stubbornly. "Totally, ridiculously wrong."

"That's your last word for now, is it?"

He left her. Two minutes more and she heard the outer door thud to, twin treads on the stones outside, and almost at once the rasp of an engine. The Yard detectives were gone.

So she was being allowed one additional night in this ill-starred house—why, she could hardly see. She knew to a grim certainty that for every practical purpose she was already under arrest.

Less Fear the Better for a Young Child

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1940: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

Just how bad is fear? By that I mean children's fear. There's scarcely a mother, I'm sure, who isn't disturbed by seeing her child show fear.

There are those who argue that it is due to fear that man has survived thru the ages. If we hadn't been afraid of savage animals, of the dangers that lurk in the dark, he would have perished long before this. Fear, they say, is a necessary emotion.

In a sense that is true, but there's fear which is made up of panic and hysteria, fear which paralyzes action or thought, and so becomes a hazard to the one who feels it, and there is fear which translates itself into protective thought or action, and so is an advantage. In that form it becomes intelligent caution.

There are some things of which our children have to have enough fear to make them cautious. They know that they can't take liberties with deep water, or with traffic, we'll say, without being in danger. We warn our children when they are learning to swim, and beginning to cross streets alone, yet we should not present to them such a ghastly picture of the consequences that head under water in swimming, or getting in a bad spot in traffic, produces panic. Enough fear to make them careful is what we must instill in certain situations.

But considering the emotion generally, how bad is fear for a child?

We can answer, the less fear the better, but if fears do arise and then if they are faced and overcome, or outgrown in a reasonable space of time, we need not worry.

What we might call normal fears, if intelligently and sympathetically handled so that they pass, do not leave psychic "scar tissue."

[Copyright: 1940: By The Chicago Tribune.]

When you order the Thanksgiving fowl allow a pound per person of chicken or turkey, and 1½ pounds per person of duck or goose. This means dressed weight, feathers removed, but head and feet included, and undrawn. This will allow for generous portions.

But if you wish to allow for followup dishes, such as cold sliced turkey or a chicken pie, order more than that weight per person.

To make a better looking, more compact roast bird, slip back the neck skin and cut off the neck close to the body. Cook the neck with the giblets in simmering water with salt, pepper, a bay leaf, and a slice of onion, and chop the meat together with heart, liver, and gizzard, to be used in dressing or gravy.

Here's how to make good giblet gravy: Chop the cooked giblets fine and save the broth in which they were cooked. Skim off excess fat in the roasting pan, leaving about half a cup for a quart of gravy. Add half a cup of flour and stir until smooth over low heat. Gradually add 4 cups broth [add water, if there isn't that much broth] and stir constantly to keep the gravy smooth as it thickens. Add chopped giblets and salt and pepper to season. For thinner gravy add more liquid. Chopped parsley may be added.

TIP ON COOKING THE GIBLETS: The liver will become tender in a short time. Remove it from the cooking water as soon as it is done, and cover with a little of the cooking broth to keep it from drying out. Keep the cooking water at simmering, not boiling.

There must be cranberries somewhere in the Thanksgiving menu. Cranberry sauce, plain or strained and jellied, is always welcome. Or how about this cranberry-orange-apple relish? Put 2 cups of raw cranberries thru the food chopper. Peel an orange and remove seeds. Remove the core of an apple. Put orange rind and pulp and apple thru the chopper and combine with cranberries and a cup of sugar. Let stand an hour or more before serving. Apple may be omitted.

Or try a cranberry-lemon sherbet with the turkey. Cook a pound [4 cups] cranberries in 2½ cups water until all the skins have popped. Put thru sieve and add 2 cups sugar and a tablespoon gelatin which has been soaked in cold water. Heat until gelatin has dissolved. Cool and add a third cup of lemon juice.

Miss Elizabeth Buchen to Be Married Today

The largest of today's weddings will be that of Miss Elizabeth Buchen and Albert F. Winston, who are to have 26 attendants at the ceremony which will be performed at 4:30 o'clock in Christ church, Winnetka, by the Rev. Ashley Gerhard. A reception will follow at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walther Buchen of Winnetka.

Mrs. René Blanc-Roos of Haverford, Pa., will be her sister's matron of honor and the maids of honor will be the bridegroom's two sisters, the Misses Virginia and Laura Winston. The bridesmaids will be Mrs. Jonathan Strong, Miss Julie Wolcott, Miss Frances Price, Miss Helen Shoemaker, Miss Margaret Bell, Miss Catherine Coleman of Madison, Wis., a cousin of the bride; Mrs. John Van Dyke III. of Milwaukee, Miss Ann Halsey of Irvington-on-the-Hudson, N. Y.; Mrs. Charles Anthony of Hartford, Conn., and Mrs. Clarence Boyd Jones.

William Croxton will be best man for the son of the James H. Winstons of Evanston. Ushering will be Herbert and William Butz, Mr. Jones, Mr. Strong, Paul Adams of Hartford, Andrew Meldrum of Cleveland, Joseph Barr of Oil City, Pa.; Gordon Ewen, Thomas Coleman of Madison, Francis Stanton, Brayton Slade, and Herbert De Young, who is engaged to Miss Virginia Winston.

Among the out-of-town guests here for the wedding are Miss Buchen's uncle and aunt, the Thomas Colemans, and her grandmother, Mrs. Louis R. Head of Madison; another uncle and aunt, the Sigurd Gundersens of La Crosse, Wis., and the Roger Kings of Minneapolis.

Mr. Winston and his bride will be at home in Evanston after a two weeks wedding trip to Hot Springs, Va.

Only members of the immediate families will attend the marriage this afternoon at 4:30 o'clock of Miss Caroline Castle and Edmund J. Doering III. The service will be read in the chapel of St. Chrysostom's church by the rector, the Rev. Dudley Stark. Miss Josephine Castle will attend her twin sister and Philip Pool will be Mr. Doering's best man. A reception will follow at the Casino.

Mr. Doering, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Edmund J. Doering Jr., and his bride, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred C. Castle, will reside in Chicago.

Patterns for Christmas Toys

CHRISTMAS TOYS TO MAKE EARLY.

Two patterns today which you will find useful in making those innumerable toys and dolls which the youngsters of your acquaintance or family will appreciate finding under the tree on Christmas morning. These are not difficult patterns to use, and since you may utilize remnants, in most cases, no great expenditure is involved. The sketches illustrate the various styles made with the patterns.

The numbers are 34581 and 2526, and each costs 10 cents.

Address orders for Clotilde patterns to Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central annex, NEW YORK CITY, including 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred—wrap it carefully) for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT! Be sure to state clearly the number of the pattern and the size desired, and write your name and address plainly.

For 15 cents buy the fall and winter Chicago Tribune book of Clotilde Fashions, on sale at the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street and Tribune Tower; 10 cents if ordered with a pattern. Address mail orders to the New York address above.

Good Morning!

There have been more wildly stimulating mystery movies than "Haunted Honeymoon," but—if you like your screen guess work casual, polished, dialogued intelligently—tho with verbosity, and presented by a cast decidedly aware of their onions—this English opus should please you.

It's an adaptation of "Busman's Holiday"—one of Dorothy Sayer's "Lord Peter Wimsey" stories. . . . Sir Peter, you probably know, is a member of the British aristocracy who dabbles successfully in crime detection. . . . His best girl, Harriet Vane, a writer of crime novels, marries him in this piece and they twain go to the bridegroom's gift to the bride—a quaint old Tudor farmhouse—to enjoy a quiet honeymoon. WHICH [see title] they emphatically do not get.

Before marriage Peter and his Harriet have made each other a solemn promise. In future they will keep their noses out of other people's criminal activities. . . . Full of high resolve they fare forth to their first sojourn together—and there—the corpse awaits them! . . . Shall I tell you what happens? No? [I rather thought you'd feel that way. . . .]

Robert Montgomery performs with the ease and perspicacity we've grown to expect from him—the sort of thing that causes us to say—"Well, it OUGHT to be a good picture. Robert Montgomery's in it. . . ." Constance Cummings, conspicuous lately by her absence from films, is a knowing and handsome Lady Wimsey. . . . Leslie Banks injects considerable clever pantomime into his impersonation of a Scotland Yard inspector, and I think you'll like the other players—British, mostly.

Direction, settings and photography are commendable—and I DON'T believe you'll know—what I know now—till Sir Peter gets ready to show you whodunnit.

Union League Club Holds Armistice Ball Tonight

Members of the Union League club will hold their annual Army and Navy ball and Armistice celebration tonight. A banquet will be held at 7 o'clock in the club's main dining room on the 6th floor and the ball will be held in the crystal ballroom on the 5th floor.

Knitted Sweater with Ribbing

BY JEAN MacDONALD.

The knitted jacket is the almost indispensable item for every individual. It is an ideal Christmas gift and if started now will be ready well ahead of the eventful holiday. It is easy to knit and the deep ribbing at the waistband is carried out on the bottom of the sleeves. It may be buttoned up the front or fastened with novelty hooks.

For instructions in knitting the sweater with the deep band of ribbing at the waist, No. 240, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 5th avenue, New York City.

Numerology By Evelyn Holmes

Nov. 9, 1940.

Universal Day—If the universal day is seven, as is today, then one must take into account the nature of the seven no matter what ones own personal numbers may be. You might be having a three day and wonder why people in general were not understanding quickly what you were so spontaneously expressing. If you understood that seven is serious and three rather more superficial you would see that you would have to go a little deeper to be in complete harmony with the background vibrations of the universal day.

Don't be quite as talkative on a seven universal day as you would if it were a three day and you were having a three personal day.

Today's Date—There were some lessons to be learned this year for those born on this date, and if they sought higher expression of their talents they were following the 11 and 9 of their birthdate.

Here Is Story of Opera Being Sung Tonight

Here is a synopsis of the opera "Manon" to be presented this evening by the Chicago Opera company. It is suggested that persons unfamiliar with the story, who are planning to attend the performance, clip it out and take it with them to the Civic Opera house. It will greatly increase their enjoyment.

"MANON."

Opera in five acts. Music by Jules Massenet. Libretto by Meilhac and Gille after the Abbé Prévost novel. The story is laid in France in the early 18th century.

Act 1—The courtyard of an inn in Amiens. Lescaut, a soldier, has come to meet his cousin, Manon, and take her to a convent. She arrives and, while Lescaut is inside arranging for rooms, she is accosted by Guillot Morfontain, a rich old roué who, with his friend De Bretigny, is entertaining a group of actresses at the inn. Next the handsome Chevalier des Grieux enters the courtyard. He is impressed by Manon's beauty, enters into conversation with her, and ends by suggesting that they flee together to Paris. Manon, welcoming an opportunity to escape the gray life of the convent, agrees. They make off in a carriage provided by Morfontain, who had not anticipated the use that would be made of it.

Act 2—An apartment in Paris. Manon and Des Grieux read together a letter that the latter has written to the Count, his father, seeking to obtain permission for him to marry Manon. Lescaut and De Bretigny come to the apartment and, while the former argues with Des Grieux the latter urges Manon to flee with him. Later, Des Grieux is called to the door, and is captured and carried off. Fickle Manon is now free to join De Bretigny.

Act 3—[In a scene which is usually omitted, Manon and De Bretigny learn that Des Grieux is about to enter the priesthood. Manon forsakes De Bretigny and hurries to Des Grieux.] In the seminary Des Grieux resolves to give up the world and seek a heavenly peace. However, when Manon entreats him to return to her, he reconsiders his decision and follows her back into the world.

Act 4—In a fashionable Paris gambling house Des Grieux wins fabulous sums until he is accused by Morfontain of cheating. He and Manon are arrested. He is released when his rank is made known, but she is condemned to exile.

Act 5—On the road to Havre and the ship which is to carry her into exile, Manon meets her cousin Lescaut and her lover Des Grieux. The latter attempts to persuade her to escape with him, but she is worn-out with grief and fatigue. After begging Des Grieux to forgive her her sins, she expires in his arms.

Looking at Hollywood
By John Chapman

Hollywood, Cal., Nov. 8.—There is a recurrent suspicion that neighboring sneak preview audiences, before whom all of Hollywood's Timid Souls test their new films, are not "representative."

This does not mean that they aren't bright. They might, in fact, be brighter in Pomona than in Paducah, Ky.; more civilized in Long Beach than in Long Branch, N. J.; but they may not be the national average at which every picture is aimed. Occasionally somebody stands up on only two feet and says the heck with local opinion, I'm going to sneak preview my picture far, far away.

Such a one is Alfred Hitchcock, who plans personally to follow his new comedy, "Mr. and Mrs. Smith," on a transcontinental series of sneaks. A dozen spots have been chosen, all the way from New Orleans to New Rochelle. Orson Welles, too, has been considering a middle-American sneak of "Citizen Kane." Within the next two weeks Warners will test Bette Davis' "The Letter" in San Francisco and Miriam Hopkins' "Lady with Red Hair" in Kansas City.

According to John Ford himself, his screen version of "Tobacco Road" will have no vulgarity. If Ford says so it must be so. With Charles Grapewin as Jeeter Lester, a company leaves next week for three weeks of shooting near Rome, Ga. In the meanwhile the 20th-Fox location department is lining up two locations, one in the San Fernando valley, the other in the San Joaquin, which are sufficiently similar to the Georgia terrain to make it possible to continue operations nearer the Hollywood base.

Many an actor had been nominated for the Jeeter rôle. Ford passed up the five or six stage Lesters, including James Barton, John Barton, James Bell, and Henry Hull, and paid no attention to positive reports that Fred Stone would have the job. Actually, he tested only two actors for the part—Grapewin and Walter Brennan. Grapewin gave a splendid performance as the lawyer in "Johnny Apollo" and was the grandfather in another Ford epic, "The Grapes of Wrath."

Nunnally Johnson's "Tobacco Road" script is based more on the Erskine Caldwell novel than on the Jack Kirkland play, and the picture will have many more characters than the play.

Clark Gable and Carole Lombard are taking four months off and the first part of their holiday will be devoted to hunting in Idaho—hunting and shopping for a ranch. The other night Clark was recalling the first time he took Carole hunting, in the early days of their marriage. He had drilled her in shooting and gun handling and on a foggy morning they went for geese.

Flying low in the mist, a big V of geese came by. Gable said "Mark!" and Miss Lombard swung up her gun and knocked down the leading bird. Huntsman Gable swung his gun, too, but before he could pull the trigger he was knocked flat on his face in cold mud — by Miss Lombard's stricken trophy, a goose weighing 31 pounds.

Author-Director Preston Sturges, who has been getting a bigger advertising buildup than many a Paramount star, wears more odd costumes than Ed Wynn. On the "Lady Eve" set yesterday he was wearing for a hat something that looked like the accidental offspring of a French beret and a baseball umpire's cap. Next came a long wool muffler, a sweat shirt, a sports jacket, flannel slacks, and reverse calf shoes. . . . As the Lady Eve,, Barbara Stanwyck plays an American girl who is posing as a Britisher, and is being coached in the British accent by Heather Thatcher. The story, by the way, is the first one Sturges sold to Paramount seven years ago. . . . Marjorie Main, who was so good as the landlady in "Test Pilot" and in both stage and screen versions of "The Women," has finally decided her Hollywood career isn't just a lucky flash in the pan. Currently working in "Wild Man of Borneo," she bought a car yesterday. Up to now she's been taking buses, which is a form of torture few people will risk in this land of long hauls.

Pleasantest of the present sets to visit is "The Road to Zanzibar," which will be the Bing Crosby-Bob Hope sequel to "Singapore." In this one they are the same two grifters, and many of the gags are being made up right on the set as they go along.

Remember in the pair's first picture, how they'd play pat-a-cake with some one and slip in a fast punch to the button? Well, in the new one they play pat-a-cake with a couple of natives—who slip in the knockout punches first. "They must," says Hope, "have seen the other picture."

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1940: By Ely Culbertson.]

If bridge players would master one single department of play, the percentage of fulfilled contracts would increase by leaps and bounds. I refer to the department of safety plays. This is by all odds the least understood and appreciated phase of bridge. Why, I can't say. There is nothing abstruse, nor even greatly complicated, about safety plays. Indeed, experts find them fascinating. And a thoro knowledge of these plays prevents the sort of tragedy that overtook the declarer in the following deal:

NORTH
♠ Q 6 4 3
♥ A 7 5
♦ A K J

WEST
♠ None
♥ Q 8 6 2
♦ 9 6 5 3
♣ Q J 9 8 5

EAST
♠ K J 9
♥ J 10 9
♦ 10 4 2
♣ A 10 7 3

SOUTH
♠ A 10 8 7 5 2
♥ K 4 3
♦ Q 8 7
♣ 2

The bidding:

| North | East | South | West |
|---|---|---|---|
| 1 no trump | Pass | 3 spades | Pass |
| 4 spades | Pass | Pass | Pass |

West opened the club queen. The king was smothered by East and declarer ruffed the club return. Declarer's problem was now clear cut: A heart loser would be unavoidable, hence it was vital to hold the defenders to one trump trick. With ten trumps in the combined hands, this looked easy. Declarer flipped out his spade ace, and the sound contract folded its tent and stole away. The defenders gleefully collected two trumps and a heart trick.

Granting that declarer ran into a bad trump break, there was absolutely no excuse for the loss of this contract. It was impossible to lose two trump tricks, if the proper play had been used.

After ruffing East's club return, declarer should enter dummy and lead a low trump toward his own hand. If East follows suit, that is proof that West cannot hold the three missing trumps. But East may hold them, and to cover that possibility, declarer must play the ten on East's nine. If West wins with the jack, what of it? The suit has now been found to break, and declarer's ace must drop the king, which is now the only outstanding trump.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

Northwestern's Wildcats, possibly a bit wilder than usual because of the one point defeat with which Minnesota stung them a week ago, take on a victory starved Illinois eleven this afternoon in Dyche stadium before an assemblage of 35,000.

It will be a battle between a squad which swept Syracuse, Ohio State, Indiana, and Wisconsin aside before losing by a cat's whisker to Minnesota against an Illini ensemble which picked up more punishment than glory in successive engagements with Southern California. Notre Dame, Michigan, and Wisconsin.

But even with the comparative records leaning heavily in their favor the Wildcats expect, and probably won't be disappointed, that for at least a portion of the struggle they'll have a little trouble with the dazzlers conjured up for one occasion or another by Coach Bob Zuppke, the strategist of Champaign.

Won't Swallow Gloom Pills.

Zuppke has spent the last week not only teaching his boys how to be foxy in various ways but broadcasting that he is in low spirits. He'll be without the services of his regular ends, Bob O'Neill and Jimmy Phillips, and Half Back George Rettinger. The Wildcats naturally are sorry about the little corporal's predicament, but they have not swallowed his gloom pills. They suspect he has found suitable replacements and fitted them into his flea circus which thus far has put on giddy shows despite a scarcity of touchdowns.

Having seen his sophomore, Dick Good, heave dazzling passes against Wisconsin last Saturday, Zuppke was expected to start the South Bend, Ind., lad at left half today. The Illini boss, however, has announced that when the kickoff takes place the position will be occupied by Johnny Worban; the only explanation being that Good was bumped around considerably by the Badgers.

Plenty of Back Field Stars.

The Wildcats may have to go thru their day's chores without assistance from snappy Bill De Correvont, who suffered an ankle injury in the battle with Wisconsin, missed the Indiana game because of the mishap and was limited to a few minutes of play against Minnesota last week end. De Correvont stepped around with the other Wildcats in a light workout yesterday, and while Bill conceded he was ready, Coach Lynn Waldorf, appreciating that the team will have to be ship-shape a week hence for Michigan, didn't agree.

Even if De Correvont is withheld from action the Illini will see all the back field men they care to look at in one afternoon. Without dipping into the third stringers, the Purple can turn loose two outstanding quartets. They start off with the running, throwing Red Hahnenstein in De Correvont's spot, the handy Tuffy Chambers at right half, Don Clawson, the human plow at full back, and Dick Richards at quarter. Awaiting calls for these jobs will be Paul Soper, Ira Kepford, George Benson, and Don Kruger.

EDUCATORS HEAR GRIFFITH DEFEND COLLEGE SPORTS

Athletics in universities and colleges is part of the democratic influence in education and it is better for youngsters to aspire to be football heroes than to emulate outlaws like Jesse James, Maj. John L. Griffith, athletic commissioner of the Western conference, said last night. He spoke at a dinner of the 45th annual convention of the National Association of State Universities in the Morrison hotel.

"Thru the emphasis placed on athletics," he said, "our children are encouraged to live healthy lives. It is not reasonable to believe that if college football were abolished youth would emulate Leonardo Da Vinci, Shakespeare or Emerson. In the age of Pericles the Greeks made more fuss over their star athletes than we have ever made over our college athletic heroes. When the glory of Greece passed, amateur athletics also was thrown into the discard."

Forty presidents and representatives of state supported universities and colleges are attending the convention.

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 8.—Somehow it has leaked out that Michigan and Minnesota are going to play a football game here tomorrow. Goodness knows, Frank McCormick, the Gophers' athletic director, and Dick MacMillan's publicity bureau have done their best to keep it a secret. For the last several days they have been going so far as to discourage prospective spectators by telling them there are no tickets.

Despite the general air of secrecy surrounding the formula for obtaining seats, some 63,894, an all time record for Memorial stadium, will see the battle of the Big Nine's only undefeated elevens. The attendance at the Minnesota-Notre Dame game in 1937 was 63,237.

What's That About Football?

Intercollegiate football here and there may be losing its popularity, but there is no indication of a decline in interest at Minnesota. This will be the third consecutive capacity crowd before which the Gophers have played this season. They drew 62,932 for their game with Iowa and 48,000 for Northwestern in Evanston.

Michigan and Minnesota move up to their climactic contest with a record of five straight victories each. The Wolverines, who have traveled to both coasts, won with comparative ease from California, Michigan State, Harvard, Illinois, and Pennsylvania. Meanwhile the Gophers, playing a heavier schedule, squeezed by Washington, Nebraska, and Ohio State, overwhelmed Iowa and defeated Northwestern by a point after touchdown.

There Should Be Action.

Their meeting shapes up as a lightning fast, slambang affair, with each team having a chance to score at least twice. Michigan's offensive record at first glance may look more impressive until you consider the caliber of opposition Minnesota has encountered. Washington, the Gophers' first victim, has won all its other games. So has Nebraska, which is headed for the Big Six conference championship.

Minnesota has come from behind to win every one of its games. Against Washington, George Franck ran 98 yards for a touchdown from kickoff less than 30 seconds after the Huskies had gone into a 14 to 10 lead. Against Nebraska Bruce Smith passed to Bill Johnson for the winning touchdown in the fourth quarter after Nebraska had tied the score at 7 to 7.

It Got to Be a Habit.

Ohio State took a 7 to 6 lead, but the Gophers rallied for seven points in the second half. Against Iowa, Coach Bernie Bierman's young men found themselves trailing 6 to 0 at the close of the opening period and they eventually won, 34 to 6. Last week Northwestern scored first, but Minnesota won, 13 to 12.

Both teams have strong lines and expert ball carriers. You will find few back field combinations boasting more potent personnel than Minnesota's Franck, Smith, and Bob Paffrath, unless it's Michigan's Harmon, Bob Westfall, and Forest Evashevski.

Old Master Brings Illini to Town

Coach Bob Zuppke has a few words to say to University of Illinois football players who will meet Northwestern today after arrival at Edgewater Beach hotel last night. Presumably the conversation is on the subject of beating the Wildcats. Left to right: Myron Pfeifer, full back; Harry Siebold, guard; Coach Zuppke; Joe Pawlowski, guard, and Don Elting, half back. [TRIBUNE Photos.]

Nebraska Goes Against Iowa and Worries

BY WILFRID SMITH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Lincoln, Neb., Nov. 8.—Nebraska's football team, according to Maj. Biff Jones, the coach, is in the unenviable position of being practically a unanimous choice to defeat Iowa tomorrow afternoon in Memorial stadium. Moreover, the major believes that the Hawkeyes are far better than their record indicates and he anticipates a bitterly fought game which might end in a disastrous blow to Nebraska's prestige.

Quite likely the Cornhusker coach is correct. From such a situation as this comes the so-called upsets, yet Nebraska fans still believe its team will whip Iowa and there are few supporters of the Hawkeyes who differ. All permanent seats in Memorial stadium are sold for tomorrow's interstate rivalry, now resumed after a year's hiatus, and final attendance figures will be between 33,000 and 39,000, depending on the gate sale of the unreserved bleachers behind the goal lines.

The Huskers Are Popular.

It is already apparent that Nebraska will break all season attendance records for nine games this fall. It is estimated that at least 265,000 will watch the Cornhuskers at home and abroad. Last week, for instance, an all time record was established in Norman, Okla., for the Oklahoma-Nebraska game.

Coach Jones bases his opinion of the Hawkeyes on the scouting reports of A. J. Lewandowski, Husker basketball coach. Lewandowski believes that the purported switch to sophomore talent for the start of the Nebraska game is a final effort to inspire the varsity and if the men who played winning football last year return to form Nebraska will be hard pressed.

Rain Is Forecast.

The unofficial weather forecast today predicts rain by game time. Today's gray skies and excessive humidity indicate that the teams may have a slow gridiron and wet ball. Nebraska has not played on any except a dry field and there is speculation on how this may affect the outcome. Iowa's squad, quartered tonight in Omaha, probably also is hoping for fair weather.

SENATORS AGREE TO PUT IN LIGHTS FOR NIGHT GAMES

Washington, D. C., Nov. 8 (AP).—Reluctantly keeping up with the times, Clark Griffith, president of the Washington Senators, gave in today to night baseball and announced that the Senators would play seven home games under the arcs next season.

When night baseball was first proposed for the majors, Griffith was its most vigorous opponent.

First one club and then another installed lights and each time Griffith shook his white head. But—as the box office receipts began pouring in, he had to take notice. The financial success of the night games in other cities continued and finally the Old Fox gave the proposal an attentive ear.

Edward J. Eynon Jr., secretary of the Senators, said the club would spend approximately $130,000 on lighting Griffith stadium.

Washington, with its population on the increase, is one of the best sports cities in the country, and Griffith is making a bid for the trade. He said 19 night events, including football and boxing, have already been scheduled for 1941.

Wilson Battles Wright Eleven on Stagg Field

The Wilson Junior college football team will bid for its second successive triumph in the annual battle with its traditional rival, Wright Junior, before a crowd of 10,000 on Stagg field today. The contest will be the homecoming attraction for both schools.

The kickoff is scheduled for 2 o'clock.

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 8.—Notre Dame's football team rumbled into the nation's capital today, a town that's full of talk about defense and the power of the Navy. And the boys might have got into trouble the way they were talking about how they plan to crack the Navy's defense and launch an offensive of their own, if interpreters hadn't been around to explain to G-Men that the group of energetic young fellows were thoroly patriotic, that they were Notre Dame football players and that all their tactical confidence had to do with sinking the Navy football team before 63,216 in Baltimore's Municipal stadium tomorrow afternoon.

Tho they were victorious over Army last Saturday, the Irish have been abashed all week and, 'tis said, smarting a little about some cracks Coach Elmer Layden has made about how much more enthusiastically and ably they handled their assignment on Broadway last Saturday night than they did in Yankee stadium last Saturday afternoon. Observers who came here with the team and who saw the Army game and the practices in South Bend, expressed the belief the Irish are adequately keyed up for the Navy.

How Can a Coach Sleep?

Coach Layden had a restless night and climbed in bed on arrival here, figuring he was going to catch up some sleep, which was a good joke on Elmer. Bedside interviews began almost before he got his socks off and continued until he put them on again as he started to prepare for a trip to Griffith stadium, where the Irish launched a 2½ hour practice which began at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

Elmer revealed that he probably wouldn't make all the changes in his first team that had been anticipated for several days after the Army scare. Among those he listed as probable starters was Capt. Milt Piepul, who earlier had been declared virtually out of the competition. Paul Lillis, who has had a gimp leg, also had been listed as unlikely to start and there was some thought that Bob Saggau might not be on the first team. But the only change in the rating was at center, Martin O'Reilly taking over and John McHale dropping to the second team.

Middies Have Reserves, Too.

It was added, however, that if Piepul and Lillis do not feel in tiptop shape tomorrow, Bernie Crimmins will start at full back and Walter Ziemba at right tackle.

The actual starting lineups are not especially significant on either side for Navy, like Notre Dame, has a second team virtually on a par with the so-called first team.

New Jersey Race Track Will Open Next June

New York, Nov. 8 [Special].—Amory Haskell, president of the National Horse Show association, tonight announced completion of plans of the Monmouth Park Racing association for operation of a new race track in New Jersey. Plans for the $1,500,000 track have been progressing for months. The association was granted the first license under the New Jersey racing commission. It is expected the plant will be ready for the first meeting to begin June 16 and run thru to July 26, Haskell announced.

In the WAKE of the NEWS

BY ARCH WARD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Nov. 8.—A week before the Iowa-Wisconsin football game, Dr. Edward Anderson, the Hawkeyes' head coach, received a letter from Des Moines signed by two Iowa alumni. . . . They said their attention had been called to Anderson's statement that he was shy on end material, and suggested that he move Full Back Green to an end post. . . . Anderson, in his reply, thanked them for the idea, but pointed out it usually was difficult to shift a player to a position foreign to him. . . . In the Wisconsin game Green not only played full back, but made three of the Hawkeye touchdowns. . . . The two helpful alumni witnessed the game and then went home and wrote another letter to Anderson. . . . In substance it said: "You go on coaching the fooball team and we'll tend to our business." . . . It was signed "Two of Iowa's poorest coaches." . . . In an effort to speed up Southern California's offense Howard Jones has shifted Bob Peoples, a good runner but a poor passer, from quarter back to full back, and Bob Robertson, half back, has been moved to quarter back. . . . Full Back Banta has been switched to right half. . . . Rumors persist that this will be Francis Schmidt's last season as coach at Ohio State. . . . The best college back developed around Washington, D. C., since Tuffy Leemans was graduated from George Washington is Pete Sachon of Catholic university, who is an outstanding punter, passer, runner and drop kicker. . . . Against the University of Miami he completed 11 out of 13 forward passes, two of which were good for touchdowns, and made two successful drop kicks. . . .

The Green Bay Packers, more or less famous as aerial specialists, will fly to New York next week for their game with the Giants. . . . The Packers, the first pro-eleven to take to the air, will come to Chicago by train to board air liners at the Chicago airport. . . . Assistant Cardinal Coaches Chili Walsh and Phil Handler will leave on scouting trips soon to watch some of the leading college players in games and in practice preparatory to the National league draft next month, when Head Coach Jimmy Conzelman will attempt to get a head start on a new Cardinal football team. . . . Connie Sparks and Phil Roach, first string ends at Texas Christian, are converted full backs. . . . Battling Nelson, former lightweight champion, walks 10 miles daily. . . . Paul Kifer, guard on Northwestern's football team, speaks Spanish, Hungarian, and Polish, keeps a pet white rat in his fraternity room, and was voted "the fellow with the most pleasing personality" when a senior in high school at Hammond. . . . Goalie Sam Lopresti, whom the Blackhawks have sent to the Kansas City Greyhounds on option, is a clarinet player. . . . It is said his talent has nothing to do with his transfer, however. . . . Tom Harmon, Michigan back field star, won't allow his ankles to be taped. . . . He believes it would cut down his speed. . . . The last player to get Ty Cobb out was Mark Koenig. . . . Playing with the Athletics against the Yankees on Sept. 11, 1928, Ty popped to Mark for the final out of his career.

Bloomington, Ind., Nov. 8.—The Indiana university eleven will attempt to solve a particularly tough football problem when it meets Michigan State here tomorrow afternoon. The problem is to stop a fast Spartan passing attack with a Hoosier secondary defense that is known to lack speed.

Coach Bo McMillin and the Indiana rooters will sit up and watch mighty sharp the first time Wy Davis or Walter Ball gets set to let one fly in the general direction of the racing Walter Pawlowski, who is the cleverest pass catcher on the Michigan State team.

New Hoosier Back Field.

A new Indiana back field combination will consist of Earl Doloway at quarter, James McGuire and Toughie Brooks at the halves and Joe Tofil at full back. Tofil is the only one who was in the starting lineup against Ohio State last week. The change was made in the hope that offensively as well as defensively, the team efficiency may be stepped up.

The Indiana linemen face a difficult task, for the Michigan State forward wall has shown considerable strength in the course of victories over Purdue and Kansas State. Coach Charles Bachman also has brought up some excellent new back field material, the most notable discoveries being Charles Carey and the aforementioned Ball.

Indiana Stars Hurt.

Carey has shown considerable driving power as a ball carrier and has also been effective on defense. Ball car. pass and kick as well as run.

Indiana will be below par in physical condition. Archie Harris, a veteran end; Gene White, a guard who has been doing all the place kicking, and Harold Zimmer, a light but fast half back, are expected to be unable to play because of injuries. Hal Hursh, who ranks with the best of the western conference pass throwers, will no doubt go in at some point of the game to try to whip over a scoring toss.

TUESDAY'S STILL DAY FOR NAMING INDIAN MANAGER

New York, Nov. 8 (AP).—Alva Bradley, president of the Cleveland Indians, came to New York today for a business visit that he said had nothing to do with the selection of a manager for his baseball club.

"I'm here on some coal matters," he said, "and my trip has nothing whatever to do with baseball.

"I haven't made up my mind finally on a manager, but expect to announce his name next Tuesday. Three men still are being considered."

In Cleveland, Roger Peckinpaugh, who was fired from the Indian managership in 1933 because the team was losing, said he hoped the report that he had been chosen so succeed Oscar Vitt was true. The story appeared in a Cleveland newspaper.

"I haven't signed a contract," Peckinpaugh, former star shortstop, said, "and I haven't talked with Mr. Bardley recently."

ILLINOIS UPLAND GAME SEASON TO OPEN TOMORROW

Expect First Day Hunting Army to Set Record.

BY BOB BECKER.

Tomorrow is mobilization day for Illinois hunters who will shoulder arms for their first upland game hunt of the 1940 season. The Illinois hunting regulations permit the taking of cock pheasants, rabbits, and quail, starting at sunrise tomorrow morning, and department of conservation officials are getting ready for one of their busiest days.

In northern Illinois most sportsmen will be hoping for a chance to fire away at a cock pheasant or get a shot at a rabbit. Southern Illinois shooters will be carrying 16 and 20 gauge shotguns behind their pointers and setters as they look for coveys of Bob Whites. In addition to the upland game hunters in the field tomorrow thousands of duck shooters will be crouched in blinds along the Illinois, Mississippi, and Sangamon rivers to continue the waterfowl season which opened Oct. 16.

Expect Opening Day Record.

The sale of Illinois hunting licenses indicates that tomorrow's hunting army may break the opening day record. Officials of the conservation department announce a new record for the sale of hunting licenses has been set. A total of 328,000 licenses had been bought before Tuesday, and several thousand more were expected to be issued to sportsmen by today.

Anthony Maggio, conservation inspector for Lake, DuPage, and Cook counties, said yesterday he expects a turnout of 50,000 hunters in northern Illinois. This has been a good season for pheasants, he said, and in addition to the natural supply, additional birds have been stocked in cooperation with county sportsmen's clubs.

Wardens Will Check Bags.

A full force of 25 game wardens will be in the fields of northern Illinois, Maggio said, with instructions to check bags to see that no hen pheasants are killed and to make sure that hunters do not take more than their legal limit of two cock pheasants, or ten rabbits. The pheasant season lasts until Nov. 19, the quail season until Dec. 9, and the rabbit season until Jan. 15.

CUNEO'S GELDING WINS 4TH TITLE AT HORSE SHOW

New York, Nov. 8 [Special].—Wensleydale Wildfire, a 7 year old gelding from John F. Cuneo's Hawthorn farms stable of Libertyville, Ill., proved the aptness of his name today by sweeping another division, his fourth, in the National Horse show.

The surprising individual star of the show captured three blue ribbons in yesterday's judging. Today the big bay won his fourth title by pairing with Knockvicar Domino to win among the limit pairs of harness horses more than 14.2 hands high.

The Hawthorne farms took another first when Wensley Dale Pilot, a 7 year old brown gelding, won easily in the competition for single harness horses standing between 14.2 and 15.2 hands high.

END SOUTH SIDE C. Y. O. TOURNEY WITH 25 BOUTS

Dade, Thomas, 37 Others Survive Trials.

BY FRANK MASTRO.

Thirty-nine fighters, two in most weight divisions in three classes — open, novice, and beginners — were left in the competition when the south side Catholic Youth organization sectional tournament ended last night in the St. Sabina community center.

The survivors have completed the first step in their march toward C. Y. O. titles. In two nights of battling they have demonstrated that the have the stamina, fighting spirit, and championship possibilities.

Start Monday at St. Mel.

At the conclusion of the night's 25 bouts the Rev. Thomas McMahon, director of C. Y. O. athletic activities at St. Sabina, praised the participants in the tourney, as did Msgr. Thomas F. Egan, St. Sabina pastor.

The survivors will mark time until they return to action in the quarter-finals to be held in C. Y. O. center Nov. 18.

The fighting now shifts to St. Mel's gymnasium where, on Monday, west side contestants will start their two day sectional event.

THORNTON WINS, 37-6; CAPTURES LEAGUE CROWN

Thornton Fractional High school of Calumet City is the 1940 football champion of the South Suburban league. Thornton won the title last night by routing Lockport, 37 to 6, in Calumet City. The new champions finished the season with five victories and played a tie with Bloom, 1939 titleholder.

Calumet City led at the end of the first half, 12 to 0. In the third period Hank Bobak, right tackle, intercepted a pass and ran 85 yards to score. Calumet City added another touchdown in the final quarter when Bill De Camp shot a 20 yard forward pass to Joe Hill, who ran another 20 yards to cross the Lockport goal line.

Lineups:

| CALUMET CY. [37]. | | LOCKPORT [6]. |
|---|---|---|
| Shaffer | L. E. | Murphy |

San Francisco Takes Lead in Rough Night at Derby

Four fist fights broke out, skaters twice were blocked over the guard rail, and both team captains were banished during last night's competition in the roller Derby at the Coliseum. The San Francisco team overtook Chicago and went into the lead, 14 to 10. The captains, Johnny Rosasco of Chicago and Mary Youpelle of San Francisco, were ordered off the floor early in the session because of roughness.

La Salle-Peru Defeats Freeport, 14-0; Keeps Title

La Salle, Ill., Nov. 8 [Special].—La Salle-Peru High school tonight won the Big Eight conference football championship for the second straight year by defeating Freeport, 14 to 0. The champions finished the conference schedule with five victories and one tie.

Packers Threat to Cards' Clear Home Record

BY GEORGE STRICKLER.

This apparently is the year when the world champion Green Bay Packers just cannot catch up with the Chicago Bears. The Packers come to town again tonight to meet the Cardinals in Comiskey park at 1:30 o'clock tomorrow. But before they arrive the Bears will have departed for Detroit.

However, hope springs eternal in Green Bay, and the Packers will keep on trying with all their energies directed toward creating a playoff for the western division championship. After a week devoted to offense, they'll take up the chase tomorrow, fully expecting to get some help from the Detroit Lions. A Lion victory, provided the Packers conquer the Cardinals, will enhance Green Bay's mathematical possibilities, leaving it only one game behind the Bears with three games to go. The Bears also have three games after the Detroit engagement.

The Cardinal-Packer game, in which the Cardinals will be striving to finish the season with a perfect home record in Comiskey park, is expected to be an offensive battle in which the Chicagoans will match a sound running game with the Packers' dangerous passing attack.

Coach Curley Lambeau reports the Packers in better shape physically than they were for the Bear game and Coach Jimmy Conzelman's Cardinals definitely are healthier than they were two weeks ago when they whipped Cleveland, 17 to 7. Conzelman expects to start a back field composed of Buddy Parker at quarter back; Hugh McCullough at left half, John Hall at right and Marshall Goldberg at full back. This appears to be the Cardinals' best balanced quartet.

All the Bears, except Ray Bray and George Musso, will make the trip to Detroit, prepared to oppose the Lions. Bill Osmanski is ready again after a prolonged absence because of a knee injury.

Wisconsin Takes on Columbia in New York Today

New York, Nov. 8 (AP).—Wisconsin's Badgers, victorious the last two Saturdays over Purdue and Illinois, move into Baker field tomorrow with hopes of whipping Columbia's Lions, beaten their last two times out.

With a weight advantage in the line and a back field headed by George Paskvan and Don Miller, the Badgers are slightly favored. Lou Little plans to start the same Columbia team that Cornell turned back 27 to 0 last week. That means Thornley Wood, Ken Germann, Augie Deaugustinis, and Len Will will be in the back field. Tom Farris and John Tennant will team with Paskvan and Miller in the Wisconsin back field. Lineups:

| COLUMBIA. | | WISCONSIN. |
|---|---|---|
| Barber | L. E. | Philip |
| Mauck | L. T. | Tharnally |
| Gallagher | L. G. | Gage |
| Snavely | C. | Ladewig |
| McIntyre | R. G. | Embick |
| Levy | R. T. | Wasserbach |
| Siegal | R. E. | Lorenz |
| Wood | Q. B. | Farris |
| Germann | L. H. | Tennant |
| Deaugustinis | R. H. | Miller |
| Will | F. B. | Paskvan |

Blackhawks Leave for Montreal; Meet Canadiens

Prep Football Titles Stake in 4 Games Today

Austin, Amundsen, Proviso, and Downers Grove—four of the leading teams in the Chicago area—go hunting for prep football titles today. Austin and Amundsen will confine their activities to the Chicago Public School league. Austin seeks its fifth straight west zone championship against Schurz in Mills stadium, while Amundsen marches in quest of its north division crown against Roosevelt in Winnemac park.

Proviso and Downers Grove already have bagged ties, the Maywood eleven in the Suburban league and Downers Grove in the West Suburban conference, but full claims will be sought today. Proviso, unbeaten and untied, opposes Oak Park in Oak Park stadium. Downers Grove, which has scored five consecutive victories, entertains Maine on the Downers Grove field.

If Austin and Amundsen are successful, they will join Lindblom, central section winner, and Fenger, south zone titleholder, in the semi-finals of the Public School league competition to determine the champion to meet the Catholic league's winner in the All-City game in Soldiers' field on Nov. 30. Fenger, which has marched thru 34 games without defeat, and Lindblom end their sectional campaigns today. Fenger meets Hirsch in Pullman Tech field, while Lindblom faces Phillips in Normal park.

STANFORD MEETS WASHINGTON IN BIG TEST TODAY

San Francisco, Cal., Nov. 8 (AP).—Washington, popular choice to win the coast conference championship before the season began, and Stanford, the team that came from nowhere to set the league pace, ram into each other tomorrow in the most important football engagement of the western season. Stanford is a mild favorite to win.

High stakes will be riding on the outcome of the battle of Palo Alto. The two evenly matched teams will be fighting for a stronger claim to the coast conference title and for the Rose Bowl bid. Each is undefeated and untied in conference play.

But you can pick the Best Bourbon in one TASTE!

(1) "After spending hours scoring a champion Foxhound it's great to relax and enjoy a highball," says Judge Murr, "and picking the top bourbon is a cinch. 5 seconds tells me it's Meadow Brook — because it's got championship taste!"

(2) In foxhounds—judges look for a long neck, legs straight as a post, and a "Belvoir" tan coat. In bonded bourbon — look for flavor. If it is rich and ripe, it's Meadow Brook!

LOUIS J. MURR, dog judge for many years, explains why he prefers Meadow Brook—

IN ANY DRINK, FROM COCKTAIL TO JULEP, MEADOW BROOK OUTRANKS THEM ALL FOR TASTE!

(3) Hounds are sworn enemies of the fox, hunting in 15 to 20 to a pack. But Meadow Brook bonded bourbon is your friend for life—once you discover the sensibly low price you pay for its delicious, highly satisfying taste!

TERRY AND THE PIRATES—BACK IN YOUR TEETH, TOOTS?

IF ALL WENT WELL, HU SHEE AND HER GUARDS SHOULD BE AT THE BANK BY THIS HOUR.... AND THE DRAGON LADY'S NOTES WILL BE LEFT ALONG THE TRAIL!
WHEN THE RANSOM CAR RETURNS, IT WILL CARRY AN ARMED FORCE IN ITS WAKE!.....THE SILVER ONE DOES NOT APPEAR OVERLY INTERESTED!
CAN IT BE SHE FEARS THAT WHEN THE HANDSOME RYAN RETURNS WITH HU SHEE, HER WINDOW LEDGE ROMANCE WITH THE GALLANT DUDE HENNICK WILL CAUSE COMPLICATIONS?
CAN IT BE THAT THE GALLANT DRAGON LADY FEARS THE WINDOW LEDGE ROMANCE IS BUT A PASSING FANCY — AND THAT THE RICH AMERICAN GIRL WILL SUCCEED IN DOING ALL RIGHT WITH THE HANDSOME RYAN?

WORK STANDARDS ARE ESSENTIAL, ARMY DECLARES

Would Maintain Present Labor Provisions.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 8 (AP).—The war department said today that "the maintenance of existing standards for workers on defense projects" was "essential to the success of the defense programs."

Robert P. Patterson.

This statement was made in a declaration of labor policy, issued by Assistant Secretary Robert P. Patterson, and concerned directly the question of standards to be followed in construction of several thousand cantonments at army training centers.

"Standards Must Be Maintained."

"Labor standards as to wages, hours of work, and overtime, among others, must be maintained if the defense program is to go effectively forward," Patterson said.

The war department's policy, he said, followed the pattern of a world war policy providing for payment of union wage scales and for a standard work day, with time and one-half for overtime.

It was governed directly, he said, by acts of congress and policy statements of President Roosevelt and the defense commission providing also for a basic 40 hour, five day week.

Work on Overtime Basis.

Patterson emphasized, however, that the 40 hour week could not apply to the production of planes, tanks, and other essential munitions. All arsenals and many plane factories are working on three shifts of six days a week on an overtime basis.

"In no case thruout the entire defense program is delay being allowed to result from fixed limitations on hours of work," he said.

STARTS SECOND BIG ADDITION TO TRUCK PLANT

Diamond T Gets Set for Army Orders.

BY AL CHASE.

Work has been started on a second big addition to the Diamond T Motor Car company's plant at 4517 West 26th street to care for the recent $14,220,000 contract for trucks awarded the company by the war department. Diamond T now has two government orders, for a total of 2,998 trucks costing $19,220,000.

Armstrong, Furst & Tilton, who designed the first big unit, are architects of the second building. It will be a replica of the first and will be 600 by 120 feet, and cost $175,000. The first unit was built in the record time of 59 days. The J. W. Snyder company has the general contract on the new unit.

Used to Pull Howitzers.

The initial defense order, which led to the construction of the first unit, was for 998 four ton, six wheel trucks, and was for $5,000,000. These trucks, according to E. J. Bush, vice president and sales manager of the Diamond T company, are to be used by the field artillery to pull 155 millimeter howitzers.

They have a six wheel drive, with two rear axles, and have a remarkable range in traction and maneuverability, Bush said.

The $14,220,000 order recently received from the war department is for 2,000 "personnel carriers"—that is, trucks to carry infantry wherever the tanks go.

Top Speed Is 50 M. P. H.

"These are the newest things in modern warfare and were designed by the war department following observation of the present European war," Bush said. "They are called 'half track vehicles,' with ordinary automobile wheels in front and caterpillar treads in the rear.

"The caterpillar treads are of steel but covered with rubber and make no more noise than an ordinary truck. Their speed range is from a crawl to 50 miles an hour. They can go anywhere a tank can go.

"They are covered on the sides and back with a quarter inch of armour plate, made by the American Car and Foundry company, in Berwick, Pa. Instead of the customary glass windshield there is a slotted half inch armour plate. Each truck carries 13 men."

CHICAGO FIRMS' OPERA DRIVE IS BEARING FRUIT

With the opera season now well under way, many industrial firms which have been coöperating in the "Chicago Goes to the Opera" drive reported yesterday that more of their employés are attending open performances than in any previous year.

Tonight 50 members of the Studebaker Girls' Glee club, from the Studebaker corporation, South Bend, Ind., will attend the opera performance, with their company providing the transportation here.

Ninety concerns in the Chicago industrial area have adopted the plan of making reservations for their employés at their own offices, thus elimination the trouble of going downtown to reserve seats.

Receipts of U. S. Currency from Abroad Top Exports

New York, Nov. 8 [Special].—Shipments of United States currency to foreign nations totaled $335,000 during October while receipts from abroad aggregated $735,000, the Federal Reserve Bank of New York announced today. October was the first month in more than two years that receipts exceeded shipments.

Treasury Bill Issue Sold at 99.999 to Par Price

The United States treasury announced last night that bids ranging from 99.999 to 100 had been accepted for $100,411,000 of 92 day treasury bills of the national defense series, to be dated Nov. 13 and to mature Feb. 13, 1941. The average price was 99.999, plus, equivalent to an interest rate of about 0.003 per cent.

Bond Stores Sales Rise 19 Pct. Over Year Ago

Bond Stores, Inc., manufacturer and retailer of men's wear, yesterday reported October sales of $3,733,944, a gain of 19 per cent over the $3,136,760 of the same month last year. Sales included $233,253 of haberdashery items, a new line this year.

Markets and Banks to Be Closed for Armistice Day

Nearly all banks, securities, and commodities exchanges thruout the country will be closed Monday for Armistice day. Canadian markets generally also will observe the holiday. American live stock markets, however, will remain open.

Gen. Motors Sales at Peak for October

The automobile business is moving at a record breaking pace, according to reports yesterday from several divisions of the industry. General Motors reported the largest October sales for that month in history, a check up on results of Chicago's auto show indicated that it was an outstanding sales success, and various manufacturers reported record sales and increased production plans.

General Motors retail sales of new cars and trucks in October totaled 186,016 units, against 97,527 in September and 110,471 in October, 1939. Sales for the month to dealers in the United States totaled 207,934, compared with 116,031 in September and 129,821 in October, 1939. Including sales to dealers in Canada and overseas the totals were 226,169, against 124,692 and 144,350.

Week's Assemblies Rise.

Ward's Automotive Reports weekly estimate of automotive production indicated that the upward trend is continuing this month. The output for the current week is estimated at 120,948 units—the largest total since July, 1937—comparing with 118,092 last week and 86,200 a year ago.

Lynn S. Snow, president of the Chicago Automobile Trade association, which sponsored the 41st annual auto show, said that a survey of companies taking part disclosed sales gains over the 1939 show ranging from 60 to 100 per cent. Attendance set a record of 383,000, a gain of 8,000 over 1939.

Buick Steps Up Rate.

Harlow H. Curtice, president of Buick, announced in Flint yesterday that as a result of the record breaking October production of 35,480 cars the company has laid down a program of accelerated operations for the rest of the year. Assemblies are to be boosted to 1,700 a day, an increase of more than 100 cars a day.

L. G. Peed, vice president in charge of sales for the De Soto division of the Chrysler corporation, said that October sales were largest for the month in history.

D. E. Ahrens, general sales manager for Cadillac, said the October sales record of 4,535 was the best for an October in history.

GRAIN FUTURES RISE, SLIP, END WITH FAIR RALLY

Wheat, oats, and soy bean future prices and some deliveries of rye futures advanced to new seasonal highs yesterday as trading volume maintained a rapid pace. Profit taking trimmed early advances, but the trend was upward at the close.

Wheat closed ½ to 1⅝ cents a bushel higher; corn, ¾ to ⅞ cent higher; oats, ⅝ to 1⅛ cents higher; rye, ½ to ¾ cent lower, and soy beans, ¼ to 1 cent higher.

Release of Thursday's trading figures revealed that soy bean future sales were the largest on record, turnover involving 1,384,000 bushels compared with the previous high on Dec. 20, 1939, of 1,378,000 bushels. Soy bean futures have advanced almost 10 cents a bushel since the first of the month.

U. S. STEEL'S OCTOBER SHIPMENTS NOT FAR FROM ALL-TIME PEAK

New York, Nov. 8 (AP).—Shipments of fabricated steel products by the U. S. Steel corporation subsidiaries in October totaled 1,572,408 tons, only 129,466 tons under the highest tonnage on record, shipped in May, 1929. October shipments were 179,570 tons higher than 1,392,838 in September and 226,533 more than 1,345,855 in October, 1939.

For the first 10 months of the year shipments of 12,006,135 were 3,104,193 more than 8,901,942 in the corresponding 1939 period.

The October total showed daily deliveries for the month's 27 working days averaged 58,237 tons, 91.66 per cent of United States Steel's estimated finished capacity of 63,533 tons. September shipments averaged 91.3 per cent of production capacity and August shipments averaged 84.86 per cent.

PRICES OF BONDS ADVANCE AGAIN IN HEAVY TRADE

New York, Nov. 8 (AP).—Bonds paid only scant attention to the reactionary trend in stocks today, moving ahead by small degrees in nearly every section of the corporate list. The movement was a continuation of Thursday's upswing altho obviously hampered by the action of companion shares.

Total transactions of $10,626,000, face value, against $12,245,925 yesterday, were among the largest in a single session this year.

A feature was the performance of United States treasury loans which ended as much as 29-32 point ahead in small dealings.

The market value of 1,312 bond issues listed on the exchange increased to $50,438,409,964 on Oct. 31 from $49,643,200,867 for 1,340 issues a month earlier. Average price per $1,000 bond rose to $928.40 from $920.80.

WEEK'S BUSINESS OF DEPARTMENT STORES UNDER '39

Department stores of the United States reported yesterday that business during the week ended Nov. 2, declined 5 per cent below that of the corresponding week last year. In Chicago sales dropped 12.1 per cent and in the seventh [Chicago] federal reserve district aggregate trade fell 8.8 per cent.

Only the Richmond and San Francisco reserve areas had sales gains for the week. Detroit stores, with business 9.5 per cent better than a year ago, reported the only gains in the seventh district.

Sales for the country as a whole during the last four weeks recorded a 2 per cent gain. Sales in the seventh district were up 1.1 per cent but in Chicago declined 0.5 per cent.

VULTEE AIRCRAFT UNION VOTES 2,552 TO 52 FOR STRIKE

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 8 [Special].—By a vote of 2,552 to 52, union employés of the Vultee Aircraft company at Downey, near Los Angeles, today gave their union officers the right to call a strike.

The union leaders and the workers will assemble at a mass meeting at 10 a. m. Saturday to make further plans for the strike action, according to Lou Michener, regional director of the United Automobile Workers, C. I. O. affiliate.

The workers seek an increase from the 50 cents hourly minimum paid by Vultee, it was said.

Retired Broker Is Named Trustee of Inland Power

Federal Judge Philip L. Sullivan yesterday appointed John L. Dwyer, retired broker, as trustee for the Inland Power and Light corporation, a part of the old Insull public utility system. The company is undergoing liquidation as part of the bankruptcy proceedings begun in 1934. Dwyer succeeds Leonard S. Florsheim, who resigned.

SEALED BIDS on Bid Invitation No. 341-573 will be received by the Civil Aeronautics Administration, 1204 New Post Office Building, Chicago, Ill., until 11 a. m. November 12, 1940, Central Standard Time, for not less than 10,000 square feet of usable office space within 2 miles of the Chicago Municipal Airport, to be leased by the Administration to house its Chicago Regional Office.

Stock Leaders Slip Back on Profit Taking

New York, Nov. 8 (AP).—Bounding stock market leaders of yesterday backed down in today's session as traders cashed profits in preparation for the week-end which will be lengthened by Monday's Armistice day closing.

The inflation spur, touched off by the treasury move to hike the national debt limit seemed less of a motivating factor, brokers said. In view of Thursday's sharpest bulge since the war boom of September a year ago, most speculative contingents were inclined to go home with at least a part of their winnings.

The list moved rapidly at the start at slightly higher levels, with blocks of 1,000 to 5,000 shares putting the ticker tape as much as 3 minutes behind for a while. Selling then became more urgent and eventually losses of fractions to more than 2 points outnumbered net gains.

Average Down Half Point.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks dipped 0.5 point at 46.1 after the runup of the day before of 2 points flat, best advance since Sept. 5, 1939. Dealings slowed on the retreat and transfers totaled 1,750,930 shares against 2,083,060 yesterday.

Business news generally was good, but United States Steel, disclosing October shipments were the second largest in the company's history, ended 1¼ lower at 73¾ after edging to a 1940 top in the forenoon. General Motors also dropped a point.

Curtiss-Wright voted an initial 50 cent dividend on the common and these shares moved forward. Wright-Aeronautical, a 10 share trading unit, rose 5 on a small turnover. Chrysler ex dividend $1.75, lost 2⅜.

CHICAGO LIST GAINS.

Prices on the Chicago Stock exchange leveled off somewhat yesterday, but advances dominated. Of the 131 issues traded, 63 advanced, 35 declined, and 33 were unchanged. Volume was 51,000 shares, compared with 55,000 on Thursday, the day of the sharp unsurge.

Seven issues established 1940 price peaks, but all 10 of the volume leaders closed lower or unchanged. Marshall Field set a record for the year at 16; Sunstrand Machine Tool at 36; Central Illinois Public Service at 91¾; Elgin National Watch at 30½; Peoples Gas Light and Coke at 43¼; Rath Packing at 46¾, and South Bend Lathe at 32½.

Cook County's Frozen Bank Balances Are Paid in Full

County Treasurer John Toman announced yesterday that he had received from Charles Albers, state bank receiver, a check for $76,347, which completes payment in full of the county balances "frozen" in 15 state banks when they closed in 1932 and 1933. When Toman took office in 1938 the county had frozen balances of $896,000. The county got 100 per cent repayment because its deposits were bonded. Surety companies paid the amounts up to 100 per cent after the banks' assets were liquidated.

CURTISS-WRIGHT DIRECTORS VOTE FIRST DIVIDEND

Profit Rises Despite Soaring Taxes.

Curtiss-Wright corporation, airplane builder whose business has soared as a result of British and American government orders for fighting craft, yesterday reported larger earnings, in spite of increased taxes, and for the first time in its 11 year history declared a dividend on its common stock. Wright Aeronautical corporation, controled by Curtiss-Wright, also declared a dividend and reported larger earnings.

The dividend, 50 cents a share, will be paid Dec. 14 to Curtiss-Wright stockholders of record Nov. 23. About 7,431,700 shares are outstanding. Curtiss-Wright directors also declared a dividend of 50 cents a share on the Class A stock, payable Dec. 13 to holders of record Nov. 22. The same amount was paid Sept. 30.

Federal Taxes Soar.

Curtiss-Wright's statement covered the nine months ended Sept. 30 and showed profit of $8,305,639 after federal income and excess profits taxes, equal to 88 cents a common share, compared with $4,543,552, or 38 cents a share, in the corresponding 1939 period.

Provision for the federal taxes for the 1940 period amounted to $11,932,022, against $1,121,497 in the first nine months of 1939.

"Reserves for federal income and excess profits taxes were based on the best estimate of what such taxes will be," Guy W. Vaughan, president, said. "Definite tax figures must await issuance of treasury regulations and final determination of the tax status of certain expenditures."

Vaughan said that the company this year acquired certain plant facilities, the cost of which was or will be recovered thru "expediting" fees on foreign contracts in 1940 and 1941. Such fees earned in the 1940 period were included in taxable income.

Wright Aero Profit Up.

"The company's directors believe that these plant facilities should be amortized over a three year period, and amortization has been deducted on that basis in the income statement," Vaughan said.

Wright Aeronautical reported nine month profit of $3,806,952, equal to $6.34 a share, against $2,878,580, or $4.80 a share, in the first nine months of 1939. Tax provisions were $5,723,286 for the 1940 period. No comparative 1939 tax figures were announced.

Wright Aeronautical corporation declared a dividend of $4 a share, payable Dec. 14 to holders of record Nov. 29. Last year the stock paid $2.

NEW SECURITIES SALES DROP IN ELECTION WEEK

New York, Nov. 8 (AP).—Public offerings of new issues during the week ended yesterday, election week, dropped to $21,398,676 compared with $81,820,404 the preceding week, Poor's Publishing company reported today.

Corporate financing was negligible, consisting of one very small bond issue and three refunding stock issues totaling slightly over 6 million dollars. Comparisons follow:

Economists Differ on Effect of Federal Debt Limit Boost

Economists and investment analysts yesterday expressed varying opinions on the administration's move to raise the national debt limit by 15 or 20 billion dollars. The administration's request to congress also will ask for the elimination of tax exemption of government securities in providing for prospective deficits.

Terming the program "an invitation to inflation," J. W. Bell, professor of money and banking at Northwestern university, said the New Deal administration was merely writing itself a "blank check" in continuing its "lavish spending policy." The administration, he said, was trying to break away from congressional control by asking for a big increase at one time instead of smaller increases as the need arises.

Sees No Sign of Economy.

"While the need for the defense program must be met, I haven't seen any evidence of serious effort to econ-

Dr. Melchior Palyi (left), Prof. S. H. Nerlove (center), and Harland H. Allen who give views on effects of federal debt limit boost.

He declared that it was "high time" the removal of tax exemption from government securities was made, altho this would make necessary a higher interest rate on bonds and consequently an eventual heavier burden on taxpayers.

Dr. Melchior Palyi, former chief economist of the Deutsche Bank of Berlin and now a financial adviser and lecturer at the University of Wisconsin, expressed the opinion that the government's policy probably is a price inflationary process, altho he could not predict how extensive the effects would be. Nor does he believe that an effective control of prices could ward off this inflation.

Differ on Interest Rates.

Some observers said that they expected little or no inflation as a result of the higher debt limit. Many believe that it would be met by further issuance of long time bonds, rather than short time notes. Some believed that interest rates on bonds would be higher, but others believed the rates would remain unchanged or would drop slightly.

Harland Allen, investment counsel, said he believed with a tax on future bond issues, the biggest market for these securities would shift from the higher income individuals to the lower income buyers, because they would not feel the tax as severely. He said the higher money classes probably would turn more to private industry for investments. He foresaw no inflation in a higher debt limit.

Urges Control of Prices.

Dean W. H. Spencer of the School of Business of the University of Chicago urged an "intelligent" control of prices to avoid inflation.

S. H. Nerlove, associate professor of business economics at the University of Chicago, said he did not "look for a great deal of inflation." That, he said, would depend mostly on whether the business man will be inclined to increase prices and on the ability of the national defense commission to control prices.

Altho he believed the debt limit raise amounted to an inflationary tendency, Chester W. Wright, professor of economics at the University of Chicago, suggested that higher luxury taxes might be levied and also higher levies made on those profiting directly from the defense spending.

FORM NEW UNIT TO STANDARDIZE AIRPLANE PARTS

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 8 (AP).—Engineers representing 22 major aircraft companies met here today and formed an organization to speed the defense program by promoting standardization of airplane parts and manufacturing methods.

Members of the new organization, to be known as the Aircraft Standards committee, actually have been functioning in separate committees on the east and west coasts for 18 months, but this was the first effort to correlate the work of the two groups, a committee spokesman said.

The committee plans to study various manufacturing processes and parts designs, exclusive of motors, with a view of making many parts interchangeable—but with no intention of making the final products of the factories identical.

PULLMAN, INC., REPORTS RISE IN 9 MONTH PROFIT

TWA, Hudson Earn More This Year.

Several corporations yesterday reported increases in profits, some of them in spite of climbing federal taxes. Among companies issuing statements were Pullman, Inc., Transcontinental and Western Air, Inc., and Hudson Motor Car company.

Jack Frye reports profit gain by TWA.

Pullman, Inc., holding company for the railroad car manufacturing and sleeping car operating subsidiaries, announced consolidated net income in the nine months ended with September was $5,705,641, equal to $1.47 a share, against $3,341,947, or 86 cents a share, in the 1939 period. Federal income tax provisions were boosted to $1,652,256 [equal to 43 cents a share], from $914,587 [24 cents a share] for the 1939 period.

Quarter Taxes Doubled.

Profit in the September quarter held steady at $2,271,979, or 59 cents a share, compared with $2,269,264, also 59 cents a share, in the 1939 September quarter. Income tax provisions for the quarter were more than doubled at $879,389, equal to 23 cents a share, compared with $417,104, or 11 cents a share, required for taxes in the three months ended Sept. 30, 1939.

Pullman company, sleeping car subsidiary of Pullman, Inc., reported profit of $167,197, after taxes and air conditioning revenue deferment, for September of this year, against $207,234 in the 1939 month. Nine months net on the same basis declined to $1,901,981, from $2,151,071.

Transcontinental and Western Air had a third quarter profit of $297,267, after provision for federal income taxes amounting to $130,156, Jack Frye, president, reported. In the three months ended Sept. 30, 1939, the air line had net income of $143,474. The amount of the tax provision for that period was not stated. Nine month profit of T. W. A. was $237,187, against a net loss of $5,489 in the 1939 period.

Hudson Motor Car company had September quarter profit of $531,195, in contrast with a net loss of $670,848 in the third quarter of last year. Nine month net loss was cut to $1,289,004 from $2,422,523 in the 1939 period.

Philadelphia Firm Gets 34 Million Contract.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 8 (AP).—The war department awarded a $34,451,384 contract today for the design, supervision of construction, installation of equipment, and operation of a new shell loading plant to be located near Burlington, Ia. The contract went to Day & Zimmerman, Inc., Philadelphia.

The war department said agents had been directed to proceed with the purchase of approximately 20,000 acres of land. Negotiations for the construction of the plant have not been completed.

Details Are Kept Secret.

Most of the money in the contract with Day and Zimmerman was to cover the equipment, its installation and operation of the plant, but the department declined to supply additional details.

The plant and equipment will be owned by the war department, with Day and Zimmerman under contract as production managers.

Officials said that construction of the plant itself was expected to cost $12,000,000 to $15,000,000 additional but that no further information on this phase of the project would be available until the land had been acquired and a contract signed for the construction.

Lets Ammunition Orders.

The war department also announced the award of these contracts:

For artillery ammunition: Stewart-Warner corporation, Chicago, $352,227; Budd Wheel company, Detroit, $405,760; Smith Brothers Manufacturing company, Findlay, O., $128,384; Carter Carburetor corporation, St. Louis, Mo., $259,534; Armstrong-Cork company, Pittsburgh, Pa., $414,760; Briggs & Stratton corporation, Milwaukee, Wis., $276,250.

The army also ordered a million pairs of overshoes and 3,888 pairs of rubber boots from various manufacturers.

The award of three contracts amounting to $10,585,152 for air corps equipment also was announced.

MINNEAPOLIS FLOUR.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Nov. 8 (AP).—Carload lots, per brl in 98 lb cotton sacks: Family patents, unchanged, $5.65@5.85; standard patents, 10c higher, $4.55@4.75. Shipments, 23,375 brls. Pure bran, $22.50@23.00 per ton. Standard middlings, $21.75@22.25.

CASEIN FELTS.

Is it true that the Hat Corporation of America uses a milk fiber in its hats? What brands of hat are made by the company and what have its earnings been?—S. M.

Answer: Hat Corporation of America, South Norwalk, Conn., announced recently the development of a felting process using a new fiber called "R-53" which is produced from casein [a milk derivative] by the National Dairy Products corporation. About one part fiber is mixed with nine parts of rabbit fur to make quality felts.

The company and its subsidiaries manufacture men's and women's hats under such trade names as Dobbs, Knox, Dunlap, Cavanagh, Knapp-Felt, Berg, and Byron. The company also operates five retail stores in New York City.

Capitalization consists of 27,864 shares of 6½ per cent cumulative preferred stock of $100 par value, 359,660 shares of class A common stock and 109,660 shares of class B stock, both of $1 par value. The class A common stock alone has voting rights but the class B common is entitled to the same dividends as the class A.

|---|---|---|---|
| 1935 | $779,390 | $1.21 | $..... |
| 1936 | 923,312 | 1.53 | ..... |

| 1938 | 325,888 | 0.28 | *0.20 |
| 1939 | 703,356 | 1.10 | *1.10 |

*Calendar years.

Net income in the six months ended April 30, 1940, dropped to $261,509, equal after preferred dividends to 36 cents a common share, from $273,740 or 39 cents a common share in the same period a year earlier.

Dividends on the common stock thus far in 1940 amounted to 80 cents a share. Regular dividends are being paid on the preferred stock.

TWO BENEFIT CHECKS.

I was a machinist in the repair shop of a large railroad until November, 1937, when I obtained a better job with a farm equipment company. I worked on the latter job until several months ago, when I became eligible for an annuity under the railroad retirement act. I left my job and am now receiving the annuity. I would like to know if I can also obtain social security benefits. My annuity is inadequate for living expenses.—T. K.

Answer: Receipt of a railroad retirement annuity does not bar you from obtaining an old age benefit also, provided you have the required wage credits under the social security act.
